TWO SCORE PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN SHIP DISASTER

Victoria's Message At Ship Launching Carried Over Globe

Western Outpost of Empire Sends Congratulations to C.P.R. On Completion of Gigantic New Liner Empress of Britain, Launched This Morning by Prince of Wales; Millions of Radio Listeners Hear Capital's Greetings; C.P.R. Spends $95,000,000 At British Shipyards Since War.

Victoria, the western outpost of the British Empire, was brought to the attention of millions of people in the Empire and on the North American continent this morning as a congratulatory message from Mayor Anscomb was read by E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the C.P.R., at the launching of the new liner Empress of Britain at Clydebank. A radio hook-up carried the details of the launching over half the world.

The mayor's message read as follows:

"Victoria, the capital city of British Columbia, sends you hearty greetings on the celebration of another milestone in the history of your world-encircling transportation company by the launching of the Empress of Britain. May every success meet your efforts."

Making his first world-wide broadcast, the Prince of Wales stood on the famous Clydebank wharves as he officiated at the launching ceremony, with Lord Aberconway, British shipping magnate, and Mr. Beatty at his side. Radio brought the voice of His Royal Highness from Great Britain to Western Canada as clearly as though he had been speaking directly through the microphone at one of the big Canadian stations. Listeners-in all over the Dominion heard the heir to the British throne launch the new liner.

FINE RECEPTION

CKWX at Vancouver and the chain of ninety-one stations in Canada and the United States received the broadcast over beam wireless from England to Yamachi, Quebec, with excellent reproduction.

The Prince's address follows:

"I must say a few words as sponsor for this splendid ship which has just been launched, and which is the finest and largest liner operating between two ports of the empire. The launching of the Empress of Britain is an event of such importance in British shipbuilding and empire shipbuilding that I felt I should take part in today's cere-

NO RIOTS IN INDIA CITIES, SAY REPORTS

Country Has Period of Calm After Weeks of Unrest

Celebration of Moslem Festival Carried Out Quietly at Sholapur

Canadian Press

Bombay, India, June 11.—India, rocked by unrest these many weeks, had calm to-day. Even from the northwestern frontier, where marauding tribesmen have been worrying residents of outposts of late, came reports that "all was quiet."

Successful action was taken to-day from the air against the position occupied by the Haji of Turngai and his tribes on the Mohamand border. The Haji's forces were understood here to have been considerably decreased in strength by desertions, which still continue.

General improvement has been noticed at Sholapur, in Bombay province, where riots were general recently. Celebration of the Moslem festival of Moharrem passed off quietly.

Military lorries with an escort of the Ulster Regiment returned to Poona from Sholapur, indicating the situation was becoming normal again.

WIRES ARE TO BE REMOVED FROM RAILWAY

For Forty Years C.P.R. Telegraph Lines Have Been on I.C.R. Right of Way

Ottawa, June 11.—The Supreme Court of Canada in a judgment handed down here to-day, held the Canadian Government as owners of the Canadian National Railways has the right to force the Canadian Pacific Railway at once to remove telegraph lines from the right of way of the Intercolonial Railway east of St. John, N.B., with the exception of the stretch between New Glasgow and Pictou. The C.P.R. have been using the I.C.R. right of way for its telegraph poles for the past forty years.

Counsel for the C.P.R. intimated this morning the judgment would likely be appealed to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London.

The judgment issued to-day was on an appeal and cross-appeal from the judgment of Mr. Justice Audette in the Exchequer Court.

PENTICTON TRIAL CHARGES ARE CHANGED

Chief Justice Morrison Reduces Accusation Against C. Oliver to Common Assault

Dr. V. E. Latimer Gives Evidence at Opening of Hearing

Canadian Press

Vernon, B.C., June 11—Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., for defence scored the first point at the opening of the trial of Charles Oliver before Chief Justice Morrison at the assizes here to-day. Mr. Maitland objected to the first charge of the indictment, forceful seizure and unlawful assault, contending the accused man could not be charged with an offence compounded of two charges. He requested the Chief Justice to rule out that part of the indictment.

The Chief Justice questioned the court's power to amend the charge, but after consideration and hearing quotations by Mr. Maitland of similar charges, consented to eliminate the first part.

TRUE BILL

The grand jury had returned a true bill against Charles Oliver, charged on two counts of forcible seizure and unlawful assault in connection with the tar and feathering incident in Penticton, in which Dr. Victor E. Latimer was a victim last November. Oliver entered a plea of not guilty.

Considerable time was taken in swearing in a jury. Many were challenged, including six women.

R. L. Maitland, K.C., appeared for the accused, assisted by Joseph Oliver.

LATIMER'S EVIDENCE

Dr. Victor E. Latimer, called to the stand, stated he had attended Mrs. Oliver professionally, but had had no dealings with her socially. He said that between 6 and 7 p.m., November 25, he attended his office in Penticton as a result of a telephone call. When he stepped out of his car, he said, he saw Oliver in another car with others.

A big man, he said, stepped out, and witness asked if he was Mr. Hardy, the name given over the telephone.

The man then struck him, while another man grabbed him and they pushed him into a car and then drove him away about two miles, he said. One man tied his legs, he said, and dragged him out of the car, then loosed him. He said he was then laid down on the ground and some liquid poured over him back and front, which he said was tar. A small man held his legs, while a big man held his head. Dr. Latimer then said he heard Oliver say:

"I'll drive on fifty feet."

The men then left him, he said, and he got up and was able to return to Penticton.

Cross-examined by Mr. Maitland, Dr. Latimer said that in 1929 Oliver had gone to the Old Country and during his absence Mrs. Oliver called on him professionally. He said that between June and August, 1929, he might have attended Mrs. Oliver sixty times.

REBUILDING OF BANK TO COST $60,000

Contract For Government St. Structure Let to Parfitt Bros.

A building permit for the reconstruction of the old Bank of Montreal Building, corner of Government and View Streets, at a cost of $60,000, was issued at the City Hall to-day.

The three-story stone bank building will be completely remodeled and modernized to provide for the new Victoria office of the Royal Trust Company, along with the new Government Street branch of the Bank of Montreal.

The reconstructed trust company and bank building will run through from Government to Langley Street, as the bank bought the two-story brick building at the rear of the stone bank building and has incorporated the rebuilding of this area in its plans. The main floor of the building will run through from street to street.

Work is to start at once, but the building will not be ready for opening until late in the year.

Parfitt Bros. have been awarded the general contract under plans prepared by Honeyman & Curtis, architects.

FORMER M.P. FOR HULL DIES

Hull, Que., June 11.—Dr. Joseph Eloi Fontaine, Liberal member of parliament for Hull from 1917 till the recent dissolution, died to-day after a protracted illness. He was in his sixty-fifth year.

While ill-health made it impossible for Dr. Fontaine to take his Commons seat during the last two sessions of parliament, his condition was not regarded as serious.

U.S. SENATE IS TO VOTE ON HIS APPOINTMENT

Washington, June 11.—Nomination of Hanford MacNider of Iowa as United States Minister to Canada was reported to the Senate "without recommendation" to-day by the Senate foreign relations committee after Senator Smith Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, had objected to the President's nomination as "personally offensive to him."

Racing Group Will Start Construction At Willows Friday

New Five-eights Mile Oval Will Be Ready For Racing August 16; Colwood Park Association Announces Start This Week After City Ratifies Agreement For Lease; New Features Are Planned on Grandstand and Betting Ring.

Construction work on the new track, grandstand and paddock at the Willows will commence on Friday, it was announced this morning by Percy Fox of the Colwood Park Association, following ratification yesterday afternoon of the city's agreement with the association for the work.

Approximately $30,000 will be expended on modernizing the racing accommodation at the popular city track. This sum has been deposited with the Royal Bank of Canada by the association as a drawing account for the work, all cheques being countersigned by the city engineer or building inspector. The track will be ready for this year's racing, which opens at the Willows August 16.

The new track will be five-eights of a mile in length, about one furlong longer than the old oval. A 600-foot curve will provide better footing for the ponies on the turns, and the whole track will be moved some distance northward from the site of the present circle. A straightaway of 280 yards on both the back and front stretches will be provided.

CAR FINANCING CASE CONTINUES

Stanley Wallis and Donald J. MacKenzie Arraigned on Charge of False Pretence

The trial of Stanley E. Wallis and Donald J. MacKenzie, on a charge of obtaining $2,900 by false pretence from James Forman of Heisterman & Forman, opened before Mr. Justice Gregory and a trial jury at the special assize this morning. A. M. Johnson, K.C., appeared for the Crown, Stuart Henderson for Wallis, and W. H. M. Haldane for MacKenzie.

Both accused entered a plea of "not guilty" to the charge, and trial opened with five witnesses for the Crown. Harold P. Hewlett, James Forman, John W. MacDougall, G. E. Houser, and A. C. S. Pitts were examined for the prosecution. The defence has yet to be heard.

Harold P. Hewlett, accountant for Heisterman & Forman, said Mr. Forman had financed automobile transactions for the Consolidated Motors, Victoria, Limited, since 1924, both as to new cars arriving and also in the discounting of agreements for sale by the dealer to others.

The conditional agreement for sale which is the subject of this charge was one of several that Wallis had reported he had made to Donald J. MacKenzie, and purported to be the sale of a White truck, valued at $4,400, on which $1,500 was said to have been paid on account, said witness.

There was still owing on the contract $1,850, of which $450 was past due on three notes for $150 each, which had matured.

Mr. Hewlett told of conversations with the accused MacKenzie in which he said the latter had stated that he had intended buying the truck, but

MOTOR CAR CASE ENDS IN VERDICT OF "NOT GUILTY"

The trial of Rex versus Stanley E. Wallis and Donald J. MacKenzie came to a sudden halt this afternoon, when the Crown admitted inability to connect both the accused with a payment of $2,900 said to have been made by James Forman of Heisterman & Forman. Mr. Forman, on the stand, said he did not know whether the money had been paid to Arthur Emerson, the secretary of the motor firm, or to someone else. Mr. Justice Gregory instructed the trial jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty," which they did without leaving the box. MacKenzie was released with a caution from the bench, and Wallis was remanded in custody for other charges. The special assize adjourned until 10.30 a.m., Monday, when grand and petit jury panels will report again.

MONTREAL TO NEW YORK AIR RECORD IS SET

"Red" Jackson Flies Plane Between Two Eastern Cities in 2 Hours 8 Minutes

Commercial Service Planes Usually Take Four Hours For Journey

Canadian Press

Curtis Field, New York, June 11.—Dale "Red" Jackson, famed for his seventeen and one-half days endurance flight in the monoplane St. Louis Robin, stepped into a new arena of the air to-day. Alone in the cockpit of a Travelair "mystery ship" racing monoplane, he sped from Montreal to New York to-day in two hours and eight minutes.

The usual time for the jump from St. Hubert Airport to Curtiss Field is four hours.

The plane Jackson is flying, specially built for the air races at Cleveland last summer, is low-wing monoplane, powered with a Wright 300 horsepower motor, which gives a speed of about 247 miles an hour.

Jackson apparently did not push his plane, as he averaged only a little over 200 miles an hour. He left Montreal at 8.45 a.m. and arrived at Curtiss Field at 10.53 a.m.

Liberals to Turn Out in Force at Meeting To-morrow

Victoria's Liberals will turn out in force for the nomination convention in the Sons of Canada Hall tomorrow evening, when a candidate will be named to represent this riding in the Federal election. While the names of George McGregor and Stuart Henderson have been mentioned as possible champions in the Federal lists, any other name may be proposed from the floor at the meeting.

During the session George S. Pearson, Nanaimo representative in the Legislature, will address the gathering.

The spirit of Liberals in Victoria is very high over the prospect of success in the local contest, and one of the biggest rallies in the history of the Liberal Party in this city is expected.

Tanker Sinks In Blazing Sea After Collision In Fog In Massachusetts Bay

All Members of Crew Go Down With Tanker; Eight Passengers of Ss. Fairfax Missing After That Vessel Strikes Other Ship When Two Hours On Way From Boston to Norfolk, Va.; Cargo of Tanker Pours Out On Sea and Catches Fire.

Boston, June 11—Flaming seas of floating oil claimed the lives of at least two score persons in Massachusetts Bay last night when the passenger steamship Fairfax rammed and sank an unidentified oil tanker.

The ships crashed blindly in a dense fog that blanketed the coast throughout the night.

The Fairfax, a Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company ship, bound out of Boston for Norfolk, Va., with a passenger list of seventy-one and a crew of seventy, drove her bow into the port side of the tanker. Watchmen aboard the steamship could do little more than shout a warning.

Before the ships broke apart, the tanker, loaded with oil burst into flames. Blazing oil poured on the surface of the sea and, swept by the waves, enveloped the forepart of the Fairfax.

The tanker sank within twenty minutes, carrying with her the entire crew, which seamen said probably numbered at least forty men.

The tanker is believed to have been the Pinthis of Fall River, Mass.

Eighteen of the passengers and crew of the Fairfax were missing when a roll call was called later. Several were seen to jump overboard as the flames swept upwards and it was believed some at least had perished in the sea of blazing oil.

At least eleven were injured.

LIST OF MISSING

The following list of passengers of the Fairfax, not accounted for after a check of all sources, was issued to-day by Vice-president D. R. McNeil of the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company:

A. S. Nulvanity, wife and child, Nashua, N.H.
S. M. Rose.
Miss Georgette Crotton, Boston.
Miss M. V. Craven, Boston.
D. T. Constantine.
W. J. Meagher and wife, Milton, Mass.
J. B. Walker, Kitterny, Maine.
Mrs. G. Gardner.

McNeil said the company must await the arrival of the Fairfax here to check for missing members of the crew.

The unidentified woman who was reported lost, he said, was probably one of the above list.

FIRE QUICKLY STARTED

Joseph Iveska of Somerville, Mass., one of the passengers aboard the Fairfax, said the tanker burst into flames immediately after the passenger vessel had struck her, and that he believed all on board perished.

Blazing oil from the burning tanker enveloped the Fairfax, causing severe burns to several of the passengers and crew.

Iveska also said seven passengers and eleven member of the crew of the Fairfax were missing after the accident.

The passengers and crew of the Fairfax arrived here at daybreak aboard the Gloucester, a rescue ship. The Gloucester, also a Merchants' and Cavalsky of Nanaimo presiding. More than 150 official delegates are participating in the proceedings which are being attended by many hundred visiting members of the order. Heavy registrations of delegates and visitors were recorded this morning, and the convention is estimated to have attracted to Victoria more than 1,000 visitors from all part of British Columbia, in addition to many guests from Odd Fellow lodges in Washington and Oregon.

Convention routine business occupied the morning session. This afternoon Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were taken for drives around Victoria, terminating with a visit to Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart's gardens.

VISIT CENOTAPH

This evening at 7 o'clock the lodges will assembly at the Odd Fellows' Hall and parade to the Cenotaph, where the memory of members who died in the Great War will be honored and wreaths placed by the officers of Grand Lodge, the Patriarchs Militant, the Grand Encampment and the Rebekahs.

Following the parade a regular meeting of Columbia Lodge No. 2 will be held at the Odd Fellows' Hall, and at 8.30 o'clock a concert and informal dance will be held at the Shrine Auditorium.

A civic welcome to Victoria was extended the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs yesterday evening by Mayor Anscomb at the Shrine Auditorium. Mayor Anscomb, as a member of the order, reviewed the achievements of Odd Fellows in the progress of the province, and touched upon the important part which Odd Fellowship had played in the social life of the people of Victoria from the earliest days, and the value attached to its work of benevolence.

Rounds of applause greeted the Mayor when he paid warm tribute to Frederick Landsberg and Alderman W. H. Cullin, veteran members of the order. Then the Mayor described Mr. Landsberg as "one of the best Odd Fellows the world has ever seen" the persistent applause halted his remarks for some minutes.

HANKOW AREA DEFENDED BY 70,000 TROOPS

Chinese Government Masses Soldiers There to Repel Advancing Southern Rebels

Kwangsi Forces Are Reported Moving North in Three Columns

Canadian Press

Shanghai, June 11.—The right wing of the triple threat presented to the Nanking Nationalist authority by the red arms of Kwangsi rebels to-day was reported by authoritative sources to have reached a point only twenty miles southwest of Kiukiang, important commercial city on the Yangtse River about 250 miles southwest of here.

The left wing of the Kwangsi army was proceeding without opposition along the west side of Tungting Lake and was said to be approaching Shasi, treaty port on the Yangtse, 183 miles above Yochow, Hunan Province, which was captured yesterday by the Kwangsi middle column.

STRAGGLING ADVANCE

Meanwhile the Nationalist military forces or Hankow had greatly strengthened their defences in the tri-city area, and were reported massing upward of 70,000 soldiers there in the hope of checking the invasion.

JUDGE MAY BE NEW GOVERNOR OF AUSTRALIA

Sydney News Says Government Wants Sir I. Isaacs Chosen For Post

No Appointment Until Premier Scullin Goes to Empire Conference

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Sydney, N.S.W., June 11.—According to The Sydney Evening News, the appointment of a Governor-General of Australia has been postponed until Premier J. H. Scullin goes to the Imperial Conference at London next October. The newspaper adds the Commonwealth Government is making an intense effort to secure the appointment of Sir Isaac Isaacs, a justice of the High Court of Australia, as successor to Lord Stonehaven.

Referring to talk about "a titanic battle being waged behind the scene," The Evening News says Sir Isaac's name is the only one that has been submitted to London. It was volunteered without any special invitation from London, because the Scullin Labor Ministry Party determined to seek a departure from the long-established rule that the Governor-General should be directly nominated as a representative of the King.

Sir Isaac Isaacs was born in Melbourne August 6, 1855.

WATT INQUIRY HELD UP UNTIL ELECTION ENDS

Government Continues Outrageous Treatment of Veteran, He Says

Definite announcement was made to-day by Premier Tolmie that the inquiry ordered by the B.C. Legislature four months ago into the dismissal of Norman Watt as government agent at Prince Rupert, will not be held until after the federal election, T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, was informed to-day.

A commissioner has been selected, Premier Tolmie said, and the government is awaiting his acceptance before announcing his name.

"We are not going to start the inquiry now and have it dragged into an election campaign," the Premier said. "It will be called with as little delay as posible after the election."

No decision has been made, Premier Tolmie stated, but he thought the inquiry would probably be held in Prince Rupert. It was likely it would be open to the public, he said, but a decision had not been reached on this point.

URGED EARLY INQUIRY

Premier Tolmie's reasons for not holding the inquiry now are classed as extraordinary by Mr. Pattullo.

MODERN MEDICAL SUCCESS WILL BE INTRODUCED HERE

Sargon, the New Medicinal Formula That Has Created Such Widespread Interest in the United States, Will Now Be Placed on Sale Throughout British Columbia.

FACTS ABOUT SARGON

Sargon was introduced to the American public in April, 1928. Its success was extraordinary and now it is a nationally-known, nationally-advertised product.

* * *

A new and modern equipped plant has recently been established in Canada and from it Sargon is being rapidly distributed throughout the entire Dominion.

* * *

Sargon contains certain elements on which good health largely depends. The method of combining these basic elements is now the property of the Sargon Laboratories Ltd.

* * *

There are important ingredients of recognized therapeutic value in Sargon which are designed to impart general tone and strength to the entire system, and still other ingredients which are valuable for their influence upon the appetite and the processes of digestion, assimilation and elimination.

* * *

Its manufacture and distribution are in the hands of men who have had many years of experience in the production of nationally-known products, the names of which are household words throughout America.

NEW AND MODERN PLANT ESTABLISHED IN CANADA

Owl Drug Stores Are Awarded Exclusive Five-year Franchise for Victoria and Vancouver. Big Drug Firms are Enthusiastic.

LOCAL citizens who have heard of the results which have been accomplished by Sargon, will be interested in the announcement that this new and scientific formula can now be obtained in this city.

Sargon was introduced in the United States in April, 1928. Since that time it has become a nationally-known, nationally-advertised product. Not in recent years, perhaps, has any other medicine of its kind attained such widespread popularity, and were it not for the actual facts and figures given out by some of the leading drug firms of America, the success attained by this product would be hard to believe.

Sargon is now being introduced in Canada, and a new, modernly equipped plant has been established in Ontario to take care of the rapidly growing demand throughout the Dominion.

In awarding the local agency, the manufacturers of Sargon are carrying out their established policy of confining the sale to one thoroughly responsible and centrally located drug firm in each city, and wherever introduced the Sargon store will be found to be one of the leading and most representative. Such firms are always anxious and willing to co-operate with the manufacturers of meritorious products, especially internationally-known products of proven merit.

Sargon was recently introduced in Toronto, Hamilton, London and other cities in Ontario, and judging from the large initial sales and the repeat business it has enjoyed, it now seems a foregone conclusion that the success attained by Sargon in the United States will be duplicated in Canada.

In the leading cities of the United States some of the most prominent men of the country have been among the hundreds who have come forward to tell what Sargon has done for them, and many thousands have used it with the most gratifying results. When suffering men and women find a medicine that helps them, they invariably tell their friends about it, and in this way Sargon is rapidly becoming known throughout the entire American Continent.

The exclusive agency for Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills for this city and section has been awarded to the Owl Drug Store firm. In anticipation of the extraordinary demand, this well-known firm has just received a large shipment of this celebrated medicine.

The Home of Sargon

From the large and modernly equipped plant, located at Dayton, Ohio, Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are shipped to all parts of the United States.

Modernly Equipped Plant Also Established in Canada

Occupying more than 60,000 square feet of floor space, the American plant pictured above, is devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills. It is generally conceded to be among the largest in the United States devoted to single-unit production. The capacity has recently been increased to 30,000 bottles daily.

Equipped with the latest and most approved devices, the plant is a model of sanitation and mechanical ingenuity and the product is never touched by human hands until it is sealed and packed ready for shipment to all parts of the country.

But more important than the manufacturing and distribution departments are the research departments where the various medicinal elements are analyzed and tested for strength and purity, so as to insure an absolutely uniform product.

No detail of equipment has been omitted in the determination to keep the products at a constant high standard and the same thoroughness is used throughout in the manufacture as went originally into the development of the formula.

Introduced in the United States in April of 1928, Sargon is now a nationally-known, nationally-advertised product. Following its success in the United States, Sargon is now being introduced in Canada and a plant has been completed at Fort Erie, Ont., to take care of Canadian requirements.

Big Drug Firm Is Enthusiastic

Predicts That Extraordinary Success Attained by Sargon in United States Will Be Repeated in Canada.

That Sargon is being well received in Canada is amply evidenced by a communication recently received from Mr. T. A. Henderson, General Manager of the National Drug and Chemical Company, operators of sixteen wholesale houses, extending from Halifax, N.S., to Vancouver, B.C.

His letter follows:

"Early in November we received our first carload of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills. Since that time we have sold a total of 129,504 bottles in Ontario alone.

"Retail druggists throughout Ontario are experiencing a record demand for both Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills.

"They are also reporting that these preparations are giving excellent satisfaction and the extraordinary success attained by Sargon in the United States apparently will be repeated here."

SARGON RAPIDLY BECOMING KNOWN OVER CONTINENT

When Suffering Men and Women Find a Medicine That Helps Them They Naturally Want to Tell Their Friends About It and in This Way Sargon Is Rapidly Becoming Known Throughout All of North America.

IF YOU found a medicine that was of such great benefit to you that you would go to the trouble of sending it to relatives and friends in distant countries, you would have to be convinced in your own mind that it possessed unusual merit, wouldn't you?

That's just what hundreds of people throughout the United States have been doing with Sargon, the new scientific formula recently introduced in Canada.

From all over America and wherever Sargon has been introduced, thousands of letters have been received from grateful users telling of the astonishing and gratifying results that have been accomplished by this celebrated medicine.

Thousands of Letters Received

On November 27, 1929, a letter dated November 23, was received at the Sargon offices advising that in one week one drug firm alone had shipped Sargon to Cavite, Philippine Islands; Coca-Solo, Canal Zone; Belebrook, Ireland, and Paris, France.

Only recently a well-known resident of Denver, Colorado, who had been restored to health by Sargon, sent a full treatment to London, England, to his sister, who is the wife of an executive of one of the greatest retail drug firms in the British Empire.

A few days ago there appeared in the Toronto papers the statement of a well-known World War veteran, whose health had been greatly impaired while in the service, who stated among other things, that he owed his complete restoration to health to two bottles of Sargon sent him by a friend in Minneapolis.

Sargon's Reputation Is Rapidly Spreading

From the Northwest, many letters of this kind have been received advising that users of Sargon are sending it to relatives back in their old countries of Sweden and Norway.

These are only a few of hundreds of such cases which have arisen during the months Sargon has been on the market.

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores in Victoria and Vancouver, and Bews Drug Company at New Westminster. (Advt.)

Prominent Men Endorse Sargon

Many Well Known Business and Professional Men in Leading Cities Publicly Endorse New Medicine—President of Firm Recommends It to Associates—Satisfied Users Largely Responsible for Demand.

It is seldom indeed that men of prominence lend their names to the public endorsement of a proprietary medicine. Many prominent men, however, including business and professional men, mayors, state and county officials, and even ministers of the Gospel have publicly expressed their gratitude for what Sargon has done for them. These well known men have recognized Sargon as a medicine of unusual merit. It is a fact that these splendid endorsements have been given Sargon time and again, and they will continue to be given wherever Sargon is known.

In all of the leading cities of the United States some of the most prominent business men of the country have been among the hundreds who have come forward to tell what Sargon has done for them. Only a few days ago, for instance, the vice-president of one of the South's largest corporations walked into a Memphis drug store and purchased his sixth bottle of Sargon. He had taken three bottles himself and stated that he had received such wonderful benefit from it, he had gotten the other for relatives and friends.

Another well known business man who has also been greatly benefited by Sargon, recommended it to his business associates and employees, so that four different men in one firm are now taking the Sargon treatment as the result of only one bottle originally sold.

Many dealers, wherever it has been introduced, have found it necessary to re-order Sargon four or five times since its introduction, with each and every order amounting to hundreds of bottles. These same dealers also report a heavy mail order business for Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills and add that these out-of-town people, after trying the medicine, want to continue the treatment, and invariably order from two to three bottles additional.

CANADA CUTS U.S. IMPORTS BY ONE-THIRD

Washington, June 11.—Canada, best customer of the United States, took $63,997,452 in exports from this country during the month of April, as compared with $69,928,189, during the same month last year.

Imports of Canadian produce totalled $26,335,593 in April, as against $40,394,781, during the corresponding period in 1929.

Exports to Great Britain from the United States amounted to $46,713,435 during April, compared with $59,288,273 last year. United States imports of British produce totalled $24,513,337, as against $29,977,609 during April, 1929.

The total decline in value of exports from the United States, as compared with the same month a year ago, was slightly less than $100,000,000. Of this decline about $60,000,000 was accounted for by an equal reaction in North America and European shipments.

Both imports and exports declined appreciably in every quarter of the globe.

LORD MAYOR THERE, BUT NO POLICE SALUTE

Canadian Press

London, June 11.—With their curiosity fanned by the famed record of the force, Londoners turned out in thousand and when a picked detachment from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police yesterday rode through London, from the Mansion House to Knightsbridge.

The Canadians had arrived to take part in the great international horse show at Olympia. The history of the Empire's most romantic police force has been given plenty of publicity in connection with the visit of an inspector and twenty constables.

But a curious incident marred the little ceremony arranged for the R.C.M.P. group's arrival in the city of London.

The Lord Mayor, attended by the city marshal, the city sword-bearer and the city mace-bearer, was on hand on the balcony of the Mansion House, together with the Lady Mayoress and the Chief Commissioner of the Police of the city.

But the Canadians rode past, obviously unaware of the presence of the party on the balcony, while the Lord Mayor looked on in bewilderment.

Major Dann, in charge of the party, was interviewed afterwards and expressed surprise as great as that of the Lord Mayor.

"I received no warning we were approaching the Lord Mayor and so we rode on," he said, "taking no notice of anything. It goes without saying that had I been aware of the presence of the Lord Mayor I should have given the necessary orders.

"I am tremendously sorry the blunder occurred. I had been wondering where the Mansion House could be. I still don't know where it is."

NAMED HEIRS IN 99-YEAR-OLD WILL

MANSLAUGHTER TRIAL ENDS IN AN ACQUITTAL

Vernon, B.C., June 11.—Kuichi Maikawa, a Japanese charged with the manslaughter of a compatriot, Konich Matsumato, at the Kitson Ranch near Coldstream on May 6, was acquitted yesterday evening at the spring assizes here. Evidence showed the accused had been violently attack by Matsumato, being awakened from sleep to find the latter hovering above the bed in the darkness, armed with a knife.

In the struggle which ensued the accused had used a Japanese wrestling throw so effectively as to hurl his assailant over his head, and the assailant's neck was broken by the fall.

The manager of the ranch, V. McGuire, and others testified to Maikawa's reputation as a man of peaceful temperament. Also he had openly admitted the tragedy, calling in the foreman and others immediately after it had occurred.

Bartenders Arrested When Prohibition Agents Raid Joints in New York

New York, June 11.—Dozens of "smoke joints," alleged speakeasies, drugstores and other place here suspected of selling poisonous liquor were raided last night by fifty prohibition agents masquerading as Bowery derelicts.

The raids, led by Major Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator, were aimed at the source of poisoned liquor which has been blamed for thirty-two deaths in the city during the last thirty days.

Major Campbell described some of the liquid seized as "denatured alcohol of the kind intended for use as an anti-freeze mixture for automobiles."

In other places he said the liquor "proved to be pure sythetic wood alcohol."

DERELICTS RESCUED

Hundreds of derelicts, lying stupefied in several of the Bowery speakeasies, were carried into the fresh air by agents.

Quantities of home brew, colored alcohol, denatured alcohol and "smoke" were taken and bartenders and owners of the establishments were arrested. Agents said they had bought the colored alcohol in most of the places at 15 cents a drink. In a so-called "soup kitchen" the price was 20 cents and two drugstores were said to have sold denatured alcohol for 25 cents a bottle.

Earlier in the day, Isidor Kovins, forty-one, who police charged conducted a Bowery hardware store as a blind for alcohol selling activities, was held in $10,000 bail in connection with the death of David Buckley, forty-two. Buckley is said to have died from drinking denatured alcohol.

CANAL DEBATE IN CONGRESS OF UNITED STATES

Indications Are That Measure of Interest to Canada Will Be Postponed

By KEN CLARK
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, June 11.—The rivers and harbors bill will hardly be passed by Congress at this session, it was learned to-day.

Canadians are interested in this bill, which provides for taking over the New York barge canals by the federal government, a project in the Illinois River which may involve diversion of water from Lake Michigan and the deepening of channels in the Great Lakes.

With respect to the first, it is understood Senator Vandenberg of Michigan is satisfied with the phrasing of the clause, which provides for the federal government taking over the canals, and will offer no opposition to it. The clause now provides that the work undertaken by the government in New York shall not prejudice the St. Lawrence seaway project.

BLAINE'S POSITION

Senator Blaine of Wisconsin now is the spearhead of opposition to the bill. As a representative of one of the lake states which has always looked with a jealous eye on the taking of water from Lake Michigan by Chicago, he refuses to permit passage of the bill unless its language makes clear no more water shall be taken from the lake than is provided for under a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, 1,500 second feet. His conferences with Senator Densen of Illinois on this point have been fruitless and he will oppose the bill on the floor of the Senate.

It is understood Speaker Longworth of the House, one of the administration's lieutenants, has declared a resolution providing for adjournment of Congress on June 20. Since it is considered impossible the bill could be put through before that time, this means the administration is indifferent to its fate in its present form.

COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS IN BIG WILL CASE

Davis-Shaughnessy Action in Montreal Nears Its End

Montreal, June 11.—Opening the argument for the defence in the Davis-Shaughnessy action yesterday, George A. Campbell, K.C., contended that the court, in its decision on the demand of Lady Eleanor Davis and Mortimer Davis Jr. for the removal of Lord Shaughnessy and A. M. Reaper as executors of the late Sir Mortimer Davis, must be bound altogether by the terms of the will as drawn.

Nothing but an act of dishonesty, of bad faith or of the grossest possible incompetence would justify any court in interfering with the selection of the executors Sir Mortimer Davis had seen fit to say he wanted, said Mr. Campbell, the executors to be free to carry out the policies he had dictated during his lifetime.

Mr. Campbell took up the argument for the defence after A. Geoffrion, K.C., had summed up his argument on behalf of the plaintiffs. The executors, he contended, had completely ignored their first duty, with disastrous consequences.

The fact that Sir Mortimer Davis had left an annuity of $67,000 to his widow and son might, to those in the court room and to the public, seem to be ample provision for their needs, he said, but the court could not take that into consideration. Sir Mortimer Davis was a wealthy man and he had a right to dispose of his property as he saw fit. Yet these executors had given the heirs nothing beyond the annuities, but had, for two years, speculated with the surplus revenues of the incorporated company, on which the estate depended, he said.

Lord Shaughnessy, Mr. Geoffrion concluded, had unquestionably brought himself within the civil code in its provisions for the removal of executors, and the court could undoubtedly exercise its discretion in this regard and dismiss him on the ground that he had wasted and dissipated the property of the estate, had shown lack of skill in its administration, and had not complied with the provisions of the will or of the law.

VETERAN PUBLICITY MAN LAID TO REST

Simple Funeral Ceremony Held For Late F. E. Trautman at Fort William

Fort William, Ont., June 11.—Simple but impressive obsequies were held here yesterday for the late F. E. Trautman, for the last eighteen years Canadian Pacific press representative in Western Canada. The body was buried in the city where Mr. Trautman had spent a large part of his career as a pioneer western newspaperman. He was once editor of The Fort William Times Journal.

The cities of Port Arthur and Fort William were officially represented at the funeral, as was the railway company. A large number of private citizens also paid their last respects.

Flags were put at half-mast on all railway and public buildings in Fort William, and formed a striking tribute to the veteran newspaper and publicity man.

A funeral service was conducted in the Presbyterian Church by Rev. H. R. Grant, D.D., and followed a previous service held in Winnipeg on Monday. Dr. Grant referred in his address to the large influence for good Mr. Trautman had wielded on public opinion generally, while editor of the local daily, and the evidences of lasting effect shown by the general tributes to his memory here. Interment was made in a family plot in Mountain View Cemetery.

DIVER GOES DOWN 800 FEET IN SEA

Hamilton, Bermuda, June 11.—A new deep-sea diving record was claimed yesterday for William Beebe of the new Zoological Society's oceanographic expedition, who descended 800 feet beneath the sea's surface in a steel ball with fused quartz windows. The lowest depth previously attained was 335 feet.

The hollow steel sphere in which Beebe made the record-breaking descent contained an oxygen supply and was fitted with apparatus for absorbing the exhaled air. The ball was lowered by cable from a tug, and telephone conversations between the diver and the surface were successfully carried on. Fish were readily observed. The expedition hopes to make observations at a depth of one-half mile by means of the apparatus.

IMPORT PURE BRED SHEEP FROM ENGLAND

Duncan, June 11.—W. Waldon of Duncan, secretary of the Vancouver Island Flockmasters' Association, is anxious to get in touch with sheep-raisers wishing to import thoroughbred stock from the Old Country under an agreement recently entered into between the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the Empire Marketing Board, whereby the freight charges are shared equally between the two bodies.

The cost of freight on sheep works out at $22.75 per head where less than twenty-five head are imported, or $20.25 if that number is reached. Mr. Waldon would like to hear from those anxious to take advantage of this opportunity, and it is believed that several local sheep fanciers are certain to take advantage of this arrangement.

The plan is also open to cattlemen for the importation of purebred dairy and beef breeds, and applications have already been made in this connection. Interest to date seems to centre principally on Southdown, Cheviot and Suffolk sheep and Red Poll cattle.

The stock will be brought out by the Furness (Pacific) Line via the Panama Canal.

British Veterans Works of Fiction On War Period

Cardiff, Wales, June 11.—That war should in no circumstances be made the subject of works of fiction was the view expressed at the annual conference of the British Legion here yesterday. War books came in for a good deal of criticism and a resolution was adopted condemning books in which the author does not draw on actual facts and personal experiences. The elimination of war as a subject for fiction was urged as a measure of respect for dead and maimed soldiers.

Another resolution urged the council of the Legion to take steps to counter the "insidious propaganda" contained in books which slandered the character of Great Britain and belittled the principles for which she entered the World War.

VICTORIA AT GLASGOW

IT HAS BEEN SAID MANY TIMES THAT for the comparatively small amount of money Victoria spends upon publicity for this community, it obtains a percentage of financial dividend that stamps it as by far and away the best investment the city council could hope to make. We are reminded of this fact again by Mayor Anscomb's initiative in sending a cable to Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, congratulating his organization upon the addition to its great fleet of the Empress of Britain, which the Prince of Wales launched at Glasgow to-day.

Two messages from Canada were read at this memorable ceremony—marking the launching of the largest merchant ship built in British yards since the beginning of the war—one from Premier King, and the other from the chief magistrate of this city, and millions of radio listeners all over the British Empire, continental Europe, and throughout the United States know now, if they did not know before, that the name of the capital city of British Columbia is Victoria. The mere mention of the name, of course, would recall familiar scenes and memories to the Prince of Wales and other distinguished guests who were present. To those who heard it for the first time, however, it would suggest a combination of friendly feelings and enterprise in an advertising sense. The mayor's idea obviously was an excellent one.

MR. BENNETT KNOWS BETTER

IN SPITE OF THE VERY DEFINITE statement by Mr. Bennett in the House of Commons on February 24 last, that the St. Lawrence "is an international waterway," and that "we cannot change the channel ourselves," but "only by arrangement with the neighboring government," some Conservative newspapers persist in telling us that the deepening of the river so as to permit ocean liners to come up to the head of the Great Lakes should be an all-Canadian project. Here is an extract from the editorial columns of the morning paper:

> From the standpoint of party politics Mr. Mackenzie King is to be congratulated on having failed to announce his government's stand on the St. Lawrence waterway development prior to an appeal to the country. Had he advocated international control of this waterway, and made this an issue before the electorate, the Liberals would have stood but a slim chance of being returned to power. For the moment, therefore, pro-American policies remain in abeyance.

On this subject, of course, Mr. Bennett agrees with the King government that the St. Lawrence deepening project is an international matter. When the newspapers which support him, however, describe it as a pro-American policy in an attempt to make political capital at the expense of the present administration at Ottawa, they likewise accuse the leader of the opposition of the same "crime"—of which he convicts himself on pp. 23 and 24 of Hansard, February 24, 1930.

If the St. Lawrence were wholly in Canadian territory it would be an entirely different matter, but it is only necessary to look at the map to discover that the waterway washes United States territory for a very considerable distance. Mr. Bennett does not have to be told that; hence, he knows that if the project is to be undertaken at all, it will require joint action by this country and the United States. Should the scheme be dropped, incidentally, we may be sure that our neighbor will go ahead with a project of its own, for the demand is insistent that there shall be adequate water communication from the Great Lakes to seaboard. In that event the development of the Erie canal, connecting Lake Erie with the Hudson river, probably would be the plan. This would mean that both American and Canadian grain would go to the sea through United States territory, and Canada would suffer a serious economic loss in consequence.

DICK WYNN'S POTATOES

DICK WYNN IS A SETTLER IN THE Peace River district. He lives at Red River Post, 400 miles from any railroad, and grows potatoes. This spring he had 150 sacks of potatoes in his root house and no market for them, though potatoes in the larger centres of population were more than usually valuable this season. So Wynn built a raft of logs, loaded his 150 sacks of potatoes aboard, took along a loaf of bread and a chunk of moose meat, and pushed off into the current of the mighty Peace River. One week later he landed at Fort Fitzgerald, 350 miles from home. There they found his potatoes were of the highest quality. He sold them for $5 a sack and returned to his farm with the proceeds.

This little story, which has just come out of the north, shows the need of a Peace River railway connection with the Pacific ocean. But it shows something else which, in the long run, will be far more important even than the railway. It shows that this Peace country not only has land which can produce unsurpassed agricultural crops, but a race of people who do not know the meaning of failure. Men who can carry their potatoes to market 350 miles on a raft and still make money on them, will build a rich and prosperous country along the Peace River when they have rail connection with their markets.

DEPENDING ON LIQUOR

IN ACCEPTING THE LEADERSHIP OF the Liberal party in British Columbia recently, Mr. T. D. Pattullo made a reference to the liquor problem, which unquestionably will be the subject of recurring discussion in the next few years. He said this province was depending too much on liquor sales for government revenues, and that it should make itself less and less dependent on them. Most British Columbians, apart from political considerations, will agree with the Liberal leader.

The Tolmie government's estimate of total revenue for the present fiscal year is about $28,000,000. For the year ending March 31, 1929, the last for which figures have been issued, the profits of the government's liquor business were $4,192,000. For the year ending March 31 last, they will approximate $4,500,000. Of this, $1,000,000, a fixed amount, will be given to the municipalities. The government thus will have some $3,500,000 from liquor profits for its own use. Out of a total revenue of $28,000,000 that is a substantial proportion, and as the municipalities are now limited to the arbitrary figure of $1,000,000, it will grow rapidly every year. Up to the present, it is true, the Tolmie government has increased its expenditures entirely out of proportion to the ability of the province to pay. The expenses already incurred will breed still more expenses later on, but even then the government can hardly increase its budget as rapidly as the liquor stores will increase its revenues. Thus, liquor profits, year by year, will form a greater and greater proportion of the total provincial income. It is to this that Mr. Pattullo objects—and over which the public may well feel alarmed.

There are two good reasons why British Columbia should not increase its dependence on liquor. In the first place, the liquor problem on this continent and in many other parts of the world is in a state of flux. The ceaseless shifting and changing of the liquor laws of Canadian provinces in the last decade, the constant demand for alterations in the system of sale and restrictions, all show clearly that the handling of liquor has not yet reached a stable or permanent basis. To build up a top-heavy financial structure on the assumption that liquor revenues will continually increase, or even remain at their present level, naturally is extremely dangerous. If, for any reason, these revenues declined or were withdrawn altogether at some future date, the finances of the province would be utterly demoralized. Heavy, new taxes would have to be imposed or vital services abandoned. And the greater the dependence on liquor, the more serious would be the financial disorganization.

There is another reason why British Columbia should view increasing liquor revenues with anxiety, and in the long run, probably, it is a more important reason than any consideration of finance. So long as governments are dependent on the profits of liquor sales — colloquially known as easy money — they would be no more than human if they did not welcome the increase in profits. The inevitable temptation, therefore, is to encourage the consumption of liquor. When a government is spending as much as the Tolmie government is spending, and having as much trouble as that government is having to make ends meet, the temptation is serious indeed. Already it is intimated in newspapers close to the government that it is hoping under its new three-man liquor board to increase the profits of the liquor business above the twenty-seven per cent. net produced by the present administration.

The government evidently intends to make every possible cent out of liquor, and if it does not encourage it, it is not likely to discourage liquor sales. It should remember that the electors of British Columbia did not vote for government control in 1920 to increase drinking. On the contrary, their main object was to encourage temperance. If, instead, government control encourages intemperance, the system itself and the government administering it will be fatally undermined.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

RADIO UNDER PRIVATE CONTROL

The Border Cities Star

Dr. L. P. Rahm, a Detroit physician, is quoted as saying: "Radio advertisers pay for most of the broadcasting in this country and get a dubious money's worth in the publicity which is mixed up with programmes over the air. They are beginning to express fears as to the results. However, they are so jealous of each other's facilities that there seems no prospect of an agreement to check the progress of a situation which may ultimately kill the interest of the public in broadcasting itself."

Dr. Rahm has hit the nail upon the head. The radio is becoming more and more trying for the listeners. Some splendid musical programmes are heard and many important speeches delivered. The fact remains, however, that advertising is so frequently dragged in by the heels, so to speak, and often presented in such a tiresome way, that people are either twisting the dials to get away from it or neglecting their radios altogether. This, of course, is going to be bad for the business of selling radio receiving sets, and it is high time that the manufacturers of equipment gave more serious thought to the situation than they have apparently done.

Nearly everyone enjoys listening to the radio, but the time is rapidly approaching when the machine will be a dead letter if grasping broadcasting organizations persist in interrupting programmes to tell the world that somebody's liver pills are the best ever, or that the smoking of a certain cigarette is the sure path to long life, happiness and a slim figure. In short, the radio-listening public is becoming very rapidly "fed up."

AIRPLANE AND AUTO

The Providence Journal

Society has not yet grappled successfully with the human life and health problems raised by the automobile. It should bestir itself in season to protect life and property from falling airplanes or objects falling out of airplanes, and it might first of all do what is easiest, insist that airplane motors be muffled and be kept muffled at whatever height or in whatever regions. All these difficult problems will some day be solved, but by far the easiest time to do it is at the beginning. The airplane is still only at its beginning. The death rate caused by the automobile is a warning what the airplane may do in the way of destruction and disturbance unless the necessary remedies are applied.

TARIFF REPRISALS

The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix

The United States cannot expect to lay fresh rows of bricks on its tariff wall without causing reprisals and losing some of its immense export trade.

WETS AND DRYS

The Boston Transcript

The country, under Hoover and Mitchell, apparently is heading toward a course of "rigorous" enforcement which will provoke resentments. It is obvious that outside the purel yrural communities public sentiment overwhelmingly regards constitutional prohibition as a mistake. It is evident, also, that for some years prohibition will be the dominating issue in American politics, and to fail to recognize it as such and to refuse the people an opportunity to record their opinion of it will be to flout a popular sentiment as no politician can afford to do.

A THOUGHT

> Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil.—Habbakkuk ii 9.

To the covetous man life is a nightmare, and God lets him wrestle with it as best he may.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Loose Ends

The great civic mystery is explained at last—but not vindicated—for life goes on despite the City Council—and the attorney-general of New York—and the famous ditch on Dallas Road.

By H. B. W.

APPARENTLY THIS peaceful community is being utterly rent asunder by a baffling question, to wit, why did the city dig a ditch on Dallas Road? I have read all the bibliography on the subject, noted the various explanations and made a personal investigation of the ground in question. I perceive, as a result, that there is universal misapprehension on this vital issue. The civic authorities have not dug the ditch, as seems generally supposed, either because of a hatred of motorists, who are accustomed to drive their cars out to the edge of the sea and gaze at the Olympics; nor by a tender solicitude for the pedestrians who are accustomed to walk there. The motive of the civic authorities is something higher and finer. They have dug the ditch from a sense of morality and respectability, so lofty that most people cannot appreciate it.

* * *

TO UNDERSTAND this grave question properly, you must go further than the mere surface of it, as so many irresponsible observers have done. You must investigate it from all angles. If you do so, you will find that the waterfront on Dallas Road, in the neighborhood of the famous ditch, is used chiefly in the moonlight evenings of spring and summer by young people, who enjoy one another's company under such romantic conditions, and who like to gaze out on the water together. Since the beginning of time, governments, and particularly municipal governments, have been in deadly enmity against such innocent goings-on. Indeed, they have always proceeded on the assumption that such goings-on never do go on except among a few depraved people who should be hunted out and destroyed.

* * *

GOVERNMENTS, AND particularly municipal governments, have always been composed of men who have never seen life; or if they have, are so disgusted with it that they are eager to prevent others seeing it. It is true that the men who govern the world to-day did not spend their evenings looking at the moonlight from a 1930 model sedan, but under such circumstances the difference between a 1930 sedan and a good, old-fashioned buckboard of the vintage of the early nineties, is entirely an outward and visible difference. The spirit of the thing is the same. And it is surprising that men, who in their gay youth, occupied one, should be so scandalized at anyone else occupying the other.

* * *

MY OWN theory about all these things is that the older generations was so much more wicked than ours that in their repentant old age they grow unduly alarmed about the most innocent things, suspecting that modern people will behave as they did. Therefore, not alone in Victoria, but everywhere, ditches are being dug across life, as across the waterfront at Dallas Road, to make it more unbearable than ever. But life always has a habit of eluding the clutches of governments and city councils. If you stop it in one direction by a ditch it appears somewhere else as saucily as ever. And if you keep it off the waterfront on the Dallas Road, it will just move on to the Uplands or Cadboro Bay. It is too bad, but life is more experienced in these things even than the City Council of Victoria.

* * *

THE PONDEROUS, inhuman fashion in which governments regard these very human matters is really quite charming. Thus the attorney-general's department of the great State of New York has handed down a long and carefully-worded ruling to the effect that "one-arm" driving "unnecessarily endangers the users of the public highways" and that, therefore, a charge of reckless driving "can be lodged against a driver who persists in keeping one arm around his companion." The last is an exquisite touch—"a driver who persists in keeping one arm around his companion," by which pompous phraseology the attorney-general's department of New York State feigns a respectable ignorance of such things that is quite incredible—as if it thought that the one-arm driver's "companion" might be his maiden aunt or a fat policeman. And anyway, as many a man has found out a few years later, when it comes time to pay the rent and replace the trousseau, one-arm driving is far more dangerous to the driver than to "users of the public highways."

* * *

THE MANAGER of an air-line between New York and Boston has lately been lamenting on the habits of women passengers, which, according to his observations, are most eloquent of the American manner of living. He says that women, instead of admiring the scenery from his airplanes, amuse themselves during the trip by writing letters. "I have seen women riding over the line for the first time without lifting their eyes from their writing, paying absolutely no attention to the scenery," he declares. "The record trip occurred recently when fifty letters were handed to the steward to be mailed when the plane reached its destination."

* * *

YOU MAY say, as one British commentator said, that this is typical only of Americans, of their desire not to see things but to do them and, above all, to prove that they have done them. That is true, but the habit is not confined to Americans alone. It is a vice of this whole Continent. Canadians as well as their neighbors speed about this country in their automobiles so fast that it is often impossible for them to see anything of it. Their whole attention is focused on the road, and you will never know how much you lose this way until, like me, you have changed from the front seat to the back, where there is nothing to do but look around. But the vice of motoring is that no driver is ever content except in the driver's seat, and the better driver he is, the more he fears to let anyone else drive him. The result is that thousands of people hurtle through the scenery of this province annually and buy picture post cards so that they may see what it looks like.

HORSE RACING AND BREEDING

To the Editor:—The long-suffering columns of our admirable local press have lately been filled with accounts of disputes and miserable squabbles in connection with horse racing matters, both so-defined amateur and also professional.

Many real sportsmen have dropped out entirely from both breeding and racing in Western Canada rather than have any connection with a sport showing such utter mismanagement. Some others have worked for thirty years to place such matters and questions under properly qualified recognized ruling, and to elevate the industry and sport to a level correspondent with management everywhere else under the British flag.

The B. C. Thoroughbred Horsebreeders and Horsemen's Association which has been incorporated for eight years, appears as the only body in British Columbia which has made any effort to assist in straightening out those questions. Unfortunately it has no authority to take control, even over amateur racing.

However, I suggest that your space is too valuable and this is no place to enter into details and disputations, only, with your permission, I beg to call attention to a meeting of the above Horsemen's Association which is to be held in St. David's Hall, Douglas Street, to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at 8 o'clock. At 7 o'clock there will be a working demonstration of the Imprimatur Tote ticket machine in the hall. This machine is invented and made in Victoria, patented in Canada and Great Britain, and highly approved by government officials and others who have seen it at work.

All members of this association and of kindred bodies, the press, government officials, and all sportsmen who are sufficiently interested in the betterment of horsemanship in its various branches to become members of the association are cordially invited to attend at 7 o'clock.

The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock, when a number of resolutions relative to matters under contention will be submitted to the members.

W. HASTIE COCHRANE,
Vice-president.

HE PUT US ON THE MAP

To the Editor:—I would like to congratulate the city upon having such a fine publicity officer in our Mayor. The service rendered to our city to-day at the launching of the Empress of Britian will be of inestimable value. I note that with the exception of Premier King our Mayor was the only man in Canada to act upon this auspicious occasion.

HOWARD CHAPMAN.

ROUMANIA IS TOLD RESOURCES ARE TO BE USED

Paris, June 11.—King Carol of Roumania, in a statement to the special correspondent of Le Matin at Bucharest, told him Roumania expected to take the place in European affairs it was entitled to as a result of benefits reaped from the World War victory.

"I expect my first ministry will devote itself, especially to improving the economic situation," he said. "This country has resources and they must be exploited. More than any other thing this merits confidence and everything must be done to maintain it.

"I have often had occasion to talk this subject over with French economists and financiers, and I venture to believe the return of the lawful king, his action and efforts cannot but enhance Roumania's credit.

"We need help from our friends and we will show we are worthy of it. Bright back to a normal regime, enjoying the benefits of stability, with a sovereign who will not spare his best endeavors, I am sure that Roumania, reconstituted by victory, will take the great place in Europe which belongs to it."

King Carol paid a glowing tribute to the services of his brother Nicholas. "He is more than a brother," he said. "He showed devotion, affection, abnegation and even now is giving up his vacation. He hourly does me such splendid service that I feel bound to render the deep homage to him."

John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, sold magazines and candy on a train. The conductor once held up the train for several minutes so young McGraw could prove to two passengers that he could throw a curve ball.

Canada Power Takes Over Rothermere Paper Mills

Big Merger Control of Newspaper Publishers' Pulp and Paper Interests In Canada Passes To Canadian Group Headed By Holt and Gundy.

Montreal, June 11.—Consolidation of British and Canadian capital into the largest newsprint manufacturing corporation in the British Empire is foreseen in the announcement to-day by Lord Rothemere of the proposed amalgamation of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills Limited, of which he is president, with the Canada Power and Paper Corporation, which is controlled by the interest of the Canadian financiers, Sir Herbert Holt and J. H. Gundy. The amalgamation will involve a considerable section of the power and paper resources of Canada.

By this deal control of the Rothemere pulp and paper interest on this side of the Atlantic passes to Canadians.

No capital issue is contemplated, the merger being effected by exchange of the ordinary shares of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills for common shares of Canada Power and Paper Corporation on a basis of 2¼ shares of the capital stock of the latter corporation for one share of the former.

BASIS OF DEAL

Canada Power and Paper will assume the outstanding debenture obligations of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, and will guarantee the dividends on the outstanding seven per cent cumulative preference shares of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills.

Viscount Rothemere is the head of the largest publishing interests in the British Empire, being chairman of the Associated Northcliffe Newspapers Limited, Daily Mail Trust Limited, and Northcliffe Newspapers Limited, controlling newspapers with daily circulations running to millions of copies.

In an official statement announcing the amalgamation agreement, issued by Lord Rothemere, it was stated that the daily production of the combined companies would be approximately 2,500 tons of newsprint, plus a "large tonnage" of pulp, kraft and board paper. Present shareholders of Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills Limited will be represented on the board of directors of Canada Power and Paper Corporation.

LARGEST IN WORLD

Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills owns a newsprint mill near Quebec City with a site of about seventy acres fronting on tidewater and with deep water on the St. Lawrence River, suitable for ocean-going vessels. The company also controls timber interests, mainly on the Manicougan River in Quebec, estimated to contain 10,000,000 cords of pulpwood.

The Canada Power and Paper Corporation located in Quebec province, produces more than fifty per cent of all newsprint manufactured in Canada and more than nine per cent of the entire world output. It is a consolidation of five large newsprint manufacturing companies — Belgo-Canadian, St. Maurice, Laurentide, Port Alfred and Wayagamack. The Wayagamack company owns and operates in addition to its newsprint plant, one of the largest kraft paper mills in the world. All these mills are in Quebec and the three last named are on tidewater.

CALGARIANS HEAR BENNETT IN CAMPAIGN

Conservative Leader Delivers Second Address of His Election Tour

Canadian Press

Regina, June 11.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader addressed an audience in the Armories here last night, it being the second speech of the election campaign tour which is to carry him from coast to coast. It was a warm summer night.

As in his speech in Winnipeg, Mr. Bennett devoted his chief attention to the tariff and trade matters.

HIS TARIFF VIEWS

"The business of the government of the Dominion," the Conservative leader said, "is to think in terms of Canada. Its business has been to think in terms of policies that will make for to-morrow and not for to-day. The trouble with the Liberal party is that it has only thought of to-day. There was no thought of tomorrow. So to-day we have men and women still walking the streets seeking employment. Why? Because the policies of the government have been wrong, wrong in principle.

"During the last nine years since Mr. King came into power he has by his tariff policies," Mr. Bennett said, "permitted millions of dollars to go out of this country to buy American goods, so that was are to-day the greatest customer the United States has."

Marching to the slogan of America First, he proceeded, "the great giant, the United States has been pushing out, until Canada in the last year alone has purchased $900,000,000 from the United States."

Mr. Bennett asked: "Do your realize we are in the greatest struggle of any people in the world? Do you want these conditions of dumping surplus products of the United States into Canada?"

COUNTERVAILING DUTIES

Speaking of the countervailing duties, Mr. Bennett referred to them as a " made in Washington policy." The result was that Western biscuit factories now found the duty on flour necessary for their needs, he continued raised to more than $2 a barrel. "The Government was either right in the past nine years or wrong now," Mr. Bnnett said. "The fact is they did not know whether they were right or wrong. They are looking for votes. Even The Winnipeg Free Press speaks of it as an election budget. The Government is playing with the lives of men and women. Do they realize what they are doing?

"They say there is no unemployment. We will cure these problems very simply, they say. It is very simple. What will we do? We will put a tariff on. A high tariff. What? A high tariff from the Liberals; surely not. Why? Surely, they would not betray their old party that way? Surely there is something wrong. Oh no I hear it. It is written a tariff on iron and steel."

At another point Mr. Bennett said: "There should be no unemployment in Canada with a proper fiscal policy. The Government is to be condemned for not admitting that employment relief is a matter for Federal, provincial and municipal authorities."

DO OR DIE

A pledge Mr. Bennett gave was: "If the party to which I belong is elected on July 28, at the first session we will pass such legislation as will give Canada fair competition, an equal opportunity with their competitors, or we will get out of power. And we will do that at the first session of Parliament or die in the attempt."

Church Securities To Be Firm's Specialty

The establishment of a firm to specialize in Catholic Church securities marks a forward step in the financing of church development in Canada. F. J. Jackson & Company, 360 St. James Street west, Montreal, proposes measures that will tend to facilitate the issuance of such securities. This company will constitute a ready intermediary between church administrators and the financial markets of the world. In those cases where the administrator prefers to have a financial agent, F. J. Jackman & Company may be appointed to act in this capacity.

F. J. Jackman, the president of this company, has established contacts with financial houses and with men interested in the finance of the Catholic Church in London and Rome, as well as in New York, St. Louis and Chicago. Contacts of this character assure the administrators that they will have access to the best sources of information concerning the financial situation at home and abroad. Such information is essential for those who wish to plan an intelligent programme for the administration of large financial projects.

For more than 100 years the Jackman family have been prominent in the development of Newfoundland. The names of members of the Jackman family have been associated with the development of the whaling, seal and cod fishing industries in that country. Thelate Hon. E. M. Jackman, for ten years the Finance Minister of the Newfoundland government, had a reputation for integrity and honesty and for far-reaching ideals for the development of Newfoundland. The Hon. Mr. Jackman was the brother of F. J. Jackman, president of this company.

Presbyterians Down on Divorce And Re-marriage

Canadian Press

Hamilton, Ont., June 11. — Modern divorce was unanimously denounced yesterday afternoon by the Presbyterian General Assembly. Rev. W. S. MacTavish reported for his committee on that subject, and an amendment introduced by Rev. J. V. Ralston could not find a seconder.

The assembly condemned the institution of divorce as a "destroyer of civilization," and urged all ministers to fight it.

The original motion proposed an appeal to the government for the prevention of remarriage after divorce, but as revised by the committee all mention of legal action is omitted.

Grandmotherly Fashions To Be Seen at Ascot

London, June 11.—Flounces, frills, posies and ribbon streamers will trim the long-skirted, high-waisted costumes of organdy and muslin which will be fashion's raiment at the Ascot races, beginning June 17. A muslin sash with a big bow at the back, a lace fichu on the bodice, fastened with rosebuds, and rosebuds on the tiny puff sleeves will lend the expected grandmotherly appearance to the reigning styles. Cream silk mittens and bonnets of blue crinoline straw, trimmed with roses and ribbons will touch off the costumes. Black velvet sashes will be used where the waistlines are normal.

St. Barnabas Fete — St. Barnabas Guild and W.A. will hold their annual summer fete in the church grounds on Thursday, June 19. It will be opened at 3 o'clock by Mr. A. M. Bannerman. Stalls of useful articles, including some cooking and candies, are being attractively arranged. During the afternoon a play entitled "The Singing Egg" will be performed by the members of the Coral League.

Miss Annie J. Hartley of Pensions Department Greeted By Overseas Nurses

Miss Annie J. Hartley, matron of the Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, and recently appointed matron-in-chief under the Department of Pensions and Health for Canada, was the guest of honor at a reception given by Miss J. ## FINE RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MODEL SCHOOL

Young Soloists and Choir Members Delight Audience With Excellent Programme

In a delightful programme of choral and solo selections, students of the Model School, assisted by selected voices from the Provincial Normal School, charmed a large audience at the Normal Auditorium yesterday evening.

The concert was one of the finest ever given by the students and won high acclaim from all who attended it. From the little tots in the lowest grades to the assisting artists were uniformly excellent and displayed fine range and sweetness.

Opening the programme, the junior choir rendered "In Wooden Shoes" a Swedish folk song of great appeal. "Cherries Are Ripe," a delightful little programme in which Miriam Spear and Gordon Payne took solo parts, was also received with considerable favor by the gathering.

"I'm a Weather Vane," sung by little Elizabeth Angus, and "Sweet Nightingale," in which Francis Speer and Jean Phillips carried the refrain, was also greeted with much applause.

The junior section was brought to a close with "Airship," by Howard Sedgman.

DISPLAYED TALENT

In the senior class, "My Mountain Home," sung by Bryan Lytton. "The Sea King's Pride," by Peggy Allen and "Believe Me if all Those Endearing Young Charms," by John Aldous, were given splendid renditions as was the solo "Ballad of Sea Music," by David Groos.

This section was brought to a close with the choral number "Tree-Top Mornings" by the senior group.

While the solos were the most outstanding part of the programme, the choirs also demonstrated exceptional range and color and won high praise from the audience.

NORMAL STUDENTS SING

"Twilight Peace" and "O As I Went Down to Dover," a tuneful old French air, were presented by selected voices from the Normal School and added greatly to the success of the function.

The programme was under the direction of Miss G. Gordon Riddell, instructor of music at the Normal School, whose excellent teaching throughout the year was apparent in the excellence of the selections given.

FRIENDLY HELP APPEALS FOR AID

Needs More Cash to Carry on Work Among Unemployed

Disappointed in the response to their recent appeal for cash donations, the Friendly Help Association at its meeting yesterday morning reiterated the need for assistance. The secretary in her report said: "We were very disappointed that our letters of appeal for cash donations, which appeared the last of May in the press, only brought us in $49.50, but we are very grateful to those who contributed to this amount. It is with much regret that we have to appeal so often this year for funds for our work, but in all the years of the association's experience we have never had to assist so many needy cases as up to the present time. So we would still be very thankful indeed for more cash donations."

MANY CASES HELPED

The report continued: "We are sorry to have to report that at this time of the year, when work usually opens up, we have had to take on several new cases, as the unemployment situation is still a serious one. During the month of May 130 cases, representing 455 persons, were assisted; 74 had groceries, 23 had fuel (5 coal and 21 wood), 52 had milk daily, and 43 had meat more than once. From the rooms 51 got clothing, 24 got provisions, as eggs, dripping, sandwiches, rolled oats, flour, groceries, etc., and 7 got sundries, as oilcloth, pincushion, magazines, goat, baby carriage, table, chairs, bed, cot, etc.

Mrs. Cullum, the president, was in the chair at the meeting, and welcomed Miss M. R. Lawson, the secretary-treasurer, after her recent holiday.

REBEKAHS ELECT YEAR'S OFFICERS

Mrs. A. E. Merrithew of Vancouver New Head of B.C. Assembly

Mrs. Agnes E. Merrithew of Vancouver was yesterday afternoon elected president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, at the twenty-second annual session in progress at the Shrine auditorium.

The proceedings opened with Mrs. Mary E. Knight of Ladysmith, president, in the chair, and sixty-eight delegates, representing fifty-four lodges, the number being increased as the proceedings continued. There was also present a large attendance of visitors.

The degree was conferred upon eighty-five candidates.

The keenely contested election for office resulted in advancement by one step of the officrs of the past year. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Agnes E. Merrithew of Vancouver; vice-president, Mrs. Gladys M. Turvey of Chilliwack; warden, Mrs. Margaret N. McDonald of Vancouver; treasurer, Mrs. Edith R. V. Todd, of Victoria. Mrs. Frances A. Walker was re-elected secretary, holding the office for her twenty-second year.

GIRL THRILLED BY BURGLAR'S GALLANTRY

New York, June 11.—Miss Gene Berylson, fourteen, had so much to talk about to-day. What young lady wouldn't if a burglar with an English accent said she was beautiful, and expressed the desire to take her out to dinner some night?

Miss Berylson, daughter of a West End Avenue dentist, woke up in the middle of the night to see a man ransacking her dresser. As she sat up, he pointed a gun and asked where the jewelry was kept. Shivering, she stammered out that she didn't know. Then he tied her up with pieces of a sheet, sat down on the bed and smoked a cigarette.

"You are very pretty," he said. "You have been courageous. I should like to come back and take you to dinner some night."

Then, unloosening her bonds, he walked to the window and escaped, having taken nothing.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

by Mrs. Eldred Mead

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

BONY CHANGES ARE CHIEF INDICATIONS OF RICKETS

Acting as an arbiter in disputes is one of the duties which befalls the writer of such a departemnt as this. A. says so and so, B. disputes it: "Now Mrs. Eldred, please tell us which one is right." In the following case a potential mother is eager to listen in on this dispute hoping to learn something thereby. The children in this three-corned argument are eighteen months and twenty-four months old. The eighteen months old child is bright, talks well in four word sentences, and is possessed of a constant sense of excitement. She walked at fourteen months but falls over when standing. Her legs seem to be weak. The other mother claims she has rickets and that talking so early will cause her to be a nervous wreck, and perhaps stammer.

The two-year-old child walks well but cannot talk. She points at what she wants or opens her mouth when she is hungry. She tires easily, doesn't want to be played with or touched and is cross and fussy. Mother of the eighteen-month-old child claims this child has had rickets which makes her backward in talking.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION

Both children should have a thorough physical examination, as neither is up to standard. The description of their conditions gives a very poor picture of what may be wrong, but the outstanding characteristic of rickets, the bony changes, are not mentioned.

Rickets manifests itself in the early stages by irritability, inability to sleep and a tendency to profuse head-sweating for no logical reason. The child will refuse to sit up at an age when such an activity is to be expected, later refusing to walk. The appearance of teeth will be much later than usual.

MANIFESTATIONS UNMISTAKABLE

If the disease is allowed to progress unchecked, the bony changes become more noticeable. Poor diet and lack of vitamin D, found principally in cod liver oil and sunshine, fail to provide the system with the properties which will develop strong bones and teeth. The result is that the long bones thicken at the ends (at wrists and ankles) the legs bend when baby's weight is put on them causing bow-legs or knock-knees. The chest bulges and protrudes in barrel shape and the head grows box-like in appearance. The child may have convulsions on slight provocation.

The child's mentality is affected only if he is so handicapped by rickets that he is unable to have the normal experiences a baby of his age would have, and in no other way. The bright baby is not going to have nervous prostration from talking nor will she stammer from such a cause.

To make it more digestible ... this delicious food is Shot from Guns

How 125 million explosions in every grain makes Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice as nourishing as hot cooked cereals

TASTE these deliciously flavory Puffed Grains! ... They are the invention of Professor Anderson. He seals grains of wheat and rice in huge bronze guns. Revolves the guns in a fiery furnace. When the guns are fired, 125 million explosions occur in each grain.

This opens every tiny food cell. It makes Puffed Grains as completely digestible as though they had been cooked for hours. Hence they become virtually as nourishing as hot cooked cereals.

And how crisp ... crunchy ... delectably good to eat Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are. They melt in your mouth. They give just the splendid grain nourishment everyone needs. Serve them for breakfast, luncheon and supper. Toast them with butter to make a new delicious kind of popcorn. Your grocer has Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice. The Quaker Oats Company.

MODERN "SHORT-BOIL" METHOD

for making Jams and Jellies

Saves time and money—Insures perfect jams and jellies

THE Certo "short-boil" method is now accepted as the most efficient, economical way to make all your jams and jellies. Millions of women use it!

Certo is a pure fruit product—just the natural jellying substance extracted from fruit in which it is abundant.

With Certo, anyone can make perfect jams and jellies, quickly and easily, from any fruit or fruit juice, even those delicious fruits that never before would jell.

The experiences of Mrs. A. and Mrs. B., as outlined on this page, make clear not only the genuine economy, but also the wonderful simplicity and ease of the Certo method.

This same comparison holds true with all fruits. With Certo, by saving the fruit juice formerly boiled away, you get half again more jam or jelly from a given amount of fruit. You save the delicate colour, the delicious flavour of the fresh fruit. You save time, effort, and fuel, and get a perfect jam or jelly every time at a saving of from one to three cents per glass.

VICTORIA BOY SOLOIST WINS

Douglas Firth Awarded Silver Shield in B.C. Music Festival

Vancouver, June 11.—Douglas Firth, a promising Victoria singer, won the Silver Challenge Shield in the boys' solo class in the British Columbia Musical Festival here yesterday evening.

A noteworthy number of choirs took part in the evening programme, the Vancouver Lions' Glee Club, under the direction of the W. H. Nansen, retaining the "Burns" Silver Challenge Cup, while Tecumseh School, conducted by Miss A. Kerr, was awarded the Challenge Shield for a particularly outstanding performance.

Miss Ada Henderson was presented with the British Columbia Dramatic School Cup for obtaining highest marks in senior elocution classes.

A large number of entries made adjudications in the boys' solo class a rather difficult, though interesting task. The four finalists were warmly commended by Dr. A. C. Tysoe for what he termed their "honest naturalness." Douglas Firth, the winner, received a total of eighty-eight marks. He was closely followed by Jimmie Rae, of North Vancouver, and Raymond Ballard, each of whom, it was announced, would receive a bronze medal.

Swollen Feet May Mean Heart or Kidneys Need Attention

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Swelling of the tissues due to water may occur in a variety of conditions. With certain deficient diets, with varicose veins, with certain forms of anemia or changes in the blood, the tissues may swell.

There are several varieties of puffy, swollen or thickened feet and ankles associated with heart disease or kidney disease. When these organs do not function properly they do not move fluid around the body or get rid of fluid through the proper organs. Swelling is due entirely to fat in some cases, to excess water in others, and to both water and fat in others.

In a consideration of the various causes of this condition, Dr. A. A. Osman of Guy's Hospital in England finds the explanation for some cases in an acid condition of the body resulting from various disturbances of the chemistry of the human organism. In those cases in which the acid reaction was primarily responsible, the condition was overcome by giving salts by mouth which tend to raise the alkalinity of the tissue.

It is important to realize that the swelling of the feet is a symptom of what may sometimes be a serious disorder, and that it cannot be overcome by more walking or exercise, by massage, by bandaging, or by anything put on the condition must be made only after a thorough analysis of the basic cause.

When such an analysis is made and the proper correction undertaken, the condition usually clears up promptly.

If the underlying condition is a deficiency of the heart, this must be controlled by proper rest and by treatment to strengthen the heart's action; if the deficiency is in the kidneys, a suitable diet will take some of the strain off the eliminating function. If the diet is at fault so as to accumulate acid in the system, an alkaline diet and alkaline preparations which a physician may prescribe will be of service.

If the force of gravity and varicose veins are largely responsible, these may be controlled by the injection method or by surgical operation.

Stain Prevention

If you lacquer your brass bowls, candlesticks, fixtures and so on, they will not tarnish and you will not have to polish them so often.

YOUR CHILDREN

If I were the mother of a twelve-year-old boy—or a thirteen or fourteen-year-old boy—I think I should talk to my husband something like this:

"John, I want you to do something. I want you to start right now to make a friend of Buddy. I've done my job—a woman's job with a boy can go along unassisted until he is twelve or so. But after that she needs help.

"A mother can't look at the world with a man's viewpoint. She might do that, too, but her influence is pretty well lost in some directions because her boy will always discount her as a woman, no matter how well he loves her. He just thinks she doesn't know. Buddy thinks I don't know.

"Anyhow, I want you to be friends, not just father and son, but companions with common ideas, and adventures together that you'll both remember. When he gets to be a man, it will be the things he does in the next ten years that will stay in his mind. Don't you want to be an entity in that?

"Up to now he doesn't know you, except to ask for permission to do things or to be reminded when he doesn't or does them wrong. You're just a parent to him. Now I think it's time for you to adopt another attitude. Help him to think for himself and to decide between right and wrong. He doesn't know what a fine man you are. Show him you are not just a pocketbook and a policeman.

"Get a new relationship established and when he learns to value your opinion more than anything else on earth and hangs on your advice, you can talk to him as all boys need to be talked to—oh, about everything.

DON'T WAIT TOO LONG

"You see, John, too many fathers wait until their boys are eighteen and then try to make friends of them, only to discover that something is missing. The confidential friendship isn't there. Besides, he'll be going away to school, perhaps, and you won't see him for several years. He'll come back a stranger.

"What do I want you to do? Oh, no, you needn't constitute yourself an entertainment committee of one. That's not at all the idea, although you two can go to a movie, or for a walk, or fishing, or to a ball game any time you want. I should do it often.

"But take him to the office sometimes and keep him there all day. Let him see what it means to be tied to a desk for eight straight hours with only a sandwich for lunch. Let him see that money must be worked for. You can find odd jobs for him to do. The idea is to have him with you more.

"When the boys play ball in the evenings, wander over and let him see that you are interested. I'll let you go with him to choose his clothes from now on. Get him books you think he'll enjoy. Talk to him about what he'd like to go into when he is grown. Talking to you will develop his own ideas about that. Explain events to him. Get him interested in things that are going on everywhere. Give him a working knowledge of how to play the game fair—what is honorable and dishonorable. You know better than I do. Just make him a friend and companion. That's all. Be with him more."

If father is willing to undertake the job, there is no question that Buddy will be getting about the richest, best thing in a boy's life—a thing too many boys are robbed of because either their fathers don't think or don't know. If they are waiting until he is a man I question the result. I think there is disappointment in store for them.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

With vacations just around the corner and week-end trips imminent, we must watch our diet while away if we would come home feeling "fair and fit." Food so often is the sign and symbol of hospitality that if we are guests we are prone to over-eat. Meantime breaks the monotony of travel, while the holiday feeling often leads one out of his regular diet.

The method of transportation plays a large part in determining just what we shall eat. Hiking, motoring, traveling by train or boat—each way demands different types of diet.

When we "bike" we go on our own power, so to speak, and we need plenty of fuel, for we use an extra amount of energy. Plenty of good hearty food three times a day is necessary. Eating between meals of anything other than fruit is not advisable.

On trains, mealtime breaks into the day and provides something to do, with the result that each meal is welcomed and heartily enjoyed. But there is usally lack of fresh air and always lack of exercise. Light, easily digested foods should be chosen. Plenty of vegetables, plain salads, fresh or stewed fruits and broiled or roasted meats without rich gravies or sauces furnish a varied and wholesome diet. Rich desserts and heavy meat should be eaten sparingly. Candy is a temptation to which the wise person will not yield. Drink plenty of water and eat fruit if the urge to eat is overpowering between meals.

Motoring inevitably makes one hungry, for fresh air stimulates the appetite. However, lack of exercise makes it necessary to choose food with care. Bulky foods, coarse cereals, leafy vegetables and plenty of fruits will be beneficial. Three well balanced meals a day should be thoughtfully selected. Eat regularly! The tendency to go an an hour or so past the lunch or dinner hour with the hope of finding "something better" should be overcome. Meals at irregular hours give many a headache that could have been avoided.

When children are among the party, extreme care of their diet should be observed. Ice cream cones between meals, pop, crackerjack or any other confection should be forbidden. Apples, oranges, bananas, are always available and are not harmful. Continuous driving and change of scene with little exercise excites and tires children. They must eat plain, well-cooked and nourishing foods which are easily digested. They must have their meals as regularly as they would at home.

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bancroft, Ontario—"When I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had been married about a year and my strength was leaving me on account of my condition. I was only 19 and it was my first child. My mother told me I needed something to steady my nerves and a girl chum told me to take the Vegetable Compound. I am so thankful I did because it strengthened my whole system and now I feel perfectly well and have a sweet little baby boy."—Mrs. J. B. STALKER, Bancroft, Ontario.

Much Speculation Over Result of Heavyweight Title Bout

THE SPORTS MIRROR

GLASGOW Rangers have completed the first half of their Canadian tour without a blemish on their record. On Monday night the Scottish champions, playing in the most western city in Canada, gave a masterful display to defeat the Victoria "reps" by an 8-1 score. The Rangers are now en route back to the Atlantic seaboard and it is doubtful if they will be defeated by any Canadian team. The Rangers more than lived up to expectations in their local performance. Much discussion is now taking place among the fans as to whether or not the Rangers were a better team than the three international clubs that have played in this city. There is room for much argument on this question and it will be a hard one to settle.

* * *

The Canadian enthusiasts are open to conviction but it will take a lot to make a Scotsman admit that Sheffield Wednesday are superior to the Rangers. And after England defeated Scotland in the International match this year there's little chance of England admitting inferiority.

The only thing left now is to bring out an Irish eleven. We have seen the Scots, English, Welsh and the Corinthians, of amateur fame. The Irish are no slouches at soccer. Ask any Irishman.

* * *

Frankie Wykoff who last Saturday established what is claimed to be a new world's record for the 100 yards in defeating George Simpson and Eddie Tolan, declares he does not fear Percy Williams as much as he does George Simpson. He intimates that Simpson is a real threat, and is confident he will beat Williams when they meet at Vancouver on July 1.

* * *

Wykoff's remarks are interesting if nothing else. He still has to defeat Williams, and no amount of optimistic prophecy can overcome the fact that he was vanquished when they last met. Wykoff alleges that Williams stated he did not win after that famous finish at Vancouver. He claims this remark was made as they came back from the finish. It is quite possible, but that had nothing to do with the official result but helps considerably in adding interest to their impending clash.

* * *

From a sport standpoint two of the most suitable ambassadors between Great Britain and the United States would be the Earl of Derby and Bobby Jones. These two sportsmen seem to know exactly how to find the right word and do the proper thing. The Earl returns to England with a fine word of praise for U.S. racing and particularly Belmont Park. Jones accords the crowds at St. Andrews the palm for sportsmanship and credits them with an assist in his victory in the British amateur.

* * *

Jones states he felt that the crowd seemed to appreciate and sympathize with the golfers. He marvelled at the manners of the crowd and the way they were controlled by the stewards, absence of noise and the fine discipline everywhere. It is a standard that could well be followed in Canada and the United States where galleries often fail to observe that decorum essential to golf.

* * *

While some of us may have thought Colonel Jake Ruppert of the New York Yankees extravagant and a bit foolish for contracting to pay a doddering old fellow named Babe Ruth $80,000 a year for this baseball season and next, it appears now that the colonel struck a bargain. The Babe is forever crossing up the fellows who would have him relegated to the scrap heap.

* * *

"Give the old boy a bat and two good legs to stand on and he'll play plenty of baseball," said Donie Bush the other day. And that, perhaps, is pretty much the opinion of every fan.

Just to remind the pitching boys that Ruthian menace still hovers over them, the Bambino walked into the park the other day and bashed three balls into the stands for home runs. For fear they were not sufficiently impressed by that performance, he smashed five more home runs in five more games.

* * *

And all the time, the Big Bam's batting average climbed steadily higher among the leaders. He probably figured that a lot of upstarts like Chuck Klein, Mel Ott, Jimmy Foxx and Hack Wilson had to be shown that there is only one King of Swat.

* * *

In 1927, the first season that he drew a $70,000-a-year salary on a three-year contract, Ruth obligingly proved to his owners that he was worth every cent of that amount by setting a new major league home run record of 60 four-base blows. It wouldn't be amiss to think the Bambino will produce another home run record this year to satisfy the men who sign his pay check.

The Cleveland Indians, for one team, are going to make it easier for the Babe this year. They've eliminated the high wire screen atop the wall in right field, a screen that has snared many a line drive from the Babe's bat to convert it into a two-base blow.

Earl Mastro Is Winner in Bout Against Sparks

Chicago, June 11. — Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, defeated Ward Sparks, Detroit, in a ten-round outdoor bout here yesterday evening, scoring two knockdown. He upset Sparks for a count of four in the first round with a right uppercut to the jaw and floored him again in the sixth with a left hook. Sparks made a surprising finish.

Both Sharkey and Schmeling Have to Overcome a "Jinx"

Fans Wondering If Boston Gob Can Hurdle Temperamental "Hoodoo" That Follows Him In International Competition; German Trying To Carry Fistic Heights That Firpo, Carpentier and Heeney Failed To Reach; 75,000 Expected to Attend.

By ALAN GOULD, ASSOCIATED PRESS SPORTS WRITER

New York, June 11.—In the most interesting and most extravagantly ballyhooed fight since the late Tex Rickard pulled the strings of the heavyweight Punch and Judy show, Jack Sharkey will fight Max Schmeling to-morrow night, fifteen rounds or less, at the Yankee Stadium for the "heavyweight championship of the world."

It is by all odds the most significant heavyweight bout since the retirement of Gene Tunney, but whether the winner will be recognized outside of Germany, Lithuania and the United States remains to be seen.

With any kind of an even break from Old Man Weather, a crowd of 75,000 fans probably will pay in excess of $700,000 to see the big show. This is a far cry from the figures attending the last of the outstanding Rickard extravaganzas on Chicago's Lake front in 1927, but it excels anything on the books of the heavyweight business for the last three years. In addition the customers will have the happy opportunity to serve a double purpose in benefitting the Children's Milk Fund, sponsored by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, and in aiding the recovery of the indigent heavyweight division.

To-day, the two main questions up for debate among the rail birds are:

First, can Schmeling carry the fistic heights that three previous foreign challengers, Firpo, Carpentier and Heeney, failed to reach?

Second, can Sharkey overcome the temperamental jinx that has seemed to pursue him in international competition and fight at his best?

MUCH SPECULATION

This fight is no exception, when it comes to the speculative "ifs" and "buts" or even the loose talk that everything is "in" and "all right" for one principal or the other. So far as that goes it is just the ballyhoo that has become a part of the game.

The claims for one corner that Schmeling will win if he crowds and harasses Sharkey from the outset are countered by the cries that the Teuton will have his ears cuffed off if he mixes it too willingly.

Belief that Sharkey is due for one of his good fights and, therefore, will emerge the winner, is offset by his record of consistently putting up mediocre bouts against foreign rivals. It is this strange feature of Sharkey's career that seems to give Schmeling the best chance to capture heavyweight honors that any invader has had since Luis Angel Firpo knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring at the Polo Grounds seven years ago.

Sharkey has fought his good fights almost exclusively against the domestic punch absorbers. His most impressive performances were scored against Harry Wills and George Godfrey, the so-called black menaces, and Jim Maloney and Tommy Loughran, representing the Irish-American contingent.

Against this, there is Sharkey's record of being knocked out early in his career by Romero Rojas, the Chilean; beaten by bounding Johnny Risko, the Austrian baker boy; held to a draw by old Tom Heeney, the New Zealander; and victor over Phil Scott, the Englishman, in a very questionable bout at Miami, where Phil might easily have been declared the winner on a foul, whether or not he was hurt by Sharkey's low blows.

SHARKEY STILL FAVORITE

This information may be food for the hunch players, even though not consoling to the patriots, who will consider it a national calamity, scarcely less important than the Wall Street crash, if the heavyweight title is lost to America. In spite of it, the form players have made Sharkey a 9 to 5 favorite in the betting and he probably will enter the ring at that figure.

The training camps have contributed little but wordage to the general discussion. The main facts are that Sharkey, best of a poor crop of U.S. heavyweights, has the fighting equipment and experience with which to beat back the challenge of the young, hard-hitting and courageous German. No one yet, however, has successfully predicted what Sharkey will do any given evening in the ring, so that the rest of the argument may just as well be reserved for to-morrow night.

The tale outside of the ring may be more impressive than within, for the ringside seats will be occupied by dazzling rows of notables in evening frocks and stiff-shirted costume. The ranks of the famous "600 millionaires" of Madison Square Garden may be somewhat depleted since recent events in Wall Street, but they will all be there, anyway. The prices of $2.10 to $26.25, have been scalped to fit the pocketbooks of the faithful in all ranks.

"Specs" Meadows Signed By Dallas

Dallas, Texas, June 11.—Bob Tarleton, business manager of the Dallas club of the Texas League, has announced the signing of Lee "Specs" Meadows, thirty-six-year-old right-handed pitcher, former star in the National League, to report Sunday.

He recently was released by the Atlanta club of the Southern Association. He pitched in one world's series game for the Pirates in 1925 and another for them in 1927.

FAVORITES ADVANCE IN NET TOURNEY

Edith Severs, Defending Women's Champ, Loses to Kay Harris in Only Upset

After a day's lay-off on account of rain play in the annual Kingston Street Tennis Club championships continued yesterday and thirteen matches were decided. For the most part form prevailed, although the unexpected happened when Kay Harris sent Edith Severs down to defeat in three long and bitter sets. The other favorites came through and were not extended to any extent before winning.

Gerald Cunningham, second in the seeding, defeated Don Harrison in the singles, although Harrison made a game fight and carried the first set to deuce before losing. The scores were 6-4, 6-2.

Steve Jones, third player in the club, defeated Arthur Burgess after he was within a point of losing the first set. However, he pulled out of danger at 8-6 and won the second set at 6-2. In the other singles, Hocking had little difficulty in winning.

Kay Harris's defeat of Edith Severs was the reward of an aggressive game against one that portrayed steadiness. The driving game, with all shots working right, won, but only after a long battle that lasted for nearly two hours. Miss Severs, former champion, took the first set only to have Miss Harris come back strong to win the middle set at 7-5, and then coasted to a five to two lead in the final set. Miss Severs rallied to carry the score to 4-5 before Miss Harris finally got the tenth game to win the set and the match.

REACH SEMI FINALS

Both Gertrude Hickey and Maxine Ewart, two other favorites, advanced into the semi-final bracket by defeating Kay Knapton and Marjorie Hughes respectively.

Steve Jones has reached the semi-finals in the upper half and is waiting for the winner of the Barnes-Hocking match, scheduled for to-day. In the other half, Tommy Forbes meets Bob Schwengers to see who will oppose Gerald Cunningham in the semis of the lower half of the draw.

Schwengers and Jones in the top half of the men's doubles seem headed for the championship, unless unforeseen events take place shortly. Barnes and Forbes in the bottom half were accorded a good chance of reaching the finals, but fell in an upset on Sunday. Hocking and Burgess are in the bottom half and are given a good chance of reaching the finals.

Hocking beat Perrin, 6-0, 7-5.

Jones beat Burgess, 8-6, 6-2.

Renwick beat Watson, 6-1, 6-0.

Cunningham beat Harrison, 6-4, 6-2.

Peden and Truman beat Thompson and Wright, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Hickey and Huxtable beat Mr. and Mrs. Baird, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss K. Harris beat Miss Severs, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Miss Hickey beat Miss Knapton, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Severs and Prentice beat Miss Copas and Truman, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss K. Harris and Schwengers beat Miss Ferriman and Geddes, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss M. Ewart beat Miss M. Hughes, 6-1, 6-3.

The visitors won the match by an innings and 134 runs, after having declared in their first innings for their highest total of any match during their present tour of England, 504 for eight wickets.

Three teams, Kent, Gloucestershire and Leicestershire, won complete games, while five teams secured first innings victories, they were Yorkshire, Sussex, Essex, Derbyshire and Surrey.

Record Field Will Tee Off Monday In British Open Golf

Field of 296 Will Start In Qualifying Rounds Monday At Hoylake and Wallasey Courses; Championship Proper Opens at Hoylake Wednesday; Bobby Jones Will Seek New Record By Adding Open Title To His Amateur Crown; Four Other Prominent United States Players Have Withdrawn.

New York, June 11.—When aspirants for the British open golf championship gather Monday at Hoylake and Wallasey for the first qualifying round, a rearrangement of pairings will be necessary. At least four of the listed Americans will not be there.

Although Harrison R. Johnston, amateur champion of the United States, and George Voigt, semi-finalist in the recent British amateur championships, are named in the pairings, they now are at sea on their way home.

Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour, two former open champions of the United States, have places reserved in Monday's play but Sarazen is in New York and Armour at Detroit. Three members of the Walker cup team will play, Bobby Jones, George von Elm and Don Moe. Of the others, Francis Ouimet is returning with Johnston and Voigt, the trio sailing Saturday, while Roland MacKenzie and Dr. O P. Willing returned last week.

Jim Barnes, who has held the title, MacDonald Smith and Leo Diegel, who just missed it, and Horton Smith, who has tried the stunt but once but was sufficiently impressed to have another go at it, are the four professionals who will carry the responsibility of defending the honors won by pros in other years in the classic British event.

A. RECORD ENTRY

Qualifying rounds of eighteen holes each will be played Monday and Tuesday, the entire field of 296, a record entry, playing the Hoylake and Wallasey courses.

The championship proper begins at Hoylake Wednesday with an 18-hole round and another Thursday, after which all competitors fifteen strokes or more behind the leader will retire, the remainedr completing the championship test with thirty-six holes Friday.

Last year there were only 242 entries. Walter Hagen, the champion, is not defending his title, but Jones, who won in 1926 and 1927 will seek to make a clean sweep of available British golf crowns by adding the open to the amateur title he won last month. As he holds the United States open beyond dispute until July 12, when the 1930 competition will be completed, if no play-off is necessary, Jones has a chance to make a new record for himself. He has held two titles at the same time before but never three.

Not since 1890 when John Ball was the British amateur and open champion has one man held both titles.

Jokers to Meet Eagles To-night In Senior Ball

In to-night's Senior Amateur League ball game the Jokers and Eagles will do battle. The fixture will commence at 6.15 o'clock, with Ridstone and Holden as opposing pitchers.

U. of W. Player Will Report To Cleveland Club

Cleveland, June 11.—Henry White, University of Washington shortstop with a .450 batting average in the Pacific Coast conference, is expected to report to the Cleveland Americans next week.

He notified Indian officials he intended to forego his final year in college competition.

Edgren Figures Jack Will Put Up Good Battle

Is of Opinion That Sharkey Will Rise To Occasion In World Heavyweight Title Bout Against Schmeling To-morrow Night, But Much Will Depend Upon His State of Mind When Opening Bell Clangs; More Powerfully Built, Bigger, Faster and Harder Hitter, And More Experienced Than German.

By ROBERT EDGREN

Jack Sharkey is three years, lacking only a few days, older than Max Schmeling. But the difference in age is no disadvantage. At twenty-seven, for Sharkey was born October 6, 1902, the Gob should be at the peak of his physical fighting form. Heavyweights usually are at their best at that age. Sharkey has lived a normal life, and he hasn't taken much of a beating in any of his fights, with the possible exception of the fight in which Jack Dempsey wore him down with body punches and knocked him out. The effect of that fight, particularly on Sharkey's confidence, lasted a couple of years. He has had plenty of time to get over it.

Sharkey took the name of "Sharkey," probably selecting it because Tom Sharkey, the original, was also a navy man. His real name is John Coccoskey. He was American, born in Binghamton, N.Y. His parents were Lithuanian. Sharkey began fighting when he was a gob in the United States navy, and took up fighting professionally when he left the service. Six feet one, weighing 195 pounds, he was fairly good, and he knocked out a few fighters, when he started, seven years ago, and lost some decisions. Romero Rojas knocked him out, which is rather astonishing, comparing the records of the two men. This was in 1924. In the same starting year Sharkey lost decisions to Eddie Record and Jim Maloney, and the next year lost to Charlie Weinert and Bud Gorman.

LEAPS TO FRONT

After that he fairly leaped to the top rank of the heavyweights, so those early slips can be charged to lack of experience. His only more recent defeats were by Jack Dempsey and Johnny Risko. Dempsey stood up under a terrific walloping in the early rounds, outfought Sharkey and wore him down and knocked him out. It is no secret that if Sharkey had been able to match Dempsey's grim courage he certainly would have won that fight. It was when he wavered under the hard going that Dempsey got him. And it was temporary lack of confidence months later that made him fight clumsily and uncertainly against Risko and lose the decision. I don't think there would be a chance that Risko and lose the decision. I don't Sharkey as he is now.

Jack Sharkey nearly broke Tex Rickard's heart. Tex thought very well of Sharkey as a championship prospect, and did everything he could to match and ballyhoo the gob into the title. Tex looked at these things from a business point of view. He knew Sharkey was picturesque and individual and would stand out from the mob of heavyweights, if he was champion, and be a great drawing card. If Sharkey had come along the way Tex wanted him to, Tex would have been satisfied to let Dempsey stay in retirement, if for no other reason than that he could drag Dempsey out later and match him with Sharkey for the greatest drawing card in ring history.

PLAYING SAFE
SHARKEY'S DRAWBACK

But Tex couldn't fight for Sharkey too, and he couldn't show the gob that above all things it was important to fight hard every time. Sharkey got the idea into his head, probably through Rickard's enthusiastic ballyhoo of his fighting ability, that he didn't need to work very hard to satisfy the crowd and get the money. He thought highly of himself as a clever and spectacular figure in the ring, and tried to show the other fellows up by beating them without half trying—which resulted in his losing or drawing in fights he should have won easily. That overestimation of his ability and the inclination to loaf and play safe, has been Sharkey's greatest drawback. He has real ability—plenty of it—and he lacks the ambition, or the heart, to use it to the limit. His last two fights, with Stribling and Phil Scott at Miami the last two winters, were extremely poor exhibitions of fighting for a man to be matched later in a commission-authorized heavyweight title bout. Put Dempsey's rather grim and glowering and invincible spirit into Sharkey, or give him some of Tunney's stubborn confidence and determination, and he'd be a very tough man to beat. And perhaps with the big chance of his life in this Schmeling fight, he won't try to loaf through and take a chance on the decision. Fighting with everything he has, Sharkey should have a first-class chance to win. He is bigger than Schmeling, more powerfully built, faster and a harder hitter, as well as a much more experienced boxer.

And there is no really good reason why Sharkey shouldn't fight boldly, like a champion. He has done it in other fights. When he was just coming along and breaking into the sporting news he beat George Godfrey, the gigantic black fighter. It was a close ten-round decision, and perhaps Godfrey loafed. But Sharkey was a bold, cocky sort of a fighter in those days, a little less than four years ago. He showed his boldness and cockiness when he was matched with Harry Wills, the big New York black fighter, who had been fed broken-down old ring relics and ballyhooed as neglected challenger for the heavyweight crown until half the world believed he was the real champion.

BRILLIANT AGAINST WILLS

Sharkey kicked the scaffolding out from under the Wills bugaboo in sensational fashion. Swaggering into the ring, Sharkey was asked to say a few words into the "mike." He did. With Wills standing at his elbow he shouted: "In a few minutes I'm going to give this nigger a d—— good licking." Picturesque language—characteristic of

FORTY-THREE ENTERED FOR BIKE RACES

More Expected to Compete in Race Than Last Year; Entries Close To-night

Forty-three riders, including Glen Robbins, last year's winner; Jim Davies of Vancouver, winner several years ago, and other crack bike men from Victoria and Vancouver, will line up for the annual Colonist bike races on Friday evening. The complete entry list to date follows:

Class "A"—Dave Macredy, Jack Stevenson, Richard Jackson, H. Davies (Vancouver), L. MacGavin, Beverley C. Peden, Lewis Rush, Stan Jackson, H. Hetherington, Glen Robbins, W. S. Robbins, Jim P. Taylor, Godfrey D. Parrott, Jim Davies (Vancouver), George Farmer.

Class "B"—Donald Maycock, Harry Tyson, Don Stewart, Terry Ward, Richard J. Duncan, Morris Robinson, Pete Tyson.

Class "C"—Arthur Humphries, Claude Peden, Stanley Ralph, Murray Patrick, Maurice S. Speller, Andy Bell, William I. Fletcher.

Class "D"—Eddie Brown, Lloyd Ward, Teddie Bailey, Stanley Hulford, John H. Russell, James Haslam.

EXPECT MORE ENTRIES

Further entries are expected to be in this evening and swell the list of starters to a greater number than last year.

Forms for those who wish to compete but who have not yet entered may be secured from C. W. Robinson at his bicycle shop or from Alex T. Stewart at The Colonist business office.

To entertain the spectators while the riders are away, the Victoria Fire Department Band will play at the starting point.

Although it is impossible to pick the winner for the race, Glen Robbins is considered a favorite by many followers of the bike game. Last year, racing as a "B" class rider, the young blonde flash completed the course in less time than the "A" division men and annexed The Colonist Cup.

During the stay of "Torchy" Peden in Victoria this winter, he worked out several times with Robbins and expressed the opinion that he had the makings of the best amateur in Canada. In recent time trials Robbins has succeeded in taking first places and appears to be the strongest local bet for the title.

The races will start promptly at 7.30 o'clock from the corner of Quadra Street and King's Road.

Nearly Two Hundred Will Seek Club Tennis Titles

Record Entry Will Open Play Saturday At Victoria Courts

Marsh Gordon Will Defend Men's Single's Championship; New Women's Champion Will Be Seen; Many New Players Will Make Appearance and Competition Is Expected to Be Keen; Club Will Inaugurate Open Club Championship For Men's Doubles; Entries Close Friday.

Entries for the Victoria Tennis Club annual championships starting Saturday, will close on Friday night when it is expected a record entry for the events will be recorded. With the club boasting the greatest display of strength since pre-war days the various contests will be hotly contended.

The women's events will perhaps not be contested as well as last year when the Macfarlane sisters took part in the championship forcing some of Victoria's best players the limit.

Although the two sisters will be missing from the competition, there will be a larger number of women in the singles as the club has been augmented with the return of several players who have been away, while a number of the younger players have improved.

The events to be contested are: Women's club championship, men's club championship, mixed handicap doubles, women's handicap singles, men's handicap singles, men's handicap doubles and there is a strong possibility that the club will inaugurate an open doubles championship for the men. The entry will exceed 175.

DEFENDING CHAMPION

Marsh Gordon will be the defending champion in the men's singles, and will have the hardest competition that he has ever experienced since the days of John Proctor and Keith Verley. Gerald Cunningham, who defeated Gordon in their last two matches on clay, is expected to provide stiff opposition, while his running mate, Ross Hocking, city and Island champion, will strive to win the title for the first time. Gordon defeated Hocking last year in five sets in the final. Lieut.-Com. Edwards, who is more a hard court player than on grass, will be the dark horse of the tournament.

Don Campbell, one of the steadiest players on the Island, may cause a lot of grief to the favorites. He has already beaten most of the players in the club. Steve Jones and Bob Schwengers will also be entered and either is likely to cause some excitement, although Jones is better on hard court with his high bouncing loops. Along with the above are Hugo Rayment, club captain; Bert Plett, Peter and Paul Phillips, Dudley Wickett, Reg Corfield, who was one of the semi-finalists last year and who forced Gordon into a terrific three-set duel on Sunday in the Island league.

WOMEN ENTRIES

Hope Leeming and Mary Campbell ranked one and three in British Columbia are the outstanding players entered for the women's title, won last year by Marjorie Macfarlane, who defeated Hope Leeming in the finals after a close battle. Marjorie Leeming will not be able to compete, as she cannot get down from Duncan. Mrs. John Edwards seems to be the next one in line to the above stars, closely followed by Mona Miller, who is playing well this year. Doreen Swayne, forced out for a season's play by an operation early last year, will be among the contestants, but she has not yet hit her usual form. Helen Campbell, junior provincial champion, is also entered, and appears due for a good year. Velda Rithet may reach Victoria from California in time to play, and can be counted on a strong performer. Peggy Jackson, who spent last year in Portland, has returned and is playing well. Other younger players entered are Joan List, Jean Campbell, Ann Hartley and Audrey Tremaine.

Over thirty men have already signed up for the open singles and there will be about forty by the time the entries are definitely closed. About the same number will compete in the handicap, which was won last year by Marsh Gordon. He will probably be assessed the heaviest handicap of the field, as he has won the trophy on several occasions.

WOULD BE POPULAR EVENT

If the club decides to have an open club championship for doubles there will be plenty of opposition. As the tournament is due to run for two weeks the event would be well received. Eric MacCallum has returned from a long trip and will probably team up with Marsh Gordon again. They would be the outstanding team, although Hocking and Cunningham have won the two biggest tournaments in doubles for the last two years and will give their rivals a battle for the honors. John Edwards and Don Campbell would make another strong team, although the former has been playing in the league with Gordon and Campbell with Rayment. Steve Jones and Bob Schwengers are Kingston Street's second string doubles, and will be a strong team. Archie Fairbairn, although not able to compete in the singles, might be able to play in the doubles, and would go well with Isaacs or one of the other first-team men. Peter and Paul Phillips would be another strong combination.

Men's open club championship—D. M. Gordon.

Women's open club championship—Marjorie MacFarlane.

Mixed handicap doubles—Mr. and Mrs. Merston.

EDGREN FIGURES JACK WILL PUT UP GOOD FIGHT

Sharkey. He elbowed Wills out of the way and swaggered back to his corner, and Wills grinned. But perhaps the "Black Panther" was shaken. He was used to seeing his victims cringe and go down quickly to avoid too much beating—Firpo and Bartley Madden excepted. He, a was a different kind of a man to meet him. Bombastic, perhaps, but maybe a real fighter like the old-timers. Like Tom Sharkey, for instance, who would have shouted the same thing if there had been microphones in Tom's day. In any case, Wills offered a faint-hearted and feeble resistance when the gob swarmed all over him from the first round, battering him around the ring from first round to the thirteenth. And Wills "fouled out" when it was evident he was about to be knocked out. Probably Sharkey broke whatever fighting heart Wills had, or punched him permanently groggy, for Harry was an easy knock-out victim for Paolino in his next fight.

RECKLESS SOMETIMES

It may be remembered, too, that Sharkey was a bit reckless in two or three other fights, which he won with sudden knockouts, in real championship style. He knocked out Jack Delaney, a top notch light-heavyweight champion, fast, clever and a deadly puncher, with the first flock of punches he cut loose in the first round. He knocked out flashy Tommy Loughran almost as easily.

When he isn't reckless Sharkey is a sad fighter. It was his half-hearted exhibition against slow Tom Heeney—twelve rounds to a draw—and his half-hearted fight against Risko—which he lost—that gave Gene Tunney the chance to refuse to consider him as an opponent. Rickard named Sharkey, and Tunney insisted upon Heeney and had his way, with disastrous results in the gate receipts, because where everybody knew Sharkey might make a fight of it everybody knew poor Heeney couldn't. Sharkey made another half-hearted fight against that clumsy mill hand; K. O. Christner, who had nothing in the world that Sharkey needed to be afraid of. Sharkey decisioned Christner while letting Christner carry the fight to him—which, considering Sharkey's physical and boxing superiority, was as bad as taking a licking.

It is expected that Sharkey will "rise to the occasion" in this coming fight. The result will depend to some extent upon the temperamental Sharkey's state of mind at the moment the first bell clangs.

When Men Were Men

By JIMMY THOMPSON

A lot of old-time heavyweight fighters are lamenting the fact that they did not have the chances in their day that there is at present.

Jake Kilrain, now a night watchman, wishes he hadn't been born so soon. He might as a young man, have been as famous as a heavyweight contender to-day.

In 1889 on July 8, Kilrain was ko'd by John L. Sullivan in the last bare knuckled world's championship bout. This bout lasted seventy-five rounds before Kilrain kissed the canvas.

True if Jack Sharkey wins on Thursday night he will have come closer to earning it by competing a record than in the case of Max Schmeling.

But if Schmeling is champion, then you can compare a record to which you will find nothing similar in boxing history. We have few, if any, real heavyweight finds at present. Yet out of a similar situation Jess Willard rose to fame.

Yet men like Pitzsimmons had to fight such men as Moher, Choynski, Creedon and Tom Sharkey. Corbett fought Jack Burke, Frank Clover, Choynski, Kilrain, Jackson and Jim Hall. Willard—Dairy, Rodel, Davis, Morris, Reed, Bull Young, At Williams, McCarthy, Polley and White. Dempsey had to scrap with Morris, Flynn, Homer Smith, Levinsky, Moran, Fulton, Polkey, Brennan and a host of others. But no matter who wins this bout Thursday, it's a champion of the crop of fighters we have.

OVER the WALL

Al Simmons hit his best stride yesterday and showed the way to the three members of baseball's Big Six, who escaped rainy weather long enough to play ball. Simmons hit a homer, a double and two singles in five times at bat and his average shot up twelve points to .389. Babe Herman benefited from the rain that kept him idle, for his average of .418 put him in the first place again as Riggs Stephenson went hitless in four times at bat and fell sixteen points to .404.

Babe Ruth, the third active member, dropped deeper into the cellar, getting one hit in five tries and losing three points.

SAN DIEGO CREWS MAY COME HERE

Request Received Here to Be Considered By Association; Great Regatta Expected

San Diego's crack oarsmen, who in 1927 virtually made a clean sweep of senior honors in the N.P.A.A.O. regetta at Harrison Lake, will make a determined effort to come to Brentwood for the Pacific northwest regatta this year. Information to this effect was received by A. H. Cox, secretary of the N.P.A.A.O., in a communication from B. Austin, secretary of the California club, yesterday evening.

In the letter, the San Diego club requested permission to compete in the senior singles, doubles and fours. They won these events in 1927 as well as gaining a tie for first in the lackweight fours with Vancouver.

The request has been forwarded to H. P. Hops, of Brentwood, for consideration by the association. It is generally felt that the Californians will be admitted.

Speaking about the prospects of the club, Secretary Cox commented that "They must be good if they intend to make the trip." With the hopes that Winnipeg will compete in the event this year, he said the N.P.A.A.O. regatta promised to be better than it has been for many years.

Should these outsiders enter the regetta, six clubs will be in the competition. Brentwood and Victoria will represent the Island, while Vancouver will compete from the mainland. Portland will, as usual, send up a strong squad.

At the local club, preparations are going steadily forward, and by the time the regatta opened on July 4, the J.B.A.A. hope to have several good crews to challenge in the different races.

GOLFERS PLAY FOR TODD CUP

Oak Bay golfers will compete Sunday in the first half of the annual handicap competition for the cup presented by C. F. Todd. Play will consist of eighteen holes medal play under handicap. The second half of the competition is scheduled for June 22.

Last year the trophy was won by Harold Wilson with a medal score of 132 for thirty-six holes. R. H. Swinerton was second with 134 and Art Beasley third with 138.

The winner will hold the cup for one year, or until it is next played for and will also receive a replica which he will retain. Competitors will choose their opponents and arrange their own starting times.

The entrance fee will be fifty cents and post entries will be received.

St. Louis Finally Comes to Life and Halts Bad Streak

After Dropping Ten of Twelve Games Which Dropped Them From National League Lead, Cardinals Eke Out Ten-inning Victory Over Boston; Philadelphia Hands Chicago Surprise Setback; Athletics Drop Eleven-inning Battle.

A little thing like a rapidly descending elevator, which causes unpleasant sensations in many quarters shouldn't bother the St. Louis Cardinals a bit from now on. The Cards went up to the top of the National League with about the greatest possible speed winning seventeen out of eighteen games, and have been coming down from the heights with about as great rapidity.

The Cardinals came to a temporary stop in their losing yesterday after dropping five straight games, but it took them ten long innings to gain a 2-1 decision over the Boston Braves, and even that triumph left them with a record of only two victories in their last twelve games.

Chicago Cubs, who appeared to be heading for the job of successors to the Cards as league leaders, suffered another setback yesterday after losing two out of three to Brooklyn. Philadelphia picked away at Pat Malone for a 6-2 victory. The defeat left Chicago three and a half games behind the league leaders.

All the other National League games and the Washington-Cleveland contest in the American League, were rained out.

Another champion club, the Philadelphia Athletics, dropped an 11-inning struggle to the Chicago White Sox by a 7-6 count.

The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers put on another exhibition of poor fielding and heavy hitting. The Red Sox reaped the benefit of four errors, all of which figured in the scoring for a 12-6 victory.

The New York Yankees got a fast start against the St. Louis Browns and scored all their runs in the first two innings to win 5-3.

Sacramento, Cal., June 11.—In a game which inaugurated night baseball on the Pacific Coast, Sacramento's Solons contipued their drive for the league pennant by winning from Oakland, 8-0, here yesterday evening. A crowd estimated at 12,000 saw the game, every play of which was as visible as though played under the brilliance of a California sun. The huge flood lights were turned on at 7.30 p.m., before the last rays of sun had died away, so there was no break between daylight and the artificial illumination.

Soon after the game got under way a huge June moon peeped over the trees to add its light to the scene.

Howard Craghead, Oak hurler, and Ed. Bryan, Solon moundsman, staged a scoreless duel for three innings, but in the fourth the home town batters found the ball and ran in five tallies. Craghead was finally forced to give way to Pearson.

Demonstrating that artificial light did not affect the game, the Senators made no errors and the Oaks but two.

A High Average

An Englishman, travelling in Canada for the first time, asked the porter "what is the average tip in this country?"

"De average tip in this country, Sur, am one dollar!"

In the morning the Englishman gave him a dollar.

"Thank you, Sur," said the darky, "you am the first gentleman which has ever come up to de average".

It's a great thing to keep up the average. The average of the Marguerite has always been high—and always maintained. I know — for I've smoked Marguerites for years.

SHRINERS IN LIVELY SCENES IN TORONTO

Visitors From U.S. and Canadian Points Hold Impromptu Parades

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 11.—Officially rain cancelled many Shrine activities here yesterday, but unofficially, the fun was fast and furious. Intermittent rainstorms swept spectators and participants from the grandstands at Temple City, Fez City and Oriental Gardens, where much activity had been scheduled, but the visiting nobles took downtown Toronto by storm.

Early in the day the imperial council met and the sessions continued all day. The Shrine leaders discussed proposals to hold the council meetings triennially instead of annually or that a permanent place should be chosen for the annual meeting.

The majority of the speakers opposed any change from the present system of visiting a different city every year.

All the "official" parades were called off owing to the rainstorms, but spontaneous and unofficial parades came from all directions. The business section of the city practically suspended operations as the gaudily dressed bandsmen and drill teams filed along. Through the largest stores in the city, amid the applause of sales girls and customers, the parades marched.

TRAFFIC STOPPED

Last night the business section was again thronged. Every few minutes there was another parade. Whole temples took part in some of them; in others there were from two to six Shriners. At King and Bay Streets, one of the city's busiest intersections, several drummers and flutists stood in the centre of the street. They unveiled two "Oriental dancers," who performed terpischorean stunts amid the plaudits of a huge crowd of people. Hundreds of automobiles and street cars were lined up. No one worried about them and those aboard them apparently weren't worrying either.

On a dare, too, a carload of nobles drove an automobile through the aisles of a large store here. They had slight difficulty in getting their fiery steed through the doors. The doorman tried to stop them, but decided discretion was the better part of valor.

MANP PEOPLE INSPECT NEW LINER HERE

Hundreds of Victorians Delighted With Accommodation of Ms. Hikawa Maru

Tourist Accommodation Sets New Standard For Travel on Pacific Ocean

True Japanese hospitality was extended to hundreds of Victorians who to-day paid an inspection visit to the new Nippon Yusen Kaisha motorliner Hikawa Maru as she lay at her berth at the Rithet Piers. Smiling and courteous Japanese officers, stewards and stewardesses greeted the visitors and showed them over the latest addition to the Japanese merchant marine on the north Pacific Ocean.

The ship was gay with flags and flowers, while from the main masts of the liner floated the flags of many nations, the Japanese flag and the Canadian ensign having the places of honor. The various dining saloons aboard were decorated with tiny flags of many colors and nationalities and the tables were gay with quaint Japanese plants and miniature Oriental gardens complete with rockeries and tumbling waterfalls. In the main hallway of the first cabin accommodation an elaborate model of the famous Hikawa shrine, near Tokio, after which the new vessel was named, occupied a place of honor. It was made of pastry and sugar by the ship's head chef. Magnificent paper plants of pink Japanese plum blossom and the famous cherry blossom stood ceiling high in the tourist and first cabin diningrooms.

NO CROWDING

From the time the visitors boarded the ship they followed arrows and ropes and in this way saw the entire ship from stem to stern without losing themselves or seeing the same part twice. The ropes took the visitors through the steerage quarters, into the tourist cabins, into the engine-room, to the bridge, through the first cabin accommodations and along the numerous decks. Exit was made from the lower aft deck. In this way the crowd was handled without confusion.

Much has been said about the new ship. The tourist cabin accommodation is worthy of still further mention. There is room for sixty-nine passengers in this class, in staterooms for two, three and four persons. All the rooms are large and bright and some of the outside rooms boast two portholes. The dining saloon rivals the one in the first class with its handsome electric light fixtures and sparkling tableware of linen, glass and silver. The lounge and smoking room in the tourist, while small, are comfortable and even luxuriously furnished. The smoking room is done in an old Spanish colonial style and has a fireplace and deep leather divans and chairs. The deck-space is large and spacious, giving plenty of room for promenading, sports and dancing.

This evening there will be a formal dinner aboard the new steamer, after which she will sail on her first westward crossing of the Pacific from Victoria next Tuesday afternoon. A good list of passengers is already booked for this trip.

Destroyer From Esquimalt Naval Station Formally Greeted on Mainland

Vancouver, June 11.—On her regular early summer visit to this port, H.M.C.S. Vancouver, Lieutenant-Commander Hibbard, arrived on Monday evening, and is berthed at Pier A, where she will remain until Thursday, when she will return to Esquimalt.

This morning Mayor W. H. Malkin officially visited the ship to pay the respects of the city and to welcome officers and crew. A series of entertainments has been arranged for the sailors during the three days they are here.

H.M.C.S. Vancouver will be back again later this summer, when H.M.S. Dauntless arrives to pay her official visit. The Dauntless left Esquimalt on Monday morning to visit northern ports and will be back at Esquimalt about July 11, after which she will go to Vancouver for several days' stay.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, June 11.—The motor liner Amerika, newest addition to the East Asiatic Company's fleet, arrived here yesterday several hours behind schedule, as a result of fog encountered on the way up from San Pedro. The vessel brought twenty passengers from Europe. She was open for inspection to-day and is due to sail for north Pacific ports to-morrow.

In tow of the steamer Brooklyn, the disabled lumber carrier Elizabeth arrived here yesterday from Crescent City. The Elizabeth dropped her wheel, while en route to this port, and was picked up by the Brooklyn.

The steamer Pacific Spruce, which cracked a cylinder at San Pedro and was towed to San Francisco by the tug Sea Scout, will go on the Potrero plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company this week to have the damage repaired. Drydock officials estimated the work will take about ten days.

C.N. Officials Will Join New Ship In South

B. C. Keeley, Pacific Coast manager for the Canadain National Steamships with headquarters in Vancouver, accompanied by Commander A. S. M. Nicholls, marine superintendent, have left Vancouver for San Pedro. Late this week they will join the new coastal passenger steamer Prince Henry on her way out from England.

The Prince Henry is now on her way to San Pedro from the Panama Canal in command of Capt. A. J. Gilbert. At the California port Capt. Gilbert will turn the new ship over to Capt. D. Donald, who will bring her north to Victoria and Vancouver. The new ship will arrive at William Head June 19 or 20, and will go immediately to Vancouver, returning here for public inspection on June 27. She will make her first trip in the Vancouver-Alaska service from Vancouver on July 3.

BUILDERS' HANDS MAKE MANY CHANGES IN VETERAN STEAMER

Twenty-seven years of service, during which time she traveled more than 2,000,000 miles in British Columbia waters, have not taken the heart out of the stout veteran steamer, Princess Victoria, which was recently converted from an old-fashioned ship into an ultra-modern automobile and passenger ferry at the Esquimalt plant of Yarrow's Limited. The above picture shows two interesting views of the Princess Victoria. Right, the steamer as she now appears with fifteen feet added to her beam, and lower left the ship as she arrived here more than a quarter of a century ago. Upper left shows the Vancouver pier where the B.C. Coast Service ships dock.

On her last inbound trip to Victoria and Seattle, the N.Y.K. liner Yokohama Maru will arrive at the William Head quarantine station on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the captain of the ship this morning advised the local agent by wireless. This time will bring the vessel alongside the Rithet piers about 5 o'clock. She will proceed a few hours later to Seattle.

There are fourteen first class and twenty-six third class passengers aboard the ship this voyage, several of whom will leave the liner here and proceed to Vancouver aboard the regular midnight steamer. There are about 100 tons of cargo for Victoria, while Seattle will get nearly 3,000 tons of general, including 1,409 packages of raw and manufactured silk.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, June 11.—Four ships in as many different trades handled by the General Steamship Corporation will be on Puget Sound during the last half of this month, representatives of the company said yesterday.

Among the arrivals will be the French liner Oregon, coming on her second trip June 26. The motorship Villanger, from the east coast of South America, will be here June 16. She is bringing coffee and will load a cargo out of Everett and Olympia, composed mostly of lumber.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

VOTERS' LISTS IN VANCOUVER TOTAL 138,738

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 11.—Approximately 140,0000 names will appear on the voters' list in the Vancouver urban districts, according to figures prepared by the returning officers of Burrard, Vancouver Centre, Vancouver South and Vancouver North. For the 1926 election the voters' list for these districts was 90,361.

| | 1930 | 1926 |
|---|---|---|
| Burrard | 50,000 | 30,560 |
| Vancouver Centre | 33,000 | 29,000 |
| Vancouver South | 46,738 | 24,188 |
| Vancouver North | 9,000 | 6,613 |
| Totals | 138,738 | 90,361 |

Increase of population and the improved methods of obtaining names for the lists are the reasons assigned by the returning officers for the larger lists.

NANAIMO YOUTH IS GIVEN AWARD AGAINST C.P.R.

Ottawa, June 11.—Thomas W. Dobie of Nanaimo, B.C., to-day was awarded damages of $10,000 against the Canadian Pacific Railway when the Supreme Court of Canada upheld his appeal in a case involving the loss of both his legs. When a boy nine years of age, Dobie fell from the vestibule of a passenger train at Piapot, Sask., and had both his legs severed by the wheels of the coach. He took action against the railroad, claiming there had been negligence in not properly safeguarding the exit.

The case finally found its way before the Supreme Court of Canada after the Supreme Court of British Columbia had dismissed his appeal, although not unanimously.

His appeal was allowed with costs.

Report Made on Cassiar Find

Brief reports from Gold Commissioner H. W. Dodd at Telegraph Creek on the recent discovery in the Cassiar district by George Drapich, veteran Yukon prospector, have been received by the Provincial Mines Department.

The mineral strike, Mr. Dodd reports, is situated on the river bank of the Stikine, across from Dokican Creek, Grand Rapids. The ore is supposed to assay $3.40 in gold and $40 in copper. Claims have been located by Barrington Co. Ltd., but no work has yet been done on the locations.

EXPLAINS WHY NICKEL NEEDS MORE MONEY

Financial District Not Pleased By New Stock Issue; Company Thought to Be Strong

Must Spend $10,000,000 in Next Two Years, President Tells Stockholders

Montreal, June 11.—Regarding the announcement of the new stock issue in International Nickel, the Financial News Bureau to-day issued the following:

The offering of rights to shareholders of International Nickel is not taken favorably by the street. It was not expected that the company would have to resort to additional financing, particularly when it is recalled that on December 31, 1929, the company had $32,231,383 in working capital, and it was stated that to complete the programme of expansion, only $12,000,000 would be expended. This seemed to leave a pretty fair margin of safety before working capital would be impaired."

SPENDING $52,000,000

Montreal, June 11.—Explaining the reason for issuing new stock of International Nickel, President Robert C. Stanley, in a statement issued to-day to shareholders says:

"Your board of directors desires to advise you that the programme of development, construction and equipment at the company's mines, smelters and refineries in Canada, Great Britain, and the United States during the past three and a half years, together with additions required by reason of increased business, has called for a capital expenditure of upwards of $52,000,000. This programme is now approximately eighty-one per cent. complete at an expenditure of $42,000,000, and calls for further expenditure of $10,000,000 the next two years. Approximately $22,000,000 of the $52,000,000 required was supplied by issues of stock by the International Nickel Company (New Jersey) and by the Mond Nickel Company Limited, shortly prior to the time when the stock of the International Nickel Company of Canada Limited was issued in exchange for the stock of these two companies. When this programme is completed, the company will have modern and efficient plants for all of its operations and sufficient excess capacity to meet the prospective increase in demand for nickel products resulting from its sales and development policy.

TO KEEP STRONG CASH POSITION

"It has been the company's traditional policy to maintain at all times a strong cash position. In order that this position may be continued in the face of a heavy construction and development programme, and without withholding earnings from distribution to present stockholders. It is proposed that the company's working capital be now further reimbursed through the issue of additional capital stock. Accordingly, if and when his increase of authorized capital now proposed is rectified, it is the present intention of your directors to offer additional common stock for subscriptions on the basis of $20 per share and in the ratio of six shares of common stock for each 100 in the outstanding common stock, and will place approximately $16,000,000 in the treasury, which, together with the present cash reserve, will leave the company in its customary strong financial position after completion of construction.

"As soon as the increase has been sanctioned the directors will take definite action in respect to subscription terms and stockholders will then be advised of the details and furnished with appropriate warrants evidencing their right to subscribe.

"At this meeting [illegible] mitted to the stockholders for ratification by-laws [illegible] following the recent amendments to the Company's Act.

RADIO EXPERT SAYS CANADIAN VIEWS HONORED

"Canadian radio broadcast listeners exert an influence with the United States Radio Commission which greatly exceeds that controlled by far larger groups of listeners to the south of the international boundary. The attention paid by radio stations in the United States to the desires and opinions of Canadians is notably more keen than the response which the home fans receive," T. Freebairn Smith, chief announcer of Radio Station KJR, stated this morning. Mr. Smith is visiting Victoria to secure the moral support of listeners for the campaign which his station is waging to retain possession of its wave-length.

Many well-known citizens of Victoria have equipped Mr. Smith with certificates of appreciation of his station, and this afternoon he has appointments with Premier Tolmie, ministers of the government, Mayor Anscomb and other prominent residents. He is making his headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce and will return to Seattle to-morrow afternoon.

Indian Boy Lived On The Western Trails

Baby Toulssant was carried on the back of his mother, Sacajawea. She was the famous Indian woman who guided Lewis and Clark on their great exploring trip across the West.

Toulssant was born on the trail, and he lived on the trail. Though his mother carried him on her back at first, as soon as he was old enough she held him in front of her on her Indian pony.

She had a reason for doing this. When she guided parties of white men, she often had to lead them through the territory of Indians who were far from friendly with white people. Many of these tribes had killed other explorers and settlers.

But when the Indians saw that the party was led by an Indian squaw, and that, moreover, they had a black-eyed little papoose with them, they let the white men pass in safety.

When baby Toulssant, born 125 years ago to-day, grew up, he became a guide on the plains, just as his mother had been, and, of course, he was a very good one.

VICTORIA'S MESSAGE AT SHIP LAUNCHING CARRIED OVER GLOBE

mony, not only as an officer of the navy, but having at heart anything that concerns the welfare of the Dominion of Canada.

THE LAST WORD

"This vessel may be considered as the last word in shipbuilding and as regards her appointments she will have no rival. I will pass the figures in regard to the tonnage, but the fortunate passengers in this ship will have at their disposition an open air tennis court, electric baths, a dental surgery, a violet ray department, and even a beauty parlor. The ballroom will be designed after John Lavery, and Frank Sequin in the dining-room, and those who request a cocktail can let their imagination run right into the mysterious and fantastic humor of Mr. Heath Robinson.

"The tonnage built by the Canadian Pacific since the war constitutes a record throughout the world during that period when our British shipbuilding industry has been at its greatest need. Sixteen fine vessels have been built and launched for the Canadian Pacific Railway in Scottish and British yards, many of them on the Clyde. This building programme needless to say has given a great deal of employment in various trades in this shipbuilding industry as is shown by the fact that since the war they have expended the sum of approximately £20,000,000, and this at a time when our shipyards have needed every encouragement they can get. It is a great record, ladies and gentlemen, but a kind of record the Empire can expect from a great corporation.

MAGNIFICENT STORY

"The story of the Canadian Pacific is magnificent and it is so familiar to you that I shall not dwell on it, but we should give a thought to the early Empire builders who laid a line of steel from ocean to ocean; the driving of the last spike; confederation, and the Dominion became a living reality. Names such as Strathcona, Mountstephen, Shaughnessy, Van Horne and others are in our thoughts to-day. Since I first went to Canada after the war I have had occasion to be grateful to the Canadian Pacific and I am grateful to be able to return part of my indebtedness by performing this ceremony to-day. Ladies and gentlemen, in giving you this toast I couple with it the name of my friend, Mr. Beatty. Unless I am mistaken he has had the same success as his predecessor whom I have just mentioned. I ask you to drink with me to the prosperity of the Canadian Pacific Railway coupled with the name of it's president."

BEATTY READS MESSAGES

Replying to the Prince Mr. Beatty said:

"May I at this stage acknowledge with gratitude the receipt of a cablegram from the Prime Minister of Canada, the Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and with your permission I will read it: 'The launching of the new Empress of Britain marks the birth of the largest, fastest and finest boat ever built for a Canadian company, and I wish to extend sincere gratitude to yourself and those associated with you for this achievement. Since the earliest days the Canadian Pacific Railway has greatly assisted in the development of this country both in trade and commerce.'

FROM VICTORIA

"I have also to acknowledge a cablegram from the Mayor of Victoria: 'We send you heart greetings on the celebration of another milestone of Canadian history—the launching of the Empress of Britain. May every success meet your efforts.'

"I must confess, ladies and gentlemen, that in the last few trips to Great Britain I have been amazed at the warmth of my reception and the number of courtesies extended to me. I realized, however, that you realized I had money to spend, and you know how much appreciated is a good spender. The Canadian Pacific Railway have made contracts of a total value of nineteen to twenty million pounds, so you will readily appreciate therefore that my welcome was commercially reserved. It would be improper, even foolish of me, to suggest that this policy was continued by sentiment. I would like to tell you that the company's programme of steamship construction is in no way complete. A steamship company like a railway is always capable of extension, and it will not be long before that programme is continued in the same place and with the same satisfactory results to builders and owners.

CANADIANS APPRECIATE CANADA

"When Canadians come to Great Britain they may perhaps be excused if they devote a little of their time to their own country, because anyone who knows Canada will not blame them for showing appreciation. We have had Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, Mr. Churchill and then Mr. Thomas and all are optimistic of the future of the mother country and of our own. Then again, we have had Inter-Empire visits. Recently we had sixteen headmasters of public schools in England and Scotland, which all help in the task of Empire building, and then again this year the Empire games will be held at Hamilton, Ont. I don't need to tell you of the value of these athletic events, and they will be played out in the highest ideals.

"I do not speak in terms of Empire free trade, because so far as Canada is concerned the rise of Empire trade would probably smell sweeter if called by another and more appropriate name, but I speak in terms of greater Empire trade, of Empire reciprocity in trade, and of protection of the Empire against the inroads of products of foreign countries.

"The vast majority of Canadians will be strongly sympathetic to any steps to increase the economic strength and unity of the various portions of the Empire. So important do I regard this question that I believe it should be divorced from all semblance of party politics. Now that we are more immediately conscious of increasing our economic strength we might profitably give greater consideration to the free movement of immigrants from the older lands to the new. All embarrassing restrictions should be rescinded, for those who are able to come to Canada under their own steam.

"In conclusion, I say we desire the vessel which has just been launched to knit our bonds closer."

INTERVIEW AT OFFICE

In reply to Mr. Maitland, Dr. Latimer said Oliver returned in August and had become curious concerning him. On August 27 last, he testified, Oliver had said to him: "I want to see you in your private office," and had threatened him.

Oliver, according to Dr. Latimer, had said:

"If you don't leave this town in seven days you won't leave it alive."

SAYS RUMOR UNTRUE

Mr. Maitland asked Dr. Latimer if in his treatment of Mrs. Oliver he had given her drugs so that she would be in such a state that she would be under his influence.

Dr. Latimer—That was a rumor which ran around the town, but was not correct.

Mr. Maitland—Mrs. Oliver was in a very bad condition at that time, almost a neurotic?

Dr. Latimer—Yes, at times she was very bad.

This concluded the evidence of Dr. Latimer.

BOTH WELL-KNOWN

Both Oliver and Dr. Latimer are well-known citizens of Penticton.

Dr. Latimer's name was recently removed from the register of the British Columbia Medical Society after charges of unprofessional conduct had been made against him. The society, however, gave him permission to continue to practice pending the outcome of an appeal which is being made against the society's decision to the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

TWO SCORE LOSE LIVES IN SHIP DISASTER

SHOWERED WITH OIL

Chief Petty Officer E. G. Cullen of the Ss. Lexington, who was aboard the Lexington, verified Iveska's story of the death toll. He said he was just coming on deck when the accident happened, and saw the members of the crew and the seven passengers, four of them women, showered with the flaming oil.

All eighteen of the victims jumped into the water in an attmpet to put out flames in their clothes. The blazing oil from the tanker spread across the water.

RESCUE IMPOSSIBLE

Cullen said rescue work was impossible as the tanker itself was a burning pyre in the fog. The screams of the women and sailors in the water mingled with those of the crew of the tanker who had survived the collision. Bpt. Cullen said, it was impossible for those on the Fairfax to do other than seek their own safety.

It was 7.05 p.m., E.S.T., when the crash occurred, barely two hours after the Fairfax had left her pier and moved down the harbor. The steamship Gloucester of the same line followed her out three hours later and was the first to receive word of the accident. Racing through the fog, she drew alongside the Fairfax and the passengers of the wrecked ship were transferred to her. Shortly after daylight they landed at the pier in Boston.

Not until the arrival of the passengers did the full horror of the disaster become known.

RADIO ANTENNAE MELTED

The flames which swept up from the burning oil melted away the radio antennae on the Fairfax and halted her efforts to send out an SOS.

Repairs were started and the wireless finally began operating. The Gloucester heard the appeal for aid.

The Fairfax, they said, had been poking slowly through the fog, moving at barely half its normal speed of twelve knots. Almost without warning there was a crash as it ploughed into the tanker.

Blazing oil flowed out over the surface of the sea and surrounded the ship. It showered her sides and dropped on the deck, splashing upon the passengers and sailors, who were outside at the time.

The explosion, according to the passengers, tore the tanker to pieces and within a few minutes the last piece had sunk from sight, leaving a flaming sheet of oil on the surface of the sea.

LEAPED OVERBOARD

Apparently in panic and crazed by their burns, several persons leaped into the blazing sea. Among the seven passengers who were missing were four women. Eleven members of the crew disappeared.

There was no opportunity to render aid either to those who jumped overboard or to those aboard the wrecked tanker. The flames and the fog swept them from sight.

Passengers aboard the Fairfax were in confusion, but order was restored within a short time and, according to officers of the ship, all further danger had passed thirty minutes after the collision.

REPORTS CONFUSED

Confusing reports as to the identity of the tanker arose as soon as news of the disaster reached Boston. A wireless message picked up by the coastguard reported it as the Grecian and late reports gave it as the Pinthis, operating out of Fall River. Neither report could be immediately confirmed or disproved.

The Fairfax was stopped immediately and then anchored until the extent of the damage could be determined. It was found that a large hole had been ripped in her side by the impact with the tanker but that she was in no danger of sinking. She remained there until after daylight and then started slowly for her pier in Boston.

CROWD MEETS SURVIVORS

Soon after radio news broadcasts had spread the report of the disaster, relatives of passengers began to gather at the company's pier here. Details of the accident were meagre and it was not known who had been injured or lost. As the Gloucester slowly picked her way through the fog to the dock the relatives searched the faces of the survivors lining the rail of the rescue ship.

The arrival of the rescue ship with its cargo of injured and stunned witnesses to the tragedy was vastly different from the return of most ships carrying vacationists. Nurses, their hair disheveled and their faces showing the strain of their work, stood beside their patients. They had worked hard on board the Fairfax attending the injured. The injured were carried or led down the gangplank to waiting ambulances and were taken to the Carney Hospital. Then the uninjured came to join friends and relatives or to seek telephone and telegraph stations to wire news of their safety home.

LIST IS CHECKED

A checkup of the passenger list was started by the company officials as soon as the passengers had been landed in an effort to determine who was missing.

Mrs. M. Brooks, who had been reported by her son as missing when he did not see her come off the Gloucester, later was found at the Carney Hospital. Her daughter Mary was not at the hospital and was believed among the missing.

NEW YARROW PLANE MAKES FAST FLIGHT

Stinson Detroiter of 300-Horsepower and Wingspread of 46 Feet Arrived To-day

Norman A. Yarrow Brings Big Ship Here on First Flight From Mainland

With Capt. E. C. W. Dobbin at the controls and carrying Norman A. Yarrow as a passenger, the new Stinson Detroiter cabin seaplane recently delivered by the builders to the Yarrow Aircraft Corporation, arrived here at 12.15, noon, to-day after a flight of forty minutes from Vancouver.

The machine is propelled by a 300-horsepower Wright Whirlwind engine developing an air speed of 130 miles an hour. The big high-lift monoplane has a wing spread of over 46 feet.

The aircraft has a roomy and comfortably upholstered cabin for the accommodation of six passengers and pilot.

The machine was ordered some months ago by the Yarrow Aircraft Corporation and Mr. Yarrow, president of the corporation and managing director of Yarrows Limited of Esquimalt, visited Detroit and made arrangements for its delivery on his return from his European tour earlier in the year.

Pilot Dobbin brought the machine out from Detroit and delivered it at Vancouver via Oakland on May 21.

Taking off from Vancouver at 11.30 o'clock, the new monoplane roared over the city fifteen minutes after the noon hour, circled into the wind, swooped gracefully to the surface of the Inner Harbor and taxied to the aircraft mooring at the foot of Dallas Road and Erie Street.

The Detroiter is specially equipped for aerial photography and will be available for forestry patrol and air survey operations as well as for pleasure and business cruising.

The monoplane is leaving at 5 o'clock this afternoon on the return flight to Vancouver.

MORE PEOPLE OF EAST WILL VISIT HERE THIS YEAR

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Totten of New York Are Spending Sixteenth Summer in Victoria

Many New Yorkers who have been in the habit of touring Europe are coming out to the Pacific Coast this year, according to J. R. Totten of New York, who is in the city with Mrs. Totten to take up annual summer residence here.

Victoria is becoming known in New York and the Eastern States as one of the most beautiful cities on the North American continent," said Mr. Totten to-day.

"Many people that we know are coming out to see for themselves what this coast has to offer in the way of climate and other attractions, and all of them will assuredly come to this delightful city."

BOOST CITY IN EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Totten are wealthy New Yorkers with hosts of friends on both coasts, and they are consistent boosters for Victoria. They are now making their sixteenth annual visit here. They are not transient visitors either. When they come to Victoria they make a prolonged stay that invariably runs through the entire summer.

Before his retirement, Mr. Totten was in the United States army.

TO REMAIN FIVE MONTHS

"We expect to stay five months," said Mrs. Totten at the Empress Hotel this morning.

"It is the finest place on earth; it is simply perfect," she said. "If we were younger we would come here to make our permanent home, but our family associations in the east are legion, so we compromise and divide our allegiance between New York and Victoria.

"We cannot say too much about Victoria. Its climate is unsurpassed anywhere and its people are charming."

NORMAL SCHOOL CLOSES FRIDAY

Future Teachers to Gather at Banquet To-morrow Evening Before Dispersing

With their practical work completed, students of the Normal School will close their sessions here on Friday morning, when all will assemble for the last congregation in the auditorium. To-morrow evening they will hold their graduation banquet in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to close the social side of their year's activities at the school.

Examination results will be forwarded to the Department of Education at the beginning of the week, and will be published as soon as they are approved.

At Friday morning's function, the students will gather to bid farewell to their instructors and start out on their careers as teachers. Those who have passed the required tests will go through a year's work teaching before they are granted their certificates. When they have completed this practical work, they will be recognized as teachers.

Of course they have completed, included not only the study of teaching children from a theoretical point of view, but also practical demonstrations in the various schools of the city, where the students instructed children.

Victorian Graduates From Military College

BUILDINGS TO SHINE GAILY

Parliament Square Will Be Illuminated Nightly For City's Visitors

Outlined in glowing golden lights, the Parliament Buildings will be illuminated every night until the end of August, as a gesture of welcome to the many conventions and tourists who will visit the city during the summer months.

Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, has ordered the nightly illumination of the magnificent pile of buildings in order that its gracious design of domes and arches may become as attractive after dark as in daytime.

FEDERAL BUILDING

Mayor Herbert Anscomb has written C. F. Dawson, resident architect of the Dominion Public Works Department, requesting that the Post Office Building be illuminated nightly between June 1 and August 31, to balance the appearance of the Inner Harbor this year and to add to the effect next year, when it is expected the Empress Hotel will complete the semi-circle of illuminated structures.

FORT STREET WIDENING IS UNDER STUDY

Sixty-foot Roadway to Give Ample Room For All Traffic

Surveys, Necessary Before Expropriation, to Be Completed This Week

Provision for a street width of seventy-six feet, of which about sixty feet will be for the travelled part of the roadway, is being made by the city in connection with the projected widening of the Dardanelles, the narrow part of Fort Street, it was learned at the City Hall to-day.

Surveys of the road allowances required from property owners on both sides of the narrow part of the street have been proceeding under the city engineers' department, and will be completed this week.

The actual expropriation of the property has not yet been anounced, but the completion of the surveys will pave the way for this step, it is expected.

Unofficial estimates of cost of completing the roadway to the new width are placed in the neighborhood of $45,000, which, it is said, would make a first class street over that part of Fort Street. There would be room for two lines of motor traffic in addition to the street cars, it is stated.

COURT HEARS OF $5,000,000 LAND DEAL

Rents From 36,000-Acre Ryder Estate on Kettle Valley Sought in Suit

The deal for the purchase by T. Edward Clark, of Victoria, for $500,000 of the Ryder estate of 36,000 acres near Brookmire on the Kettle Valley Railway, came before the Court of Appeal here to-day, when Humphrey Jones, of Victoria, and now of Vancouver, through J. B. Clearihue as his lawyer, appealed the case which he had lost before the Supreme Court in his suit for $8,000 rents from Samuel Ryder, owner of the estate, who lives at St. Alban's, England.

In 1924, Mr. Clark, who had become heir to a large fortune in England on the death of a titled relative, went to England and concluded a deal with Mr. Ryder for the purchase of the Kettle Valley estate for $500,000. Mr. Jones was the former owner of the 36,000 acres, and had mortgaged it to Mr. Ryder and lost it, according to Mr. Clearihue.

The property held some vast tracts of timber and a $75,000 sawmill, as well as a hotel and other developed properties. But on the very day when Mr. Clark arrived in Vancouver from England, fire burned the sawmill down. As a result Mr. Clark refused to go through with his purchase, said Mr. Clearihue.

Mr. Clearihue explained that Mr. Jones had an agreement with the Ryder interests, under the mortgage settlement, whereby he should receive the rents from the hotel until the property was sold and he claimed tht the deal with Mr. Clark was no sale because he had not completed it after the sawmill was destroyed. Mr. Ryder, however, claimed it was a sale sufficient to revoke the agreement regarding the rents with Mr. Jones, and so the rents have been going to Mr. Ryder in England, said Mr. Clearihue.

R. M. Macdonald is over from Vancouver representing Mr. Ryder. The case is continuing.

Amendments to the Agents' Licensing Act will be considered at the final summer meeting of the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association in Spencer's dining-room to-morrow at noon. The gathering will also determine a date for its annual picnic.

22,500 HERE ELIGIBLE TO CAST VOTES

Registration of Voters Far Exceeds Anything in History of Victoria

Greatest Poll in History of City Expected on Election Day

Victoria's voters list already has 22,020 names on it and with final registrations in the last three days of the week, the total will likely go over 22,500, it was announced to-day by H. E. Courtney, returning officer.

This is by far the largest number of voters ever registered in Victoria, the last highest total on the lists being around 16,000, it was explained.

The large increase is ascribed partly to the growth in population during the last few years, but chiefly to the new system of registering voters inaugurated by the Dominion Government under which enumerators go out and list the eligible voters, making their hunt for them as thorough as any census-taking.

GREAT VOTE EXPECTED

By far the biggest vote ever polled in Victoria is expected on election day July 28, not only because of the unprecedented registration, but also because of the accessibility to the polls of every district as a result of the new precinct system. Eighty-five polling stations will be scattered within the city limits, making it necessary for no voter to go more than a block or two to vote and eliminating all crowding at the polls.

Enumerators in the city finished their work last night and made their final returns to Returning Officer Courtney.

For those who may have been missed be the enumerators, edpuy registrars in various parts of the city will be in session on Thursday, Friday and Saturday to add to the lists. Registration may be made at the following places:

No. 1.—224 Pemberton Building.
No. 2.—1007 Hillside Avenue.
No. 3.— 1025 Cook Street.
No. 4.—935 Pembroke Street.
No. 5.—Room A, Campbell Building.
No. 6.—1871 Pandora Avenue, Oak Bay Avenue.

ODD FELLOWS MAY CREATE JUNIOR LODGE

Grand Lodge to Debate Proposal For Younger Membership To-morrow

Establishment of a junior branch of Odd Fellowship, in which boys fourteen years of age may be accepted, will be one of the principal matters which will be brought before the Grand Lodge at its session to-morrow morning. Many of the delegates attending this morning's opening proceedings at the Odd Fellows Hall were strongly in favor of the innovation.

The fifty-sixth annual session was attended by official delegations from all the sixty-five lodges in British Columbia, together with a great audience of unofficial delegates. Among those present were thirteen past grand masters, and C. Bruce Morden, grand master of the I.O.O.F. in Alberta, who was introduced by Grand Master Cavalsky as a fraternal delegate and accorded the privileges of the session. A similar honor was accorded A. Huntingford, representing the Encampment in Alberta.

Immediately after the opening of business a class of sixty-four new members was admitted.

The election of officers and selection of a meeting place for 1931 will take place to-morrow afternoon. It is expected that J. C. Brown of Cumberland, now deputy grand master, will be elevated in the usual manner, along with a number of other senior officers, and that the only office to go to a ballot will be the treasuriership.

Delegations were received from the Rebekah Assembly, the Encampment and the Patriarchs Militant, who were given opportunity to present for consideration a number of matters affecting all bodies.

FIFTY REBEKAH LODGES ATTEND

Assembly Receives Fraternal Greetings From Odd Fellow Organizations

The Rebekah Assembly, in session at the Shrine Auditorium, discussed legislation this morning, there being present official delegations from fifty of the fifty-two lodges in British Columbia, together with a large representation of unofficial delegates.

Following the presentation of greetings from several absent past presidents, the courtesy committee introduced delegations from the Grand Lodge, the Grand Encampment and the Patriarchs Militant. On behalf of the Grand Lodge, P. G. M. Harry Hooks, of Agassiz, conveyed greetings and spoke of the love and devotion of the sisters of the subordinate branch of Odd Fellowship.

Speaking for the Grand Encampment, J. A. Dowding, P.G.M., extended greetings and told of the growth of the order through the service and cooperation of the members. Capt. Clarence Saider conveyed the greetings of the Patriarchs Militant, thanking the Assembly for the kind greetings extended through Sister Agnes Merrithew, of Vancouver, who was elevated yesterday to the presidency of the Rebekah Assembly. Greetings and good wishes for the success of the session were also expreed by J. T. McDonald, A. G. French, W. W. Walkem and Major Shaver.

The Assembly reconvened at 1 o'clock for the annual memorial service, which was followed by a drive to Butchart's Gardens.

SIX MONTHS FOR FORGERY

James Roy Sentenced After Pleading Guilty to Cheque Charge

James Roy, who pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery, was sentenced to six months' hard labor by Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning.

Roy was alleged to have forged the signature of John Baboo, a Hindu, to a pension cheque. Detective Marcus Phipps told the court the accused had entered Baboo's house, stolen the cheque, and cashed it at a grocery store nearby, receiving two dozen eggs and cash.

There was a previous conviction against the accused in 1928, when he served four months hard labor for theft.

THEFT HEARING SET SATURDAY

Evidence on Charge Against John Kershaw Will Be Given

Preliminary hearing of John Kershaw, charged with the theft of $770 in cash and $837.45 in cheques from the Sisters of St. Ann, has been definitely set for Saturday morning in the city police court.

Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, appearing this morning, said he would be ready to proceed on Saturday, and City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison agreed to this course.

W. C. Moresby, K.C., counsel for Rita Vaughan, who was given suspended sentence on the same charge, told the court he was watching the interests of Miss Vaughan in the case, and felt it was necessary the hearing be expedited. Miss Vaughan, who is to be the main prosecution witness in the case, is being detained at police headquarters, he said, and the circumstances surrounding the case were such that the hearing should be held as soon as possible.

Kershaw is also in custody. He was arrested May 27 and has been held since that time for hearing owing to numerous remands at the request of the defence.

BUSINESS MAN'S GRATITUDE

Says Kruschen has kept him fit for sixteen years

RHEUMATISM BANISHED

Here is a business man who, having read letters in the papers from other people regarding Kruschen Salts, wants to know if anyone can beat his own experience. It is worth telling, so we give it here—just as he wrote it down. "In 1912 I had a severe attack of Rheumatic Fever. After six weeks my doctor and a specialist gave up hope of my recovery. A friend suggested Kruschen if I wanted to keep Rheumatism away in future. I bought my first bottle, and kept up the 'little daily dose' until the second year of the War, when I thought my system was thoroughly rid of the acid. I stopped taking it. Within a fortnight I was almost double with Rheumatic pains again (showing that I needed to counteract the acid in my system). Back I flew to Kruschen, and from that day to this I never missed a dose first thing every morning. The result? Never the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain. Being a traveller I am out in all weathers, and I can claim to work hard and fast, and to retain my constant buoyant spirits, thanks to my old friend Kruschen, who has, in very truth, 'kept me going' for 16 years." If you wonder how Kruschen can achieve all that this enthusiastic user claims for it, you should first of all realise that Kruschen is a perfect blend of 6 natural mineral salts which we all need every day (1) to help keep liver and kidneys to perform their natural duties in a natural way; (2) to clear away gently but completely all the poisonous waste matter that has been clogging the system; (3) to purify the blood. The analysis is on the bottle. There are Sodium and Magnesium to stimulate the organs of elimination. To feed your tissues, there's the tonic Potassium. Each "little daily dose" is a full day's supply of these six vital salts; just the right amount to keep your body and mind tuned up to a pitch of real constant fitness.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle, and is manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1756). Importers: McGillivray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

Broker Loses Million, Bank Forced to Close

Ohio Representative of Henry L. Doherty Company Caught In Huge Defalcations; Worked Cheque Exchange and Sold Cities Service Stock In Thousand Share Blocks To Clients At Four Points Under Market.

Cincinnati, June 11.—The state banking department to-day closed the Cosmopolitan Bank and Trust Company and its seven branches because its $637,577 capital was impaired by the unsuccessful stock manipulations of A. W. Shafer, discharged district manager of the Henry L. Doherty Company, New York, one of its largest depositors, and the fiscal agents of the Cities Service organizations.

After an initial survey, examiners said Shafer was short $623,000 in his accounts with the bank. Previously the examiners disclosed Shafer had speculated about as much more from the Doherty Company, dealers in Cities Service stocks and that the total defalcations would surpass $1,000,000, and might reach $1,250,000.

Official investigators simultaneously said the Doherty Company was not responsible for the bank's closing and that the financial tangle resulted from Shafer's operations.

WORKED CHEQUE SYSTEM

Shafer, for eight years head of the Doherty Cincinnati branch, is at liberty under $15,000 bond on the specific charge of embezzlement of $10,162.50 from his late employers. He was arraigned to-day and held to the grand jury.

Dudley M. Outcault, assistant county prosecutor, said one way Shafer apparently obtained funds from the bank was to secure a large personal cheque from one of his employees on the promise he would get a cashier's check for the amount and then never return the check. He said he understood one employee, who had only a small sum in the bank, signed cheques of that nature which totalled $100,000.

First intimation of Shafer's irregularities came when Doherty clients complained that they failed to receive stock for which they had paid. One client, examiners said, declared he left $100,000 in bonds with Shafer for the purchase of Cities Service stock, but Doherty books showed no record of the transaction.

Shafer's questionable sales tactics also brought an investigation by the Cincinnati Better Business Bureau, which said information was received that Shafer sold Cities Service stock four points below the market on 1,000 share blocks. If the quotation was 36, he would offer to sell at 32, taking only fifty per cent of the purchase price down and delayed delivery of the stock as long as possible, it was said.

Shafer meanwhile followed the advice of his attorney and refused to talk.

O. C. Gray, state superintendent of banks, who ordered the bank closed, said it would require two weeks to audit the bank books.

An English Actor Gives Hints to Men On Being Well-dressed

Derek Williams wears a grey suit, in a flecked, hard woolen material, with trousers pleated into the waistband and one-button coat cut single-breasted semi-fitted with scant padding in the shoulders, rolling lapels cut wide and no flaps to the pockets.

Derek Williams, the juvenile lead in the London-New York stage success, "Journey's End," has an enviable reputation as one of the best dressed young English actors. In two articles Mr. Williams gives a Londoner's view of what is smart in men's attire. This is the first.

By DEREK WILLIAMS

It is because Englishmen give more thought to the little details which make for smartness that they have a reputation for being well dressed.

If these details are studied carefully, that is all that is required.

Whenever I see the Prince of Wales or Mr. Jack Buchanan or any man who is famous for his clothes, I always notice three things:

First, the cut of the suit, especially the trousers.

Third, the complete absence of any discordant note of detail.

By this I do not mean that everything should match. That is a mistake, as it always gives a studied effect which should be avoided. Socks, ties and handkerchiefs of the same pattern and color belong in this category.

For a fairly smart suit, I suggest a grey or navy blue material, with a faint pin-stripe. I always have the trousers cut about 20 inches wide, with no turn-ups at the bottom and very long down to the heel of the shoe at the back.

The waist of the trousers should be tight and a pleat over the waistband directly over the crease makes the trousers hang better. If you are medium height, like myself, I suggest a single-breasted coat with three buttons, rolling wide lapels and no vent in the back of the jacket. Pockets without flaps give the coat a better line, and if it is necessary to have the shoulders padded, which is being done this spring, always aim for the natural outline and avoid the too-square look. The simpler the waistcoat, the better.

For sports, knickers should be cut roomy enough to be comfortable for vigorous movement. Last summer when I was playing golf at one of the most beautiful country clubs, I noticed that many of the men had their "plus fours" cut too narrow and it seemed a pity to me because there is something wrong when this is so. Brogues should always be worn with sports clothes.

RUSH WINS TIME TRIAL

Young Bike Rider Captures Island Cycling Club Event in Record Time

Lew Rush, husky local pedal-pusher, forged his way to victory in the first time trial of his career yesterday evening when he led the field in the Island Cycling Club's five-mile event to lower the record of Glen Robbins, last winner, by five seconds. He completed the course in thirteen minutes and seven seconds.

J. Taylor was again second, fifteen seconds behind the winner, while J. Ward finished third, six seconds behind Taylor. H. Hetherington was fourth, with a time of thirteen minutes, forty-two seconds, and Glen Robbins fifth, four seconds later. G. Parrott and W. Robbins also broke fourteen minutes, while G. Farmer and R. Jackson finished just over that time.

To date, J. Taylor, the club captain, has shown the best time average for the events.

Ten riders started. G. Bennett acted as timekeeper and Stan Jackson as starter, while F. Cope checked the time and W. Leul turned the riders at the half-way mark. There was a fair number of interested spectators at the starting point. Although a stiff breeze impeded the riders on the return part of the course, it made little difference to most of the competitors, who again showed fine times.

RACING GROUP WILL START CONSTRUCTION AT WILLOWS FRIDAY

LARGEB GRANDSTAND

Plans for the new grandstand, drawn up by Mr. Fox, show the structure to be 200 feet by sixty feet and with an elevated rise in the front extending 230 feet in length and fifty feet in width. A clubhouse enclosure with a club-house dining-room and betting facilities will be put up, with provision for a large clubhouse in the future.

A circular paddock and up-to-date accommodation for jockeys with showers will be installed. Turnstiles at the main entrance gates and other features for the convenience of the public will be provided.

SPECIAL BETTING FACILITIES

A new feature for Canadian tracks will be a special betting booth for ladies in the wagering sheds at the north end of the grandstand where the automatic machines will be housed.

The whole scheme has been made to fit in with proposed development of the Willows fair grounds on a large scale, in which it is expected the city will obtain aid from the Provincial Government.

A two-hour conference between the city council and representatives of the racing association brought agreement on the terms of the contract yesterday afternoon and the city solicitor was instructed to draw up for signing a contract embodying the terms under which the racing body will secure a ten-year franchise in exchange for the development at the park.

Final consideration of the contract has been left in the hands of the Mayor, who announced he would scrutinize the whole agreement closely and would call a special council meeting if any of the clauses needed further attention.

CONTENTIOUS CLAUSE

The clause in the agreement which has been of the most contentious nature during the last few days and held up the closure of the deal had to do with the racing dates. This was finally adopted as follows:

"Subject to strikes of horsemen, and upon satisfactory proof of such submitted to the manager or secretary-treasurer for the time being of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, and subject to any regulation or regulations of the Dominion or Provincial Governments prohibiting or preventing the importation of transportation of horses to Victoria by reason of foot and mouth or other diseases, the racing association agrees to conduct race meets during each annual fair of the British Columbia Agricultural Association during the period of this agreement, unless otherwise agreed upon by the parties hereto, and to obtain the approval of the municipal council of the corporation of the dates of every race meet proposed to be held on the said race track, such approval not to be unreasonably withheld. Provided, that if for any reason the racing association fails to conduct a race meet during the said annual fair of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, and such failure being without the approval of the corporation, then the racing association agrees to pay to the corporation the sum of $500 by way of compensation to the corporation or its lessee for the resultant loss of outer gate receipts at such annual fair, the said sum of $500 to become due and payable to the corporation within fifteen days after each and every such failure."

Alderman Worthington expressed the opinion that the $500 mentioned was not sufficient compensation, and, seconded by Alderman Mara, moved an amendment that the amount be $1,000.

The motion was defeated.

Brasil nuts, or "nigger toes," grow on trees sometimes 150 feet high. The nuts grow inside a hard-shelled fruit and are but the seeds. There are about twenty of them in each shell and they are closely packed.

Pigeons' eggs are generally hatched out in pairs. The smaller egg produces the male, the larger the female.

MONTREAL MAN FACES TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Montreal, June 11.—Allan Forbes, thirty-five, yesterday was sent up for trial in the Court of King's Bench on a charge of having murdered seventeen-year-old Phillipe Lafotaine.

According to the charge, Forbes killed the young man, who had been his room mate and companion for some months and dismembered the body, wrapping the pieces in newspapers and scattering them in the water of the St. Lawrence river near the eastern extremity of Montreal Island.

The body, which was found in sections and of which the head has not yet been discovered, was described in court yesterday by Dr. Wilfred Derome, medico-expert, who stated that while exact identification marks were lacking, the remains might well be those of the missing Lafontaine, who has not been seen since May 1.

Police officials and experts described the finding of bloodstains on the furniture, walls and floors of the apartment shared by the two men. The police theory is that the murder and dismembering were carried out in that apartment.

Declarations said to have been made by the accused man before his arrest regarding the fate of his young companion and other details for the case were read in court.

The next term of the Court of King's Bench is set for September.

Canada is the third gold-producing country in the world. The Transvaal is first and the United States second.

Try Magnesia for Stomach Trouble

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour Gassy Stomach

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, soda and various digestive aids and got little more than slight temporary relief—sometimes not even that.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow, most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion. (Adv.)

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, June 11.—Wheat: The market continued to act heavy with prices again breaking almost 2 cents on the extreme dip, and while there was an upturn of 1 cent from the bottom, the bulge was difficult to hold and was brought about largely by buying against bids.

Offerings were not particularly heavy at any time, but still there was wheat for sale continuously except on the bottom. Seaboard estimated sales at around 1,000,000 bushels, largely Manitobas, but only half this amount could be traced out of this market.

There was a little better tone to the demand for cash wheat, but the inquiry generally was not good. Some direct exporters reported a fair business over night while others only worked odd scattered loads. Flour business continues very quiet both for export and domestic accounts. Liverpool was a little firmer than due at the start but closed ⅜ to ⅝ lower.

There was a few light scattered showers over western Canada the past twenty-four hours, with the weather generally cloudy to-day and during the late session reports came that it was raining hard from Saskatoon to Edmonton, an area most in need of moisture, while the forecast was for lower temperatures and scattered showers.

Outside of a little buying by one export house in the local pit, the trade was largely local. Both government crop reports were about as expected, the condition of the Canadian crop being placed at 96 or four points below the ten-year average, although it was indicated that some deterioration had taken place since the first of the month. Wheat closed 1½ to 2 cents lower. Liverpool cables will be due ¾ to 1⅛ lower, based on Winnipeg.

Coarse grains: These markets continued easy with only a small trade passing, the feature again being the weakness in barley, which again established new low points. Rye was the weakest commodity on the board, there being scattered liquidation going on with demand very poor. Eastern Canada again took fair amounts of the low grade oats and barley for feeding purposes.

Oats closed ¼ to ⅞ lower, barley ¾ to 1 cent lower and rye 2¾ lower. Flax no feature, just a small trade passing with the market a little easier and closing 2 cents lower.

Open: ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Chicago, June 11.—Wheat: The government report of yesterday indicating 77,000,000 bushels more than estimated in May and 46,000,000 less than final of 1929, had little effect on prices early. After moving up a little early, the market began to wilt under moderate selling and sold off sharply.

Canadian reports indicate a condition of four per cent. less than the ten year average and explanatory remarks confirmed the view that the crop is unusually dependent on favorable weather conditions from now on.

Liverpool closed ⅜ to ⅝ lower with a slow demand for wheat on the other side. The export trade was moderate, around 800,000 bushels in all positions; with some hard winter and durums taken from this country.

Domestic cash trade was quiet, sales about 13,000 bushels. The situation is little changed in general, but the time is approaching when the hedging pressure naturally will increase. If there are offsets to this in the way of unfavorable Canadian crop developments or improved export buying, at present price levels there should be enough support to absorb the selling, otherwise the market is likely to have a sagging tendency. For time being would only buy on reactions for quick turns, and vice versa picking any sharp bulge for sales.

Corn—The tone was rather heavy, but on the dips there was fair buying, which steadied the market. Country bookings were 29,000 bushels, with sales of 150,000 bushels for shipment, the basis being steady to half higher.

Weather and crop news gave little cause for any concern at this time. Receipts were 181 cars, estimated, with primary arrivals 902,000 against 713,000 a year ago. Prices will depend on the size of movement and also on the action in wheat.

Oats were lower with other grains, the weakness in other grains and generally favorable crop news. Cash sales were 40,000, with 5,000 bushels new oats bought to arrive.

Rye had a sharp decline, there being little support following the decline in wheat. Until the market had dropped into new low ground for the July, prices appeared cheap compared to corn and other grains, but there is little to suggest any material price improvement.

SHOWERS PUT GRAIN DOWN, BUT PRAIRIE CONDITIONS REPORTED AS SUB-AVERAGE

Winnipeg, June 11.—Heavy rain was reported at Edmonton late this morning and this helped in starting the downward movement of the grain markets.

Winnipeg, June 11.—Although crop conditions are reported as sub-average at the end of May, it is evident that deterioration has proceeded further in the first week of June, the Canadian Government crop report says. Damage by wind, frost and cutworms has been considerable, although the full extent of recovery or reseeding will depend on the succeeding weather conditions.

Edmonton and Lacombe agriculturists, meeting at Lethbridge, report that about 30 per cent of the grain acreage between Olds and Edmonton has been cut off or subjected to marked injury by the winds.

Less serious advice comes from Saskatchewan and Manitoba, but it is apparent that soil conditions are at present favorable for both drifting and cutworm activity.

The quick abundant growth of weeds is reducing the stand and increasing the water requirement of the crop in large areas. As at this date last year, copious rains are necessary to assure an average crop.

Edmonton, June 11.—Report from Bonneville, northeast of here, says that rain fell there all night and is continuing hard. Farmers there say it will save the situation, as the area has been suffering from lack of moisture.

Regina reports weather also cloudy with an east wind.

Chicago, June 11.—Harvest of winter wheat has begun north to Northern Oklahoma and is under way in the south. Harvest has extended north to the Texas Panhandle with mostly favorable weather.

Wheat is ripening in southeastern and southern Kansas with the harvest expected to begin there in a few days and in the northeastern parts in two weeks.

Progress and condition of winter wheat were very good in Nebraska with the crop heaving well, while favorable weather is reported from Iowa.

Motor Industry Fights New Tariff As "Greed"

New York, June 11.—Automotive Daily News, the official organ of the automobile industry and distributing trade of the country, is conducting a vigorous fight against the new tariff bill.

In an editorial article, entitled "Offence or Defence?" Automotive Daily News says:

"Some years ago Great Britain, bowed down by weight of war debts, burdensome taxes, unemployment and heaven knows what other ills, conceived the brilliant idea of limiting rubber production in its colonies to increase the price. The British East Indian colonies were the principal source of crude rubber supply at that time. The plantation rubber had completely ousted wild rubber from the market, and the Stevenson restriction act appeared to offer a way for Britain to get a lot of money quickly into its empty coffers.

"The restriction act worked as had been anticipated. The price of crude rubber soared. As the principal consumer of rubber, the United States paid most of the bill. Our tire companies suffered and many a hitherto prosperous concern showed its first deficit.

"Eventually the restriction act backfired. Limiting production in the British colonies stimulated rubber growing elsewhere. American plantations were started in Liberia and in Brazil. The canny Dutch increased their acreage of rubber. Finally it became apparent that restriction of rubber production in the British colonies would eventually increase the supply elsewhere so that English plantation owners would be the ultimate sufferers. The Stevenson act was repealed.

"It is possible for a nation seeking its own advantage to overstep the limits of a justifiable protection so far that it itself becames the eventual sufferer. There is a limit beyond which greed recoils on the greedy nation or person. The Hawley-Smoot proposed tariff law appears to have all the characteristics of such an act of blind greed."

TORONTO MINES CONTINUE DROP BUT GOLDS GAIN

Lake Shore gained 20 and Dome 15. Teck was off 5 and McIntyre 15. The lower priced issues suffered to a greater extent. Howey was under pressure and dropped 6. Kirkland Lake, Sylvanite and Vipond were off from 1 to 2 points.

Nordon and Chemical Research were soft spots in the oil group, the former losing 23 and the latter 45.

TO-DAY'S REPORTS ON CALGARY OILS

By Special Service of Miller, Court & Co., Victoria Office

Calmont No. 2 is putting full flows through the separators it was stated at the office of the company. Providing freezing troubles do not intervene, it is possible that production figures for a twenty-four-hour test may be issued to-day.

No. 2 is drilling from 4749 feet and is believed to be at the top of the Poker Chip shales.

No. 3 is being prepared for the installation of diamond drill equipment. The well is standing cemented in the lime.

Running casing to the lime in progress at the Eastcrest No. 1 well, it was reported at the office of the company. The casing will be run to a total depth of 4360 feet of which between sixty and seventy feet is in the lime. When the casing is run it will be cemented and the delay of about ten days will be allowed for the cement to harden.

Decision to drill the Western Alberta well, on the Highwood structure deeper, is announced. Recently crude oil was struck in the lime at this well, constituting an unprecedented occurrence in respect of Alberta oil fields.

When drilling was stopped a few days ago pending deliberations whether to shoot the well, or drill deeper into the limestone, the depth was 2,878 feet, of which about 700 feet were in the limestone. It is thought possible that even at the present stage a shot of nitro glycerine might bring in a commercial well. However, it is felt that a little more footage may result in a very considerable strike of oil.

The bit just penetrated the top of the oil sands and arrangements are being completed to place the well on production. Entry to the sand was accompanied by a flow of gas estimated at 5,000,000 cubic feet a day. The report from the field stated that Rice Radigan looked as good as Cosmos No. 1.

Drilling has been resumed at the test well on the Spring Coulee structure of A.B. Consolidated being drilled in accordance with the agreement between A.P. Consolidated and the Canadian Exploration Co. The well is at a depth of about 1,380 feet.

It was expected that drilling at A.P. Consolidated No. 1 in Turner Valley, which has been standing cemented in the lime for a considerable time, would be resumed during yesterday.

A.P. Consolidated No. 2 in Turner Valley is being allowed to blow, to permit the well to thoroughly clean itself out before being put on a production test. A.P. Consolidated (Duvernay) well is making progress.

REPARATIONS BONDS ALREADY HEAVILY OVERSUBSCRIBED

Public offering of the new German Reparations Loan through the United States and Canada is expected to-morrow or Friday.

Messages from J. P. Morgan's office in New York to-day to Victoria brokers brought the information that the issue will be for $98,000,000, due 1965, bearing 5½ per cent and at an issue price of 99.

The issue has already been heavily oversubscribed, with the result that it was selling at a premium of 1½ points on the New York Curb to-day.

TORONTO STOCKS FALL OFF AGAIN

Brazilian closed down nearly three points, Nickel down approximately one, Ford off over a point, Massey-Harris, the steels and most industrials fractionally lower. City Dairy was driven back over two points from its previous close. The oils weakened along with the rest, finishing less than a point lower.

Liquor and beverage stocks were firmer than most.

CRASH DRIVES MONTREAL LIST TO LOWER LEVELS

Other price changes included Abitibi off ¾ at 29; Massey Harris off ⅝ at 33½; Cockshutt Plow up ⅛ at 18½; Canadian Car off ⅞ at 21¼, and the preferred off ½ at 26½.

Current action of Brazilian appears to have been dictated almost solely by purely market conditions, for there has not been the slightest indications of any change in the conditions surrounding the company or its operations, The Gazette says to-day in its comment wired to the B.C. Bond.

International Nickel was called upon to absorb a huge volume of liquidation, sagging to the new low for the year of 25 under the heavy avalanche of offerings.

Apart from the broad reactions in values that characterized the markets in general this issue appeared to suffer from the news that the company would shortly announce a new offering of stock to shareholders at $20 per share on a basis of one for each sixteen held.

The offering would bring to the company over $17,000,000 of new money and the announcement promised on Friday will be awaited with a good deal of interest.

RED COULEE GETS SECOND WELL

Calgary, June 11 (Miller, Court Service)—Red Coulee's second flowing well was reported from the field. Hannah-Porter No. 1, south of Cosmos, when carried down to 2,536 feet and allowed to stand, blew itself in and became a gusher.

The crew managed to bring the well under control without much loss of oil and one 250-barrel tank was soon filled.

A.P. Consolidated No. 1 is showing up surprisingly strong on test and in about twenty hours put 185 barrels in tankage. It is likely to be a better well than either of the Valnitas.

At Kotöp No. 1 in the Red Coulee heavy gas pressure developed with the landing of the tools that had been in the well for some time. Kotop is one of the major tests now in progress in Red Coulee and finding of gas and oil there at shallow depths confirms the opinion expressed by geologists.

Bond Market Awaits Reparations Issue

Trading was on a reduced scale with price changes unimportant as great interest was manifested in reports that a meeting in Paris had paved the way finally for offering of the $345,000,000 annuity issue.

A few monds among the railroads and utilities appreciated slightly. Stock privilege issues weakened. Liberty fourth 4¼s were in demand and touched new high ground for the year. Southern Pacific 4s, Union Pacific 4s and St. Paul 5s improved.

Argentine 6s was the most active foreign issue and steady.

VANCOUVER STOCK EXCHANGE

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 11.—Market action during the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day was extremely quiet, with oil quotations unchanged and mine prices either a little lower or about the same as on the previous day. There was no volume of trading in the mines, with the result that Premier held between 101 and 103, Reeves at 45, Oregon Copper sht 10, Snowflake at 8 and the balance of the metal issues neglected and with little stock offered at the present levels.

In the Home Oil list an odd lot of Home sold at 645 and A.P. Consolidated opened at 108 and sank to 106, with Calmont holding at 128 in light trading. Amalgamated and Crow's Nest both weakened to 22 and C. and E. held fairly well at 110. Fabyan sold at 6 and Merland seemed firm at 15. Sterling sank to 18 and United sold at 37. Small blocks of Vanalta changed hands at 45. Hargal sold at 26, and 27 was bid for Freehold.

TURNER VALLEY PRODUCTION GROWS

Analysis of the oil production of the Turner Valley for the first five months of 1930 reveals that 444,553 barrels were delivered to the refineries in that period—an amount almost equal to the entire production for 1928. Had normal yields continued throughout May the total would doubtless have considerably exceeded that of 1928, which would have been accepted as a remarkable record. The freezing of Lowery, capable of producing 12,000 barrels a month, and the same difficulty with some of the Home wells, held the figure down severely for May. It is expected that June production, without this handicap so far, will show a substantial increase.

SEES DEPRESSION AS NOT ALL LOSS

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

MORE RALLY

"The market's over-due rally, which was expected to follow a culmination of decline at about the time of the Steel statement on unfilled tonnage yesterday, came through about as expected, and has built up enough momentum to carry it through the day to-day. The actual prices of stocks should add from 4 to 6 points to last night's close on this rally, so that even if you do not get them during the day, and have to go over into tomorrow, I believe the important thing to remember is that the prices of stocks have about this much more rally to them, and simply present what uncertainty there is in the form of what day they will use to register them.

"Brokers' loans, issued after to-morrow night's close, should show a rather radical decrease, and easily prove to be the local influence responsible for the recording of this additional rally, in addition to which mid-month treasury financing can easily be the reason for the establishment of the call rate below three per cent. Beyond this rally, a good deal of the market outlook depends upon the success attending the efforts of loading banking interests and business executives of national corporations who are agitating a movement to kill the Tariff Bill.

"As pointed out yesterday, much of this outlook for both business and the market is dependent on the probabilities of wholesale cut in wages, and if the market is going to be prevented from making substantially lower prices, it will be based on wages not being reduced, and business doing a fairly good business. If wages are cut, depression will obviously be the result. Prevention of this depends, in the minds of these leading bank and business executives, on the defeat of the Tariff Bill, with their feeling being that this bill is so asinine in character that for it to go through will simply force on them a reduction of both labor employed and wages paid. The net result is that they are using every means to see that it will not be enacted.

"Whether or not these efforts will be successful, is at the moment impossible to forecast, as is likewise the market we are going to have in the latter part of this month and July. The important thing at the moment is that you have more rally ahead of you here, with it being equally important that you use it to get back of lot of the cash you now have in stocks and put yourself in a position where you can reverse the procedure at a more favorable time."

SUGAR

New York, June 11.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged to-day. Nearby duty frees were available at last paid prices of 3.27, with Cuban held at the same level for prompt shipment, but offered at concessions of 1-32c for later shipment, or at 3.24.

No changes were reported in refined prices with all refiners listing at 4.50, but a little better demand was reported.

STOCKS DROP 8 PTS. MORE TO NEW LOWS

Worst Break Yet Comes as Market Fails to Hold Tuesday's Recovery

U.S. High Tariff Bill Causes Pessimism as Blow to American Industry

Auburn Motor Has Straight Collapse of 20 Points; Other Big Issues Tumble

New York, June 11 Associated Press —Stock prices crashed before a new bear onslaught on the stock exchange to-day, recording the most severe declines since December, but bears were driven to cover in the final few minutes of trading, and sharp rallies substantially reduced the losses in the more active issues.

J. I. Case extended its loss to more than 20 points. Columbian Carbon, Worthington Pump, Vanadium, American Tobacco, American Can and Houston Oil tumbled 8 to 12. U.S. Steel extended its loss to more than five points.

New York, June 11.—Stocks failed to hold Tuesday's closing rally and crashed down to-day to establish more new lows.

To-day's break was the most severe yet, with the industrials falling more than eight points during the session. This break comes on top of the almost uninterrupted collapse of twenty-five points in the averages since the first of the month.

FAILED TO HOLD RECOVERY

Violent declines occurred in the early afternoon after the market had demonstrated in the morning utter inability to carry on yesterday's late recovery.

The rally, if so it may be called, affected only a few stocks, but there was some evidence by late afternoon that heavy liquidation was losing its force for the time being.

TARIFF CAUSES FEARS

The street tried to find an explanation for the fresh decline to-day in the tariff situation. It was predicted as it has been predicted in some quarters for weeks past, that if the tariff bill became a law, American industry would suffer a severe handicap and be at a distinct disadvantage in disposing of production in foreign markets.

GENERAL BUSINESS UNEASINESS

Behind that thought was the generally unsatisfactory state of business, and the fear that before the improvement developed there would be numerous additions to the ranks of companies forced to suspend or to reduce dividends.

The greatest activity was displayed to-day when the list was weak.

PASSES DIVIDEND

Celotex to-day passed its common dividend of 75 cents a share now due, but declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred, payable July 1 to stock of record June 20.

UNITED CORPORATION FINANCING

Although it is believed that new financing will take place for United Corporation before the end of the summer, no plan has as yet been determined upon, The Journal of Commerce says, and it is expected United Corporation will continue to expand so far as is possible through the exchange of its shares for share of various companies.

NATIONAL BISCUIT A LEADER

The N.Y. American to-day says:

"Childs Company continues to reflect the important buying that has been taking place in that issue.

"Good buying was again in evidence in Westinghouse Electric.

WHAT COMPARISON OF AVERAGES SHOW

Some interesting comparisons may be made between the lows of June 9 and 10 and the low prices of May 5. Issues in which there is a sustained and usually wide market interest, such as Radio, Radio - Keith - Orpheum, Union Carbide, International Harvester, Warner Bros., Paramount Publix and U.S. Steel on June 9 and 10 went below the resistance points established on May 5. Johns-Manville was another issue which sold lower in the present break than on May 5. On the other hand, the food stocks like National Dairy Products, Borden, General Foods, National Biscuit and Loose Wiles at their lows of the past two days, were above the low points of this week.

RESIST BREAK

American Can sold at 131⅞ on Monday of this week, against 127⅛ on May 5. United Corporation in the present break found support around the resistance levels of May 5, while the low for Standard Oil of New Jersey of 72¼ this week, compared with a low of 71 on May 5.

Before yesterday's recovery, the Dow Jones averages had declined about 25 points in the industrials in almost a straight line.

SEES BEST CHANGE IN FOOD GROUP

"I do not anticipate a rise which will completely make up the ground lost since June 1," H. P. Bliss says today. "We would say that attractive trading opportunities immediately ahead lie in the food group, such as Borden, General Foods, National Dairy Products, National Biscuit and Loose Wiles. We prefer the purchase of American Can to U.S. Steel. Little is to be expected of the copper group or in the motors, and we are sceptical about the development of outside buying in the steels.

"Liquid Carbonic remains attractive. That stock holds some fifteen points above its low of May 5, and remains, we believe, in an uptrend."

DO NOT FOLLOW RALLY

"Selling of support stock will be seen. It is not advisable to follow up this rally.

"Once again the financial community is faced with several items of major importance this week. The German reparations bonds are due to be offered for sale toward the close of the week, probably to-morrow. Another cut in the rediscount rate is also expected. The third item is the final vote on the tariff. Wall Street is about evenly divided in its opinion on the fate of the tariff. The concensus of opinion is, however, that with the tariff out of the way, the market and business can be expected to do better.

"Comparing the drop in steel tonnage for the month of May, as announced by the Steel Corporation, with the decreases of the same month in previous year, it can be set down as a seasonal occurance and should not be construed as particularly bearish.

"What can be considered good buying has again made its appearance in Stone and Webster, and another move to around 100 is expected."

SEVERE QUAKE RECORDED HERE

Gonzales Seismograph Shows Tremors Likely Centering in Philippines

A severe earthquake began recording on the seismograph at the Gonzales Observatory yesterday afternoon at 5.03 o'clock and the tremors continued for three hours. F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Observatory, estimates that the centre of the disturbance was 5,500 miles away, probably in the Philippine Islands.

Washington, June 11—An earthquake lasting more than two hours was disclosed to-day at Georgetown University Seismological Observatory instruments. It began at 8.08 o'clock yesterday evening.

Rev. Frederick W. Sohon, director of the observatory, said he could not definitely place the centre of the disturbance, although it was thought to have been west of Washington. The quake was severe.

FIRE SITUATION IN ONTARIO IS STILL SERIOUS

New Outbreaks Reported as Forest Rangers Continue to Battle Flames

Canadian Press

Port Arthur, Ont., June 11.—Fire Rangers to-day continued their struggle against forest blazes in the lake head area of Ontario. Through a night of toil, the situation failed to show improvement, and to-day all fires still raged throughout dried-out land. A new outbreak is reported from southwest Balke township.

More airplanes are being added to the force already in use surveying the fire-ridden sections.

Fourteen miles from Orion Lake dam, a wind-whipped conflagration is sweeping over wide stretches of country. Fire fighters are seeking to halt new outbreaks in Hele township, north of Hurket, where extensive damage was caused by the violent blazes of a week ago. A grave threat exists in Mack Township, ninety miles northwest of Port Arthur, where some 200 men are battling the blazes.

Improvement is noted to-day in the Lake Nipigon sector, due north of the lakehead, as well as in Mackenzie and Beck sections.

WATT INQUIRY HELD UP UNTIL ELECTION ENDS

"I feel that I should now make public, reasons which I advanced to Dr. Tolmie over a month ago as to why the investigation should be held immediately," the leader of the opposition said. "It is to be noted that representations which I made to Dr. Tolmie were made before the Dominion government had announced that an election would be held this year.

"Watt was badly wounded and gassed in the war, and his health has never since been robust. On several occasions when he was in the government service we were seriously worried as to the condition of his health, and it is known to everyone in Prince Rupert that the manner of his dismissal had a most distressing effect on his health at that time.

PROMISED TO ACT

"In requesting Dr. Tolmie that the inquiry be held without delay, I pointed out the question of Watt's health, and strongly urged that for this reason, if for no other, the matter should be cleared up forthwith. Premier Tolmie said the government would act without delay.

"No results being forthcoming, I, two or three times since, have been in personal touch with the Premier, and was assured by him that commission of inquiry would be appointed at once, and I advised Watt accordingly.

TO MEET PARTY EXIGENCY

"The fact is that the government is continuing the outrageous treatment that has been accorded to Watt from the beginning. Watt was dismissed because at one time he had been my secretary, but instead of admitting it, the government has ever since been twisting and squirming to justify its position, and now we have an admission from Dr. Tolmie that the inquiry is to be deferred to meet a party exigency. The Prime Minister, who should be the first to see that justice is done, continues to play the role of party organizer first and Prime Minister second. His statement is an admission that he is deferring inquiry, not out of consideration for Watt, but to avoid during the election campaign the condemnation which will attach to his government and his party as a result of the inquiry."

had changed his mind, and had been persuaded by Wallis that the return of the contract and his notes was not necessary for they had not become operative.

$300,000,000 German Reparations Loan To Be Issued This Week

Paris, June 11.—Officials of the Bank for International Settlements announced late last night that the $300,000,000 German reparations loan will be issued this week on the nine markets interested.

The conference of international bankers, representatives of the Settlements Bank and official creditor powers reached final agreement to-night after numerous meetings for more than a month.

The issue price will be 99, except in France, where, because there is no tax on stock certificates, it will be about 98. The interest rate is 5½ per cent.

WAREHOUSE FIRE RAGES TEN HOURS

Damage in Port Arthur Conflagration Believed About $300,000

Canadian Press

Port Arthur, Ont., June 11.—Damage estimated at $300,000 was caused to-day by fire which destroyed the Union Terminal Elevator warehouse. The building broke into flames shortly after midnight from unexplained cause and the conflagration raged for more than ten hours before it was brought under control.

Thousands of lake-head residents, roused from their beds by the crackling of flames and the commotion caused by the action of all available fire-fighting equipment, gathered at the scene. The reflection of the flames which swirled 100 feet in the air cast a red glow over the entire lake front in the darkness.

The estimate of damage was unofficial, as head offices of the company are in Winnipeg, and representatives at the lake-head would hazard no figure as to the probable loss.

SS. FAIRFAX, IN COLLISION, BUILT IN 1926

Boston, June 11. — The steamship Fairfax, which rammed and sank an unidentified tanker with large loss of life off the Scituate shore last night, is one of a fleet of five sister ships of the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company.

It was placed in service in September, 1926. It has a length over all of 368 feet and a beam of 52 feet and is of 5,600 gross tons.

Built especially for passenger service but also carrying freight, the Fairfax is of the latest transatlantic type. During the winter season it sailed between Baltimore and Florida points, but was transferred recently to the Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia service.

The Fairfax is commanded by Capt. Archibald Brookes. It was making the first southern trip of the season from Boston.

ODD FELLOWS GRAND LODGE OPENS TO-DAY

Following the Mayor's welcoming address suppor was served, and an informal dance held.

Earlier in the evening Vancouver Encampment No. 1 held a special meeting in the Odd Fellows' Hall, when Nanaimo Encampment No. 4 conferred the Royal Purple degree upon a large class of initiates.

NANAIMO MAN HONORED

With traditional ceremonies of impressive character, conducted yesterday afternoon at the Odd Fellows' Hall, J. R. Crellin of Nanaimo was installed as grand patriarch of the Grand Encampment I.O.O.F., succeeding J. A. Dowding of Kamloops, who acted as installing officer. The other officers of the Grand Encampment for the coming year are: H. L. Gillard, Vancouver, grand high priest; W. S. Johnston, Cranbrook, grand senior warden; E. L. Webber, Vancouver, grand scribe; A. G. French, New Westminster, grand treasurer; F. B. Shaver, Victoria, grand junior warden; A. S. Fewtrell, Penticton, grand marshal; John Lowery, Ladysmith, grand inside sentinel; C. T. Watt, Revelstoke, grand outside sentinel; and grand representatives, J. A. Dowding, Kamloops, and James Renfrew, Victoria. Following the installation ceremonies Mr. Crellin was presented with the past grand patriarch's jewel.

Much business was transacted during the day and proposed new constitutions for the grand encampment and subordinate encampments were tabled for further consideration and adoption at next year's gathering. The proceedings of the grand encampment terminated shortly before 6 o'clock.

PATRIARCHS MILITANT

The Department Council of Patriarchs Militant was attended by representatives from five cantons, the session officers being: Lieut.-Col. Alfred Proctor, Vancouver, president; clerk, Capt. Clarence Snider, Vancouver, adjutant; treasurer, Capt. A. G. French, New Westminster, quartermaster; aide, Capt. R. A. Merrithew; officer of the day, Capt. A. G. French; officer of the guard, Capt. P. Thompsett; sentinel, Capt. George Reimann; picket, Capt. Walls; guards, Capt. J. Lilly and Chevalier A. Rogers.

The drill competition for the department jewel was won by Capt. Clarence Snider, department adjutant. A large class of candidates were received, the mustering-in ceremony being conducted by an initiation team of representatives of the cantons of Vancouver, Victoria, Kelowna, New Westminster and Rossland.

A case of pipes was presented to A. H. Sedgley, Victoria, in recognition of services given the order for many years.

CANTALOUPES SELLING WELL

With importations of peaches, plums, apricots and cantaloupes, the wholesale market is at present showing considerable activity. For the first time Victoria has received and distributed two cars of cantaloupes in one week. Another car is to arrive this Friday. The price of these cantaloupes is low, and the quality good.

A full supply of strawberries is now ready for local consumption, and the quality is very good.

In addition to new shipments of peaches, plums and apricots, a shipment of Isle of Pine grapefruit arrived here this morning.

ELECTRICAL SALES AT STEADY LEVEL

Demand for electrical equipment and apparatus held at fairly steady levels in principal market centres throughout the country during the past week, but buying, on the whole, lacked a definite trend, Electrical World reports. Sales maintained a reasonably satisfactory volume, while general business reflected no material change from the preceding week.

Equipment bookings continue to show a better volume in the Eastern district, with central station prospects giving promise of early commitments. Electric railway business reflects a revival of demand of encouraging proportions and industrial inquiries are mounting. Large equipment orders are spotty.

A feature of the week is the announcement by Public Service Electric and Gas Company of New Jersey of its proposed steam-electric power project at Burlington, N.J., and other expansions at an estimated cost of $25,000,000.

Equipment business shows improvement in the Middle West. Railroads are buying and various public utilities are proceeding with spring construction programmes, but considerable spottiness is still in evidence. Business is reported fair on the Pacific Coast, with purchasers exercising caution in placing commitments, and staple lines, such as meters, transformers and small motors, running even with last year.

Recession, in sales of heavy electrical equipment is reported in New England, but general scheduled materials continue steady and inquiries are well sustained. Central station equipment sales are spotty and small orders rule. Equipment purchasing in the southeast is for current requirements, while the southwest reports no change from the quiet of the preceding week.

SASKATCHEWAN CROP WORST HIT IN N.W. SECTION

Winnipeg, June 11.—Only one-third of Saskatchewan, comprising about 5,000,000 acres, has been badly affected by wind and frost. Over 40% of the grain in most of this territory has been cut off completely and while it is yet too early accurately to estimate what percentage will revive in areas which have had recent rains, comprising less than half of acreage affected, there is little chance of crop recovering in the northwestern part of the province, where there has been no rain since damage occurred and where there was practically no subsoil moisture previously.

In central Alberta there is about 1,500,000 acres where the condition is similar. Southern and northern Alberta comprising Peace River, northeastern and east central Saskatchewan and Manitoba are generally speaking in good shape, suffering scarcely any damage from wind or frost, but growth has been backward and the crop, which was sown two weeks earlier than other years, is now one week later. Plenty of rain and warm weather is urgently needed all over the west.

Nordon Deal Is Explained

Toronto, June 11 (Mason & Diespecker Service).—One of the most interesting market actors of late has been Nordon Corporation. This company is in the category of an oil exploration company, with leases on extensive prospects in the United States and Alberta oil fields. A few weeks ago it was announced officially that New York interests had taken over the Stobie-Forlong holdings in Nordon and that the company was being recapitalized. The company was originally a Canadian corporation with 5,000,000 shares of no par. It is now a Delaware corporation with 2,500,000 shares of $5 par, the old holders having received share for share in the new company.

The new corporation was taken out in Delaware to satisfy the New York interests, who wanted to be in a position to have the stock listed on the New York Curb.

Lack of interest in Nordon early in the year seemed to be due to the fact that Stobie-Forlong was the big interest back of the company, and Stobie-Forlong was in the hands of the receivers. So a part of the altered trading position of the stock can be traced to the fact that New Yorkers are now the big financial interest back of the company and that it is to be traded on the New York Curb.

Nordon Corporation, though an oil exploration company, has marked out a financial system whereby it can continue to explore for oil fields almost indefinitely. The company has leases on an approximate 80,000 acres in and around the oil-producing fields in the various American states. But it is not a drilling organization. Apart from one well being soudded-in in the Button Willow field in California close to the Kettleman and Elk Hills field, it is not drilling.

The policy of the company is to turn over portions of its properties to drilling organizations on the checkerboard system. If the drilling company locates a new field on Nordon leases, Nordon will still have big areas from which to make a field of its own. If the drilling company fails to locate oil, Nordon has only lost the cost of the leases and some organization expenses.

HAS FIXED INCOME NOW

Through earlier drilling, Nordon now has a fixed income from successful wells on the royalty basis, and it was stated by Mr. Ruby a few days ago in Toronto, just before leaving for England, that the fixed income from successful wells would

THE PEACOCK'S TAIL

By

Mrs. ROMILLY FEDDEN

Chapter IV

"I beg your pardon," he began in French. "I did not see you."

She did not answer, but with a turn sat up, her arms about her knees, her face grave, but laughter in her dark eyes.

Then, "This is my rock," she said in English. "No one is allowed to come here."

"I have already apologized." His hat was in his hand, his hair lay in damp rings on his forehead, his grey eyes answered the challenge in hers.

She nodded. "I like them. London. Clothes do matter such a lot." She sighed, and rose slowly to her feet. She was tall and slim, boyish in her masculine attire. Only the shirt under the loose riding coat was open at the throat. "Well, good-bye," she said. "I am going."

Leslie stood aside for her to pass. As she came abreast of him, she paused and shot him a level glance. "Did you hear me say good-bye?"

He bowed. "I did."

She hesitated. "Well?"

He met her glance. "Well," he repeated. "It seems a pity, doesn't it?"

"A pity?"

"Yes, a waste of the day and the grove."

She took a step beside him, tapping her boot with her whip. "I wonder," she asked, "what you would think of me if I stayed?"

"That you were kind, jolly kind. You see, I have only to-day."

"Only to-day? And then?"

They paused, standing side by side; the top of her head reached his shoulder. She seemed to be considering. The she turned to him.

"I always do exactly what I like. Men do, so why shouldn't girls? Anyway, I do." She smiled and the world swam before him. "You came at the right moment too. I was bored, and I had just made up a long story about . . . you, I suppose, when you came . . ."

"Tell me the story," he begged. "Shall we sit down?"

She nodded and led the way back to the edge of the rock. "I always sit at the edge and look over." She pointed down to the mass of broken rock far below. "The men from that village over there used to throw their wives off here when they were unfaithful. It served them right for being found out. I hate stupidity. Our servant All found his wife out the other day. She was in love with another servant, Mahomet. All couldn't kill her now, but he is going to send her away. It's a bore, because Mahomet has to go too and he's a good man."

Her English was pure, without an accent. Leslie, sitting a little behind her, followed the line of her profile against the sky, the straight nose, the short upper lip, the lower slightly fuller, the proud lift of the chin. With a sudden movement she pulled off her hat and he saw that her small head, poised on a slender throat, was wound around with shinning plaits of smooth dark hair. She talked with little foreign gestures of her hands, on one of which she wore a curious old ring of silver encrusted with emeralds. She was neat, complete, and fine, with none of the loose ends which he abhorred. She was perfect, a creature of race, of spirit and fire, yet with a promise of melting softness.

"The story," he reminded her. But she was perverse.

"See," she said, "that is the road to Fez. It wanders like that, on and on. Over there are the Anjera Hills, and there is the pass to ElFoukara. I know all the roads, and everybody knows me." It was spoken arrogantly, smiling.

"Don't you think we should be introduced?" he suggested.

"I'm not sure. It's only for a day and it's so amusing like this."

"Granted. But we must call each other something, even for to-day."

"That's true," she laughed deliciously. "I will call you by the name that I like best, and you will call me by the name that you like best."

"We must have a christening, then."

"A name day," she corrected. "It's a fete, our name day. I want, please, a very romantic name."

"Greek," he declared. "Yes, Greek. Don't you see, this is Greece!" He waved a comprehending hand. "An isle of Greece, the plain is the sea, the waves break in flowers. Look!" He pursued his idea. "It is classic, pure classic. The men in white ploughing on the hillside, the goatherd with his flute on the rocks below. And we are Greek just for to-day. We have wandered out from Athens hand in hand to pass the day beneath the olive trees."

"Yes," she said, fascinated. "Go on."

He looked at her. "Of course you really are Greek. That's what the line means." He drew her head in the air with a sweeping forefinger. "Pure line, no muddle. And your name is young Phocis, Theocritus's golden girl, and I am her happy lover, Lysander." He jumped up with a laughing bow of introduction.

She bent towards him, her eyes wide with fun. "Lysander," she declared, "I'm hungry, starving. Did you bring any food from Athens?"

"Nectar and ambrosia." He gave her his hand to rise. "Did you?"

"Here?"

She nodded, and lifting a silver whistle to her lips blew it twice. From behind a rock, hardly twenty paces away, a man rose and came forward, a peasant dressed in the brown jellab of the hills. He touched his forehead, gazing at the girl with a mixture of respect and adoration.

"Abdullah," she said, "you will bring bread, honey, milk. Go now and speed. The greetings of thy mistress to thy wife and mother." She spoke with an unexpected dignity, then turned again to Leslie with a provocative tilt of her head.

"I did, though it is not pure Arabic."

"It's a hill dialect. His wife was my foster mother." She spoke again with that touch of dignity. "So you speak Arabic. The English never do, or very few. They never speak anything well."

He bowed. "We shall see. But to-day we speak only that classic tongue . . . of the heart."

She laughed. "Isn't it fun?" She started forward, but paused at the edge of the grove, looking back, a hand raised. "I always go softly into this wood." Her voice was hushed. "It is so . . . something."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Pussy Tree

(Copyright, 1930)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily jiggled himself around in his easy chair until he felt nice and cozy. He opened the evening paper to read the bedtime story to his forty sixteen little bunny boys and girls, who were gathered about him. It was after supper but not yet quite time to go to sleep.

"Once upon a time," read Uncle Wiggily and then he looked over the tops of his glasses and suddenly asked: "Where's Baby Bunty?"

"I just want to know where Baby Bunty is," spoke Uncle Wiggily looking around the room. "If she comes in after I am half way through the bedtime story I'll have to go back to the beginning and start over. I had rather wait until Bunty comes in to hear it. Where is she?"

Some of the little bunny boys said one thing and some of the little bunny girls said another thing, but none of them knew where Baby Bunty had hopped after eating her supper carrots.

"Well, I must go find Baby Bunty!" said Uncle Wiggily. But just as he rose from his chair Nurse Jane squeaked:

"Here comes the little orphan rabbit now!"

"Where's Baby Bunty?"

Surely enough, Baby Bunty came in hopping as fast as she could hop. And her pink nose was twinkling very fast.

"Where have you been, Bunty?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "We have been waiting for you."

"Sit down and listen to the bedtime story!" advised Jingle.

"Oh, Unkie Wig! You ought to see! You ought to hear" exclaimed Bunty her breath coming fast for she had done a lot of hopping. "It's most mysterious and surprising! Oh, you ought to see! Oh! Oh!"

"Whatever is the matter, Bunty?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, dropping the evening paper with the bedtime story in.

"Oh, you ought to hear!" went on Bunty. "I went down to the end of our yard just now, to see if there was a flower to pick and, all of a sudden, I saw a little cat growing on a tree branch!"

"A cat growing on a tree branch! Nonsense! Cats don't grow on trees. Baby Bunty!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "What kind of a tree was it?"

"The pussy willow tree," said Bunty. "And one of the pussy blossoms must have turned into a cat, for I saw it as plain as anything and it mewed at me and then I ran to tell you."

"Pooh! It's only Joie, Tommie or Kitty Kat up in a tree trying to play a joke on Bunty!" said Buster, a boy bunny.

"No, it wasn't Joie, Tommie or Kitty Kat!" exclaimed the little orphan rabbit. "I know them. It was a new cat and she grew out of the pussy willow tree. It's wonderful!"

"You dreamed it!" said Custer, who was Buster's brother.

"Anyhow, it wasn't Joie, Tommie or Kittie Kat," said Jingle, "for here they come now, to listen to the bedtime story I guess." As she spoke she pointed to the window and there, surely enough, could be seen the three Kat children walking across the lawn, their tails straight up in the air like fish poles.

"Maybe there's a new pussy at the Kat house and she got lost and climbed up in the tree," said Jangle.

"Oh, no, we haven't any new little brother or sister," said Tommie as he walked into Uncle Wiggily's bungalow.

"Well there's a little cat in Unkie Wig's pussy tree!" said Bunty. "If you don't believe me you can go down there and listen for yourself."

"We'll go, said Uncle Wiggily. "Come on, children! We'll see what this mysterious surprise is that Bunty has found."

"Mew! Mew! Mew!" wailed a little cat as plain as anything.

"There!" cried Bunty. "What did I tell you? One of the pussy willow buds has grown into a cat! May I pick it off, Unkie Wig and have it for my own?"

"Now just a moment," said Mr. Longears peering through the evening shadows into the tree. "It is true that the buds of the pussy willow tree do look like soft, furry little kittens. But they aren't. This must be a real cat that, somehow, has gotten into my pussy tree. Who are you, little cat?" softly called the rabbit gentleman.

"Oh, I'm a poor, little, lost pussy," was the mewing answer, "I don't know where I live and a big dog barked at me so I climbed up in this tree and oh, dear! I'm so unhappy!"

"Never mind! Don't cry! I'll take care of you," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. He got a step ladder, lifted the little cat down out of the pussy willow tree and, taking her into his bungalow gave her some warm milk to drink. Then she purred happily and listened to the bedtime story with the others. Then they all went to sleep.

If the Chinaman will take the dog's collar to his laundry and iron it nice and smooth so it won't scratch the goldfish, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's puppy bush.

Broadcast Headliners

A great pugilist's impression of the coming Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey prize fight Thursday night will be revealed to radio listeners when Benny Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight boxing champion, is interviewed by Grantland Rice during the Coca Cola programme which will be broadcast through stations associated with the NBC to-night at 6.30 o'clock, Victoria time.

Leonard has been visiting the training camps of the two fighters scheduled to meet in the Yankee Stadium. He will give a last-minute analysis of each fighter, and may make a prediction of the outcome.

Benny Leonard established one of the greatest records of boxing. He began fighting in 1912 and won the lightweight championship five years later. Until 1926 he repulsed all contenders. That year he retired undefeated. Since then he has appeared on the stage and has become known as a feature writer. During his career Leonard engaged in 200 fights, scoring sixty-four knockouts.

The Coca Cola half-hour will be heard through the Pacific Coast stations associated with the NBC, including KOMO Seattle.

GALA PROGRAMME

New York, Chicago and San Francisco artists unite in presenting a gala two-hour programme to welcome station KPSD, San Diego, to the National Broadcasting Company to-night.

The programme will commence at 8 o'clock in New York, will continue at 8.45 in Chicago, and conclude in San Francisco with a broadcast which commences at 9.

JESSE'S EARPHONES

Jesse Crawford, Columbia's "Poet of the Organ," wears earphones when broadcasting to check his performance for balance and volume. The earphones are connected with the microphone amplifier in the organ studios of the Paramount Theatre, New York.

"This is the best way I know to check your programme, Mr. Crawford says. "Every radio entertainer should listen to himself. There would be less errors in broadcasting if they all did so."

The "Poet" spends from five to six hours in rehearsal before every half-hour broadcast—always with the earphones clamped on his head.

BYRD TO SPEAK

Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, now on his way back to the United States after more than a year and a half in Antarctica, will broadcast his experiences at the bottom of the world over the nationwide network of the Columbia broadcasting system from 5 to 6 p.m., Victoria time, Monday, June 23.

Fresh from his greatest triumph of exploration, Admiral Byrd will give the radio audience of the nation an opportunity to hear his own story of his history-making flight over the South Pole and the scientific discoveries of fifteen months on the ice barrier. Arrangements for the welcome home broadcast were completed two weeks ago when Capt. H. H. Ralley, Byrd's representative in New York, met him on his arrival at Panama. The programme will originate in the studios of station WABC in New York City, whence it will go over the coast-to-coast chain.

Strawberry Vale

The Young People's Club of the United Church, Wilkinson Road held a meeting on Monday evening at which the final arrangements were made for a garden fete which will be held in the grounds of the Mental Home, Wilkinson Road on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 14.

Miss J. Paickney has charge of a very fine programme of exceptional talent, for the evening.

Tennis, golf and other games have been arranged and invitations extended to all Young Peoples' Clubs of the city to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Burnside Road, have sold their home and left for Vancouver, where they will remain for a time.

Mrs. J. Hebden, Gladiola Avenue and Mrs. J. Jones, Carey Road returned on Monday morning from Vancouver, where they attended the Musical Festival.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" prevents that 'dragged-out' feeling in the morning

Acid stomach—that robber of sleep and rest—never attacks those whose inner systems are cleansed and sweetened by the daily draught of ENO.

If you want to know what a night of real rest is, just take a dash of ENO in a glass of water before retiring. Millions do this daily, because this gently effective, non-habit-forming saline is the deadly foe of constipation and all the ills that follow in its train.

Shall Boys Be Taught to Cook?

Dorothy Dix

Considers Woman's Influence Jeopardized

On the Whole, Perhaps It Is Just as Well That All Boys Aren't Taught to Cook and Keep House, Since Wives Need to Have Some Hold Over Their Husbands, Says Dorothy Dix

IN READING the accounts of the various school commencements throughout the country I have been impressed with the fact that boys are beginning to take up domestic science in a big and serious way, and that they appear to be winning most of the prizes in the cooking contest.

You can't pick up a paper without seeing that Johnny Jones's muffins were awarded the blue ribbon at the junior high, or that Sammy Smith's bread was rated a hundred per cent perfect, or that Tommy Tompkins's angel food took the cake, so to speak, and all of these had runners-up of other lads whose roasts and fricassees and salads gained them honorable mention.

Now it is not, of course, surprising that boys should display skill in juggling with the pots and pans. The best cooks have always been men, and in France, at least, chefs have raised their profession to the dignity of one of the fine arts, but the amazing thing is that Canadian lads should suddenly evince this passionate interest in the kitchen when their forbears have for generations avoided it and considered it a place only fit for women and morons.

Various explanations of this phenomenon suggest themselves. One is retaliation. Tit for tat. Inasmuch as women have invaded men's sphere and taken away their jobs from them in factories and counting houses and shops, perhaps men are going to give them what for, and take from them the work on which they have heretofore had a practical monopoly. Perhaps in the future the nurseboy will be as common as the girl stenographer, and papa will stay at home and get the dinner while mamma goes out and makes the living.

Or perhaps the boys who are studying cooking in school are preparing to give their wives a square deal in the fifty-fifty marriages that are the modern ideal of matrimony. For nowadays, when economic conditions so often render it necessary for a woman to keep on with her job after she gets married, it is certainly no more than fair that the husband should lend a hand with the housework. If the wife helps bring home the bacon, assuredly the husband should help with broiling it.

Heretofore husbands' alibi for dumping the double burden of having to assist in making the dough and then baking it on their wives has been that they didn't know how to cook, nor how to sweep, nor make a bed, and wives have accepted it. For a little experience with a man who could mess up every utensil in the kitchen in frying an egg convinced them that it was easier to do the work than to clean up after hubby. So wife has let husband tune in on the radio or read the evening paper while she slaved over the gas range and scrubbed out the bathtub.

But far otherwise will it be when the business girl is united in the holy bonds of matrimony to the domestic man who knows his groceries and how to cook them, who will halve her labors and double her joys in housework, and who will greet her when she is kept late at the office with a savory and well-cooked dinner, instead of a cold stove and a grouchy demand of "when do we eat?"

But, alas, nothing is perfect in this imperfect world. There is always a fly in the amber. Much as one likes to contemplate the picture of these eager, bright-eyed youngsters preparing themselves for marriage by learning how to make pies such as father never knew how to make, still one cannot but perceive that in this very skill of man there lies a certain danger that must be reckoned with.

At first glance it may seem to a woman that it would be wholly gain to have a husband who knew how to cook and who would help with the preparation of a meal and who, having personal knowledge of how much labor and thought it takes to prepare a good dinner, would not regard cooking as a mere pastime that a woman performed while she wasn't otherwise amusing herself.

Also it seems to her that it would be delightful to be married to a man who would help plan out menus and who would suggest new and piquant combinations of food instead of growling out: "What, roast beef again? My lord, woman, don't you know there is any other animal on earth but a cow?" And with whom one could have heart-to-heart talks over souffles and meringues and such.

But there is another side to the picture. Undoubtedly, if every man was his own chef, there would be fewer weddings, because hunger for home cooking drives more men into matrimony than any other one thing. It is after a man has eaten in restaurants until he can read the bill of fare backward and forward and crossway without finding a single thing on it that appeals to his appetite that his thoughts turn toward his own home and his own kitchen. But bachelorhood would be shorn of its terrors if he knew how to cook better than any wife he was likely to get.

Consider, also, that it would not make for peace and harmony in the household if the husband was an expert who sat in judgment on everything his wife served him, instead of as now humbly eating what is set before him and asking no questions. Patient Griselda herself couldn't keep from throwing things at a husband who was continually telling her that he always put a little dash of this in his soup, or a pinch of that in his sauces, and that his cakes never fell, and that his pie crust was never leatherly like hers.

Every wife knows how trying is a husband who boasts of the way he makes coffee and fries bacon when he goes camping, and it is doubtful if any woman would be able to stand a daily diet of husband's flapjacks without their souring on her disposition.

So, on the whole, perhaps it is just as well for boys not to be taught how to cook. Women have to have some hold over men.

AT THE THEATRES

JEWEL ROBBERY IS FEATURE OF FILM AT THE CAPITOL

Modern audiences are proving their appreciation of novelty by the record attendance at "Temple Tower," according to Manager Denham of the Capitol Theatre, where this Fox Movietone is showing for the last times tonight.

Based on the gripping story by H. C. McNeile, of a gigantic jewel robbery and its unexpected consequences, the unique treatment given to the tale has resulted in a picture as entertaining and clever as it is thrilling. This treatment is something the individual theatregoers is asked to discover for himself, as the picture has many surprises.

MUSIC FEATURES DOMINION STORY WITH OPERA STARS

The numbers were written by Franz Lehar, composer of "The Merry Widow," and Herbert Stothart with lyrics by Clifford Grey. Tibbett, internationally known Metropolitan opera star, sings "Once in the Georgian Hills," "To Live, To Love," "When I'm Looking at You" and "Little White Dove." Elsa Alsen, dramatic soprano, sings "The Shame Cry" with a women's chorus, while "The Bandit Chorus" is sung by a large male chorus. The music ranges from songs of operatic proportion to simple love ballads.

Tibbett, who sees a new future for opera on the screen where he believes it can be adapted to popular appeal, thinks that the musical hits of "The Rogue Song" will undoubtedly fill that rare niche in which they will prove satisfactory to highbrow musical critics and public alike.

CLEVER COMEDIAN IN "STREET GIRL" AT THE COLISEUM

FAMOUS SCHOONER USED FOR TAKING COLUMBIA PICTURE

Metro-Goldwyn Mayer did not take any chances when they shipped Greta Garbo and Nils Asther aboard the schooner "All Alone" for an ocean location for "The Single Standard," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

Because both players are Swedish subjects, the film concern feared possible immigration entanglements if the ship ventured beyond the twelve-mile territorial limits of the United States and ordered a strict watch kept upon the course of the roaming windjammer.

ASSIZE JURY ACQUITS ONE IN MOTOR CASE

Arthur Emerson Found "Not Guilty" and Is Released

Stanley Wallis, Convicted on Fourth Charge, Remanded For Sentence

Arthur Emerson was acquitted by a trial jury at the special assize yesterday evening, after the jury trying a charge of obtaining money by false pretence preferred against Stanley E. Wallis and himself had been out for an hour and forty minutes. Wallis was convicted, and remanded for sentence on what is, to him, the fourth case in the long series of motor car finance prosecutions.

In releasing Arthur Emerson Mr. Justice Gregory remarked: "The jury have found you not guilty, and it is my duty to discharge you. You would be well advised to be careful not to sign anything like that again. Another jury might not be so lenient."

The trial, the evidence in which was completed early yesterday afternoon, rehearsed ground covered at the preliminary hearing, and developed little fresh in the present series of prosecutions.

Emerson, it was contended by his counsel, Stuart Henderson, had been employed as a bookkeeper for the Consolidated Motors, Victoria, Limited, and had acted virtually under orders issued by Wallis in anything he had done in relation to Wallis's management of the business. It had not been shown that Emerson benefited at all by signing a conditional agreement for sale, nor that he had had any wrongful intent, submitted counsel for the defence.

A. M. Johnson, K.C., counsel for the Crown, contended that Emerson had put his name on paper to pay $100 a month on a $2,295 car, while the evidence showed he was earning $100 a month at his work. He would submit that the accused Emerson knew what he was doing, and must share equally with the accused Wallis in the consequences of any wrongful act, if one had been committed.

Mr. Justice Gregory made a brief charge to the jury, which retired at 4.10 p.m. and returned after an hour to ask for further direction. The jury reported its verdict at 5.51 p.m. freeing Emerson, and convicting Wallis on the charge of false pretence. The court then rose for the day.

CROPS RETARDED BY WET IN B.C.

Wet weather during April and May has retarded the growth of all crops in British Columbia, but with the ample moisture now present, warm weather will promote rapid growth says the Canadian Government crop report issued from Ottawa to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The report says all crops are about ten days behind last year, but the outlook is generally promising. Frost during the week of May 16 to 24, did considerable damage to strawberries, tomatoes, potatoes and other tender plants. As far as tree fruits are concerned, no apparent injury resulted, but it may have some effect on the ultimate set.

Sooke

The monthly meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held in Sooke Hall on Friday evening, the president, Horwood, in the chair. A letter from the Prince Edward branch of the legion, Colwood, was read thanking the institute for a donation of $10 recently given towards funds for a needy family. A grant of $10 was made towards the building of bathing huts in the district. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Horwood, when demonstrations will be made in cake making and canning honey. Following the meeting a very instructive lecture dealing with the promotion of sheep and swine was given by A. Morton. Films were shown illustrating various points mentioned by the lecturer. A. Morton also gave a number of songs at the piano which were greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were then served by the members. Among those present were several residents of Metchosin.

A successful gingham and overall dance, arranged by the Institute, was held in Charter's Hall on Saturday last, music being supplied by Minnis's orchestra. Fines imposed on those attending in dress other than stated amounted to $1.80. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. G. A. Acreman. The spot dance was won by Helen Welsh and Doreen Frances. Tombola prize went to Mr. Le Barge. Small electric stove to J. Norrie. Correct weight of a cake was given by Mesdames Jackson, Knight and Shields and Mr. Minnis, the cake being divided.

The caterpillar tent collection competition for school children held under the auspices of the Women's Institute resulted as follows: Shirley 10,100, Sooke 5,200, North Sooke 100. 25c per 100, has been paid to each child collecting.

LITTLE CANADIAN GIRL POPULAR IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, June 11—Seen and heard (now that we have the talkies we must hear things) around the cinema village: Barbara Kent, the little girl from Calgary, eating lunch with five men in the Universal cafe . . . wonder how it feels to be popular . . . Barbara certainly could answer that . . . she's just about the most popular girl in this hamlet . . . and if you don't believe that try to talk to her alone for five minutes once.

John Gilbert chatting with a group of directors . . . and probably wondering what, if any, his next picture will be . . . There's at least one man in Hollywood who depends upon his wife when he is working. He is William Dietz, one of our best aerial cameramen. But Bill can't find a pilot who will fly so that he is enabled to get just the photographic angles he wants. So now he is using his wife as the pilot for his aerial "shooting." Mrs. Dietz is perfectly at home at the controls of a plane and before her marriage she worked as a cutter in several large studios so she knows just about what Bill wants. And she flies accordingly.

* * *

"Hollywood's most famous head of hair; a coif more celebrated than Lady Godiva's providential locks or Mary Pickford's golden curls of old, like the modern skirt, is getting longer.

"Clara Bow is permitting her hair to grow. Much the same effect would be achieved if the sun were to take on a new radiance, if fire burned with increased ferocity, if chromatists should suddenly discover a super-intense shade of red that would make all reds before appear as a shadow at nightfall."

And so on and on, far into the night.

PARLIAMENT OF CONVICTS RULES OVER PENITENTIARY

MURRAY WOLFE

CHARLES QUINLAN

By BRUCE CATTON

Columbus, O., June 11—Ever since the terrible fire that took the lives of 322 convicts the Ohio penitentiary has been like no other penitentiary that ever existed.

Inside, the prisoners are supreme. It is hardly exaggerating to say that they are running the prison to suit themselves. They have their own organization which regulates the minutiae of daily life. Except for the fact that they bar the way to freedom, the guards might about as well not be there at all.

HAVE OWN GOVERNMENT

In the great cell house known as "The White City" there are some 1,300 of the outcasts of society. These outcasts, cut off from the normal world, have set up their own government. They have a parliament which passes laws, holds the power of life and death over its subjects and issues ultimatums—which, most decidedly, are not ignored—to those in authority.

Two men are elected in each cell block to membership in this parliament; this strangest parliament, perhaps, that was ever organized on earth.

The parliament has its debates, under its own rules. It posts in the prison hallways its rules. It sends delegations to talk with prison officials.

In fact—most startling of all—this prison parliament has defied the state of Ohio! And, to date, it can almost say that it is getting away with it.

Attorney-General Bettman of the state of Ohio was chief investigator. Around him were other high state officials. In the witness stand was one of the big-wigs of the prison parliament—Murray Wolfe, doing time for forgery, boasting a degree from Leland Stanford University, holder also of "degrees" from Folsom and San Quentin prisons.

Suave and at ease in his chair, Wolfe told the state attorney-general what the prisoners would and would not do. They would carry on essential prison services—kitchens, hospitals, laundry, heating plant and the like; but they would not be locked in their cells, and they would not go back to work.

"If it takes us sixty years," he said coolly, "we won't work until 'The Pig' is removed."

"The Pig," he explained, was the prisoners' name for Warden P. E. Thomas—who sat in the room while Wolfe was testifying!

WALKS AWAY FROM GUARDS TO TALK

Charles Quinlan, who is in for robbery and who has thirty-five years of servitude to look forward to—Quinlan was taken into custody by a group of guards the other day in the prison yard and led down to solitary confinement. He was a ringleader in the prison parliament. As the guards led him across the yard they passed the prison chapel, where the parliament was in session. Quinlan calmly walked away from his guards, went into the chapel and made a speech. Finally, in his own good time, he came out and submitted to arrest again.

GUARDS ARE POWERLESS

Or this:

An armed guard is seated in the rangeroom at the entrance to a cell block. A convict comes in from outside and fails to close the door behind him. The guard orders him to shut it. The convict wheels, spits out a stream of profanity, laughs mockingly, and walks on—leaving the door open. Nothing happens.

In plain fact, the guards inside the prison are almost powerless. In no prison, anywhere, was there ever such a complete breakdown of discipline as there is here. The other night the convicts in "White City" sat up all night playing cards and talking, and no guard dared do anything about it. They tore the steel doors off of their cells and threw them, clanging, on the floor. They jeered and hooted prison officials when they saw them in the yard.

How will it end? No one knows. Anything—literally, anything — can happen.

CELEBRATION REPORT GIVEN

Change of Date Issue Again Raised at Meeting of May 24 Workers

Reports on the May 24 celebrations were presented last night at a meeting of Junior Chamber and Commerce and other workers held in the Chamber of Commerce dining-room. Walter Miles, chairman, reported that although accounts had not yet been completed it was anticipated that there would be a favorable balance of $100.

Many compliments had been received on the success of the celebrations and the parade, Mr. Miles said. Regret was expressed that there was not a greater turnout of bands, and hopes were expressed that differences of opinion between some of the musicians and the celebration organizers would be settled before the next celebration. Mr. Miles emphasized that the May 24 committee was not in a position to guarantee payment at a union rate of pay to bands and could do no better than promise a donation. The parade had not been as long as in some years, but the quality was excellent, and thanks were due to all those who helped to make it a success. He complimented the judges, whose awards, he said, had given general satisfaction.

CHANGE DATE

Without making a recommendation, Alderman W. T. Straith raised the question of a different date for the celebartion when more faith could be placed in the weather and when more people would be in town. If it were held during fair week or on some other occasions when tourists were in the city or when it would attract tourists from across the line Victoria could reap some benefit from it, he said.

John Harvey complimented the organizers on the parade and also merchants who had helped to make it a success. They were prompted by civic pride in doing so, he said, as they could not expect returns to compensate them for their outlay. He advocated a larger civic grant for the celebrations. Regarding the bands he thought they should be paid for their services. He believed that a man was worthy of his hire and thought the grant should be large enough to provide for it.
